CHRISTMAS LETTERS

Ready to be Sent to Inmates of Charitable Institutions.

THIS CITY HEADS THE MISSION.

Work of Publication and Mailing Done in Pittsburg.

THE LADIES ARE ALL ENTHUSIASTIC

"Christmas Greetings, Peace and Good Will," is to be heralded to 35,000 homeless, friendless persons on the coming Christmas morn, when all should have some reason to be happier than on other mornings just as bright. This is the task that a band of Christian young ladies of Alleghenv have set for memselves, and they are working hard to interest others in the good work of sending Curistman letters to those in hospitals, asylums and penal institutions. The work is called the Christmas Letter Mission, and though it started in London many years ago, its headquarters for the world are now in Pittsburg, this year for the first time. Miss Sara Carney, of 97 Monterev street, Allegheny, is general business manager for the publications, and is also Secretary for Allegheny county.

The other young ladies in Allegheny who are especially interested in the work are Misses Mary and Marguerite McCance, Lillie Coffin, Jennie Harns, Lizzie Sipes, Maggie Donaldson, Mollie White and Mrs.

The object of the mission is to send a Christmas greeting to each inmate of chartrable and penal institutions, and also to distribute on the streets greetings to men out of employment and others whom the letter should please, and perhaps make for him a better way of life. The letters are suitable for hospitals, almshouses, insane asylums, refuges and prisons, and in fact everywhere anyone is liable to feel forgotten on Christmas Day.

DIDACTIC WORK ATTRACTIVE.

Great care is always taken that the letters and bright, triendly reading matter make them always interesting, and they are sure to be read; whereas, if the reading was too solid they would be thrown wide and the select reception was held in the case.

One day last week the dogs belonging to a party chased a rabbit under a haystack on the farm of George Phillips, between the Steubenville pike and Beaver road, about nine miles from the city and a select reception was held in the case. lid they would be thrown aside and no ote taken of them. Beautifully illustrated cards are also included in the "letter," and on each is printed a short Scripture text. he packages are put up in envelopes of ve different colors, each having different etters, and thus they can be traded around to the hospital wards, or wherever they may ill, and one person can read five letters. There are different styles of letters for each department of the work. The children's letters talk of childhood days, and the pictures are such as will please the little ones. For weeks after sitors to the hospitals will see the ands stuck up where they can be seen by he little sufferers, and the letters are often ad over and over again. There are letters or old people. The Germans have a letter their own language, and the French, nich Italian, Spanish and Swedish lanunges are also represented. Even the Chiound impossible to seenre letters in their anguage. They will never be left out again,

There is a special letter for the wanderers. The first page pictures a man, poorly clad, his stick and bundle before him, sadly puzing toward a mansion, as he leans against the stone wall near the gate. It's ading tells of the loved ones at home em, but a wanderer away from home and friends. These letters go to those on the street who are apparently away from home,

All the charitable and all institutions of the county were ted, and the immates supplied with the greetings. One year the letters intended for the West Penn Hospital were lost for stolen, and those in that institution were greatly disappointed because there were no others to take the place of those A NEW FAD FOR PARTIES.

MWP fur on the idea of folding and preparing the etters to send to the little orphans on thristmas morning. They are more definite when the names of the children are on the envelopes and they can see that some one is interested in them. Other "folding parties" will follow, and white the ladie are naving a most pleasant time socially they will feel they can add a mite to the Christmas joys of the orphans and triendless. Often the letters are signed by the ladies, rhich makes them even more effective than if the more printed matter was enclosed.
The Christmas Letter Mission is growing

ery rapidly, and the ladies are very enthnsinstic over their work. They hope next year to have even more attractive letters and to reach a much larger number of people than this year. They also expect to interest the King's Daughters more largely, and thus rapidly spread the good work. The young ladies believe that it is right to make work of the gospel more attractive, and instead of placing nothing but terrors before hase in need of it, to pick out the bright side, and thus the work becomes more preductive of good. They deserve great credit for the hard work they are doing, and it hould bear good fruit.

The business of the Pittsburg postoffice is increasing rapidly but steadily year by year, but this year it was given an extra boom by the State election. The campaign was conducted largely by mail, each of the three parties sending out hundreds of thousands of letters and circulars.

A peculiar feature of the business of the Pittsburg Postoffice Department is heavy daily balances in the money order department in favor of this city. It is a poor day when $5,000 more than is paid out is not sake. when $5,000 more than is paid out is not taken in, and it occasionally runs up to $15,000 and $20,000. This shows that a vast force yesterday, along all the lines of railway, but it is safe to say that they didn't way, but it is safe to say that they didn't industries of Pittsburg for support, and also the middle of the afternoon a large gang of snpport of its population.

Another remarkable fact is that while only $500 is retained daily in the money order department to meet demands for payments of orders from other cities, this balance has only been exhausted once in the history of the Pittsburg postoffice. As a general thing there is such a rush to buy orders that the daily balance is swelled by several thousand dollars before the claims liquidation come in. If there should happen to be a run on this department it would take but 20 minutes to obtain authority from the Department at Washington to draw upon the United States depository

He is Preceded by Too Many Ambitious but Unsportsmanlike Men With Guns and Dogs-How City Shootists Often Get Themselves Disliked.

The average Thanksgiving Day hunter Pittsburg postoffice this year. The salary left for him worth the search. Our laws of the postmaster is based upon the business allow the plover-shooter to sally out in the of the preceding year. The last year of Postmaster Larkin's term he received a game bag with plover he, unless a pure bred advertisers already have accounts with THE DISof the preceding year. The last year of middle of summer, and if he cannot fill his salary of $3,800, but the business done that sportsman, will kill squirrel, quail, year gave his successor a salary of $5,000 to grouse or rabbit, or almost anything else he can find, rather than come home empty-handed. On September 1 the squirrel hunter follows, and he is not usually much quail shooters get to work, all before Thanksgiving Day, and by the latter part of November the woods are a dreary waste, so far as game is concerned. The average farmer will kill a rabbit, or rather bare, whenever he can, and the pot hunter has no creed on the subject, but kills by trap or any other way he can for filthy lucre's the middle of the afternoon a large gang of the amounts are that more money is earned in this city than is absolutely necessary for the support of its population.

Another remarkable fact is that while only $500 is retained daily in the money order department to meet demands for payorder set as you would see in a coon's age. Country people are largely asking why it is that so many city people, who are patterns of propriety and gentility in the city, become worse than boors as soon as they strike the rural districts, and think that much polish is induced by fear of the policeman's club. Not only do many sportsmen act boorishly in the country, not deigning to ask permission to throw down farmers' fences, trample their crops and frighten their stock by shooting and the harrying of dogs, but some, and not a few, are guilty of vandalism that would scarce be believed. It may be that the contents of flasks carried as a curative in case of snake-bite have something to do with it, but it there isn't a let-up soon there will probably be some extra murder on the March docket of the Criminal Court.

the ricks and firing, thus endangering the value of some thousands of dollars' worth of hay. A year or two ago William Quinn's wheat ricks in the same neighborhood were burned to afford sport to some half-drunken rabbit hunters. At Phillips' place the gang was driven off before it did any burning. One day last week a farmer living a short distance southeast of Robb station, Montour Railway, saw a gang of hunters prowling near his barn, and he sneaked up close enough to find out what they had. Among their "game" were seven fine chickens they had shot on farms in their progress, pheasants" being easier game to some hunt-ers than ferræ naturæ The farmer ordered ers than ferræ naturæ a forward movement and the gang laughed derisively.
