Mayor Gourley Will Send a Recommendation to Councils Asking Them to Take Measures

FOR THE RELIEF OF SOUTHSIDERS.

His Honor Favors a Viaduct Across the Monongaheia at South Twenty-Sixth Street.

A GRAVE QUESTION FOR CITY SOLONS.

Annual Reports of All the Departments to be Printed in One Volume.

The agitation for free bridges between the Old City and the Southside, which has been continued spasmodically ever since the annexation of our neighbors on the south side of the Monongahela river, is at last to be brought to a climax. Mayor Gourley, as 319 66; Chief Magistrate of the city, will include in his annual message to Councils, a recommendation that some definite action be immediately taken looking toward that end.

His Honor's ideas on the subject are yet nebulous, except that he sees very plainly his goal, which is to abolish a system whereby thousands of citizens are forced to pay tribute for the privilege of returning to their homes after a day spent in toiling for the welfare of the community. He is giving considerable thought to the subject and will doubtless evolve some plan which will be practical and silence the clamor of the Southsiders, who claim that they only agreed to annexation upon the basis of free

Mayor Gourley, in speaking about free bridges yesterday, said: "Toll bridges within the limits of a municipality, like toll roads, are an a hindrance to the growth of a community and an evidence of being away behind the times. Many visitors to Pittsburg are disagreeably impressed by being compelled to stand at the end of a bridge, themselves down with a lot of small change. "Again, it is a heavy burden upon the poor, especially laboring men whose wages are small, and to whom each cent is an important factor in the struggle for existence. These men, who work for $1 or $1 25 a day. and are compelled by stress of weather to lose considerable time, are forced to obtain cheap houses for their families. Now, they can't find this in the heart of the city; they must go out into the suburbs. The East End is being built up with costly residences, and there are but few cheap houses in that neighborhood. This forces the poor man to the Southside or Allegheny. IMMEDIATE RELIEF SUGGESTED.

The Mayor held conferences with Controller forrow and Chiefs Bigelow and Brown yester day in relation to the printing of annual reports of the various departments. Heretofore it has been the custom for each department to have its own report printed and issued indegesting that it would be better and cheaper to one valume. Chief Elliot did nufer, but the others and the Controllo agree with the Mayor's suggestio will probably be followed in the reports of city for the present fiscal year, other report will be made at the end of Another report will be made at the end of December, for the ten months of the fiscal year then passed, but this will be made simply for the benefit of the Committee on Finance which will use it as a basis for the appropriations for 1891. Under the new charter ordinance these reports are first submitted to the Mayor and by him sent to Councils. These reports can not be used as a part of the annual report of the city, as they only cover ten months of the city year, but an submitting them the Mayor will include a message to Councils, giving his views on municipal affairs, with suggestions to the Finance Committee.

A Very Lively Rumpus on Carson Street, Yesterday Morning.

Carson street, near Twenty-seventh street, was the scene of a small street riot, yesterday morning, that made things around that vicinity particularly lively for the time being. The between William McNamara and John Burns between William McNamara and John Burns, about some rent difficulty. William was walking along the street when, he says, Burns suddenly pounced on him and beat him. McNamara used his muscles and fists in the good old-fashioned way, to defend himself, and was deing some execution when Dennis Burns and Patrick Sullivan reenforced John Burns. By this time a crowd of persons numbering into the hundreds had gathered and took sides in the affray. Officer Brown come along in citizens' clother and made after Sullivan, while some others parted the others. Brown captured Sullivan and landed him in the Twenty-eighth ward station. McNamara, after he had nursed his bruises for some time, went to norsed his bruises for some time, went to Adderman Succop's office and entered intorma-tions against Dennis and John Burns and Pat-rick Sullivan. None but Sullivan have yet iunched at Sergeant McQuaid's hotel.

Pittsburgers Who Went to Michigan During a Panic and Did Well.

MR. HUNTER'S WORK OF CHARITY. How Mr. Robinson Explains So Many

Congressional Defeats. THE JRON RATES ADVANCED TO ST. PAUL

Rev. Benjamin Hunter, of Saginaw, Mich., is in the city, having been called here by the severe illness of his mother, who ives at 27 Monterey street, Allegheny. Mr. Hunter is well known in this city as the gentleman who took about 45 families to Michigan at the time of the business panic of 1879. At present the gentleman is a congregational city missionary at Saginaw. He has an office at which articles of clothing, etc., can, be left by the people of the city and those in need can call and be fitted out in almost whatever they need. He also answers calls by telephone to investigate cases of distress. Mr. Hunter gives an annual excursion into the country, taking 100 children from the city on a day's outing. On New Year's day a big dinner is served for the children of the poor. An industrial school is also run in connection with the mission, at which girls from the street are taught housework, and employment is secured for them when they become old enough to work. Mr. Hunter called at THE DISPATCH office yesterday afternoon, and in a conversation regarding his Michigan colony of Pittsburgers, said:

"It will be remembered that a meeting was held in City Hall, Allegheny, to devise ways of relieving the distress caused by the business panic. I presided at the meeting, and afterward as an experiment took 45 families to Michigan at one time. They were composed of glass blowers, rolling mill men and laborers. They settled about six miles from Travis City, in the forest of beach and maple. Now the majority of them own good farms, and all are getting along well. They cleared their farms from the forest and are independent men, neither caring for whistle or bell.

