

WEST'S ACCOMPLICE.

Trial of Ann Brundage for the Crouch Murder Begins To-Day.

BE VIGOROUSLY DEFENDED.

A Local Postmaster's Movement Which May Become National.

JUVENILE HORSE THIEF NEAR ARRON

WASHINGTON, Pa., November 19.—Judge, Pittsburg, arrived here to-night, and to-morrow he will begin the trial of Ann Brundage, charged with being an accomplice to William West in the murder of the Crouch family at Bentleyville this summer. It was thought that the defense would ask for a continuance, but Attorney Patterson says that the trial will begin immediately. Great interest is being shown in the trial here.

Ann Brundage's little boy is now with her in the jail. He was brought here Monday last by his father, Homer Harvey, who lives in West Brownsville. Harvey is the man to whom the Brundage woman was married, and who she deserted for William West. The boy is her son by that marriage. When he was taken into the jail his mother threw her arms about him, kissed him repeatedly and cried wildly. They are often seen at the grand window looking out into the court yard and laughing and talking together.

CASE OF JUVENILE DEPRAVITY.

A Horse Thief Young in Years, but Old in Crime, is Arrested.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.—ARRON, November 19.—Frankie Street, a 14-year-old boy, of Northfield township, was placed in jail here to await a trial on the charge of horse stealing. The lad had gone to Constable David's place yesterday and asked him to go with him and help him catch a horse, which he said had broken away from him and jumped into a field near by. The boy said he bought the horse in Cleveland. Mr. David took the said, hearing a noise near his window, looked out and saw it was his own horse which had broken loose and which the young rascal had asked him to help secure. The boy had disappeared, but Mr. Davis found a horse in the barn, which the young fellow had evidently tried to throw over the fence, and had failed. He started out after the boy and caught him hiding in a neighbor's corn field. The boy, in spite of his tender years, and he will probably be sent to a reformatory.

VANDALISM AT COLLEGE.

Walls, Bookshelves and Furniture Ruined by Duns of Blue and Yellow.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.—REAVES FALLS, November 19.—This morning the janitor of Geneva College was nearly crazed when he opened the school doors and found that some miscreants had entered during the night and freely dabbled the walls, bookshelves, desks, chairs, etc., with a coat of bright blue and yellow paint.

POSTMASTERS FORM A UNION.

Aim at State and National Organization to Influence Legislation.

MANSFIELD, November 18.—The fourth-class postmasters of Richland county met here today for the purpose of forming an organization for influencing legislation to increase their incomes 100 per cent. They intend to effect a State organization and then make the movement national. General H. F. Kennedy was selected to introduce the bill.

A Fine Game.

CARLETON, November 19.—A very fine game of football was played on the Athletic grounds this afternoon between the Freshmen and Preparatory teams of Dickinson College which resulted in a tie, 0 to 0.

ACTING CORONER GAILLEY, of Wayne county, O., has rendered a verdict in the case of Coroner Boydon, that the latter came to his death by accident while taking a prisoner to the lockup.

BETTER THAN FARMING.

Profitable speculation of a Granger With Nerve as His Capital.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.—SCENIC TAUNTON, N. Y., November 19.—That Schenectady is an excellent field for real estate speculation, and that a man can make a fortune out of no more substantial capital than wind, have just been demonstrated here. Last August Charles Gibson, a shrewd young farmer from Monroe county, came here and sighted what he considered valuable real estate at Mt. Pleasant, a suburb near the Edison General Electric Company's plant. It was a farm of 50 acres. Gibson had no money, but he possessed something equally as good, viz., a nerve. He contracted for the farm for $7,650, agreeing to take it December 1.

Today Gibson sold 25 acres of the farm for $10,000 to a syndicate of New York and Rochester capitalists, who will put in $100,000 to develop and build up the property. This will greatly increase the value of Gibson's remaining 25 acres, and he has over $5,000 in cash. As he remarked: "It's a darned sight better than farming."