"For example, take the case of Henry Brodhago. Many people will remember him as a peddler of potatoes and apples in Allegheny. His whole outfit, horse, wagon and all, wasn't worth $45. He went to Michigan, and when he arrived there had only money enough to pay the first quarter's interest on the value of 40 acres of land. Now he has 80 acres, and when his son and daughter were married he gave each a farm of 40 acres. He has made his money out of the fruit-growing business."

Mr. Hunter carries a gold-headed cane presented him by a number of newspaper men in 1879 after he had piloted them on an extensive excursion through the Northwest. He has a vast resource of humorous anecdotes of his many trips in that part of the country and is a most interesting talker. Mr. Hunter will probably be in the city the balance of the week, and unless his mother grows worse will then return to his Michigan home.

RATES ADVANCED YESTERDAY.

Old Grain and Live Stock Schedules to be Restored in a Week. As stated in THE DISPATCH a week ago would be the case the rates to St. Paul and Du-luth from Chicago were advanced yesterday. The iron rate was put back in the fifth class, which will make the tariff from Pittsburg to which will make the tariff from Pittsburg to these points 18 cents instead of 12, an increase of 50 per cent. The average advance on all classes is about 25 per cent.

On the 24th the old grain, dressed beef and live stock rates will be restored. The fight between the Lake Shore and Grand Trunk resulted in a big reduction last summer, and after many moons the roads are once more upited in peace. The basis of rates from Chicago to New York for dressed beef will be 45 cents per 100 pounds; cattle, 26 cents: hogs and sheep, 30 cents; horses and mules, 60 cents: corn, 23 cents; horses and mules, 60 cents: corn, 23 cents; grain, 25 cents. The Pittsburg rates will be figured on this basis, and as considerable grain, live stock and dressed beef are shipped here the advance will, of course, affect the trade.

The Pittsburg committee of freight agents will meet to-day to arrange the grain rates for Pittsburg. Some minor details in classification which have accumulated will also be attended to.

The railroad business has been so brisk for the last three months that the lines are very much elated with the returns, and the general tendency of rates is upward. Railroad men regard this stiffening in tariffs as a sure sign that the country is prosperous, and it is hoped this state of affairs can be maintained.

CONGRESSMAN ROBINSON NOW.

The Media Hustler Makes a Few Remarks About the Late Election. John B. Robinson, Congressman-elect from Media, is at the Monongahela House. He pulled through with a majority of over 4,000, and is not afraid of being unseated. "I sup-pose," he said yesterday, "we will feel very lonely in the next House, but the new members will have a good opportunity to show their metal. This was a most peculiar landslide. I don't think the McKinley bill is to blame.

"I believe the reason why so many Republicans were knocked out was because they had to stop at Washington to help make up a quorum and couldn't go home to fight their battles, like the Democrats. The latter practically deserted the House and had a good time of it.

"It is either Blaine or McKinley in 1892. If the tariff bill should boom business, and I see no reason why it should not, then McKinley will be a formidable candidate. This defeat will not affect the party in '92. The Democrats are not in an enviable position, and the people are not in an enviable position, and the people will hold them responsible for every act they perform."

NO BREAKING OUT FEARED.

A Pittsburger Who Takes No Stock in Wild Stories About the Sioux. E. P. McFadden, now a clerk in the Pitts burg laundry, was for ten years among the Sioux Indians, at Standing Rock reservation. He says the idea of any breaking out of these tribes is folly. For one reason, Two Bears' tribe, 1,200, never bore arms against the whites. tribe, 1.200, never bore arms against the whites. Then, Changing Eagle, with 200, is in the same position. John Grass, with 800, has been too much taken care of and educated too highly to take up arms. The Hunkpopes, 1.200 in all, dare not take up arms, owing to jealousies existing between them and other tribes.

Mr. McFadden is so well acquainted with the Sioux, for whom he was an interpreter for eight years, that he is positive all rumors of their breaking out are based on no truth whatever.

Says Phillips is Not In It. Ex-Congressman Oscar L. Jackson, of New Castle, was at the Monongahela House, yesterday. He says the people in his district have settled down to business since the election.
Mr. Jackson doesn't think that T. W. Phillips

Four Men Are Held to Answer for the Death of Robert Dalzell.

MURDER ENDS A SATURDAY REVEL

William Johnston, Although Warned by the Coroner, Insists Upon

TESTIFTING IN HIS OWN BEHALF

Coroner McDowell's investigation linto the causes leading to the death of Robert Dalzell at Millvale on Sunday, has resulted in the holding of William Johnston as the principal, and Joseph Croft, Michael Kane and John Volk as accessories to the murder. The coroner examined a great number of witnesses, and the story they told, in the main, was that on Saturday night the deceased, with a number of friends, was drinking in Joseph A. Carline's saloon, No. 73 Forty-third street. Dalzell had been drinking and got into a controversy with several by-standers, when all of them made a rush to get outside the door.

George Speaker testified that he saw the crowd come out and saw Johnston strike Dalzell in the face and knock him down. John Volk, one of the prisoners, said he did not see Johnston strike Dalzell, but that after the affray the former showed him a handkerchief with a wors in it.

affray the former showed him a handkerchief with a stone in it.

Harry Ott testified that he was in the saloon with a couple of friends on Saturday night. Dalzell came in very drunk, and was muttering something to himself. The winness, with his friends, were standing near the lifting machine. The deceased challenged the witness to lift, and when he refused Dalzell said he would break his jaw. Wm. Johnston, one of the prisoners under arrest, then rushed up and made an attempt to atrike Dalzell, but Johnston was pushed away. The party then got down near the door and pushed outside. The witness did not go outside, but he saw no blows struck in the house.

pushed outside. The witness did not go outside, but he saw no blows struck in the house.

James Dalzell, a brother of the deceased, testified that they lived at Sandy Creek, and Robert was 33 or 24 years old. They came to the city about 8 o'clock on Saturday night in company with Henry Thompson, and the witness left his brother and Thompson 'Carline's saloon, on Forty-third street. Henry Thompson' Carline's saloon, on Forty-third street. Henry Kraus in the kitchen of Carline's hou Robert lying in the kitchen of a nu unconscious condition. The witness re. Laded with him all night and on Sunday evening about 7 o'clock. Dr. W. V. Marquis, with Drs. Fife and Givens, held a post mortem on the body yesterday afternoon and found that death was caused by a fusion of blood between the cranium and brain, caused by a fracture of the skull. They also found that the hyoid bone in the larynx had been fractured, in addition to fracture of the skull. Either of the fractures was sufficient to cause death. The fracture of the hyoid bone could not be caused by a fall, but must have been caused by a blow.

William F. Johnston, the principal defendant, asked leave to testify. Coroner McDowell cautioned him that he need not testify unless he wanted to and he might say something that could be used against him. The prisoner insisted on testifying, and was sworn and testified as follows: "I was it the saloon on Saturday night and drank a glass of beer. I went to the lifting machine, and Dalzell wanted to hit Harry Ott. I shoved Dalzell back and John Volk pushed Dalzell and he fell. I don't know who struck him;"

After ten minutes' deliberation the jury rendered a verdict holding William F. Johnston as the principal and Joseph Croft, Michael Kane and John Volk as accessories.

route this week, another meeting will be held at which the estimated cost will be agreed upon and other details attended to, and then the report will be sent to Governor Beaver, who will treat upon it in his final Colonel Roberts, in speaking of the project, yesterday, said: "As our work draws to a close, we are more and more convinced that the project is one of the grandest in the history of the State. very nature to overcome the same disadvantage, viz., the transfer of freight.

"The great trouble is, people in general, do no not take in the magnitude and immense advantages of this waterway. The older inhabitants measure it up by the old State canal with its hundred odd locks, and boars that had the remarkable capacity of 65 tons. Others say that canals are old fogy and too slow, while others have no ideas at all—about them. We are told every day that our present railroad systems eclipse the canal idea in speed and capacity.

"Now, let me tell you, our report will show some facts that will open the eyes of the people, and particularly business men, who should give this matter more attention. It will show that vessess of 1,500 tons burden can be sent from Lake Erie through the entire length of the canal in 24 hours. There is nothing slow about this is there? With the canal it will be straight away work and no side tracking. There about this is there? With the canal it will be straight away work and no side tracking. There will be 49 locks, but no locks in an engineering sense, not after the old methods. Now what is the history of the railroads. The average time of freight shipments including transfers is about four days, and it more often exceeds this time than falls below it. Coal and iron come under the head of low grade freights, and they must always give preference to the higher classes. They will neither melt under a boiling summer sun nor waste away beneath the chilling blasts of winter, and it is the easiest thing in the world to drop the cars in on a sidetrack. In cases of rush of business, and they are becoming more and more frequent, these instances always occur.

The inquest was held yesterday morning be fore this identification, and a verdict of death by suicide was rendered.
