VALUE OF LOCK NO. 7

Being Argued Before the United States District Court.

GOVERNMENT OFFICERS OBJECT

To the Amount Reported by the Viewers for Condemnation.

COMMON PLEAS AND CRIMINAL COURTS

The appeal of the United States from the Board of Viewers' report in the condemnation of Dam No. 7, assessing the value at $200,000, was on be ore Judge Acheson, of the United States District Court, yesterday. The condemnation was by an act of Congress, and it is considered $40,000 too high. The case was opened by George Shiras, Jr., who appeared for the Monongahela Navigation Company. He spoke of the time when the Monongahela was a shallow stream, navigable only at high water stages and when up-river trips were not thought of. The Monongahela Navigation Company was formed, having as its object the building of the up-river trade, and at an immense outlay of money succeeded in making navigation what it now is. The coal men got an idea that the tolls were enormous and appealed to Congress for a bill to condemn Lock No. 7, and the award of the Board of Viewers was then dwelt on, and Mr. Shirns stated that the company would prove that the present valuation of the property was much more than its original

STATEMENT OF THE COST.

William Bakewell, Secretary and Treasurer of the Monongahela Navigation Company, was the first witness called. He testified that he had been secretary for the company for that he had been secretary for the company for 48 years and treasurer for 29 years. Mr. Bakewell presented a detailed statement of the actual cost of lock and dam No. 7, which was $161,732 12, but there were other expenses, such as stone for abuliments, damage to property along the river, etc., which made the total cost $180,511 83.

Colonel T. P. Roberts, the civil engineer of the Mononcahela Company, testified that the Mononcahela Company, testified that the the Mononcahela Company, testified that the Monongahela river is a hard one on dams. Fineds are frequent and come at the most unspected times. The fee in winter is also very lard on dams. Colonel Roberts then described ham No. 7, giving its dimensions, and the mount of materials used in its construction. The actual value of the dam to-day, the witness thought, exclusive of the natural increase. ness thought, exclusive of the natural increase in the value of property, is $218,000, and to this should be added $15,000 for outside expenses. lock and dam are worth more to-day than in they were built, for the reason that it has bstood the test of years. Taking all thesings into consideration the property to-day should be worth at the lowest estimate $236.543. Look and uam Na. 8 had but recently neen completed and was somewhat similar to No. 7, impleted and was somewhat similar to No. 7, id cost $250,000. After a careful examination the work Colonel Roberts thought that the ork done on lock No. 7 was very cheap.

SHOULD LAST FOR YEARS. On cross-examination Colonel Roberts stated that the cause of the sinking of the river wall of the lock was that it had settled, and was not in the case of Norcross Bros, against Allegheny two inches out of plumb, which did not in the least affect the integrity of the structure. The tone is scaling off on the dock, but that did signify anything, as every look on the Mo-nigabela river scales. No stone can be found congabela river scales. No stone can be found that will bear the exposure of water and weather. The lock should last for 30 years, and at the end of that time be substantial. Locks Nos. I and 2 are over 30 years old, and Lock No. is better than either.

William D. Stratton, of New York, is a contractor and built Lock No. 4 for the Monongaleia Navigation Company in 1881. He also built the Baltimore and Ohio bridges at Glenwood and Rankin's station, also the Jones & Laughliu bridge, and was therefore acquanted with the character of the stream. The river sometimes rises very suddenly. Its bottom is soft and loamy. The witness never saw Lock No. 7, but knew the kind of material it was built of. The witness then went over the list of cost as handed in by Mr. Rakewell and stated that from his own experience would say that the trong his own experience would say that the work was done at a very fair price. The dam, he thought, became more valuable from having stood the test of five or six years, and was therefore worth more money to-day than when it was new. The durability or life of a dam kept in ordinary repair without being torn out by an ice gorge is everlasting. As to the timber used in a dam it did not ro. The within the resed in a dam it did not ro. The with timber used in a dam it did not rot. The witness had taken timber out of a river that had been in use for 32 years and it was still good. The witness thought that the Monongahela Navigation Company, with its plant and applances, could do the work 25 per cent cheaper they are outside extensions.

A NEW QUESTION

Under the Insolvent Act to be Heard in Court. A copy of the record in the case of Ezra Beatty was prepared by Clerk of Courts Me-Gunnegle yesterday, that an application for a have ever carried and the best values. arit of special allocatur can be made to Supreme Court. The point to be decided is a new one. Beatty was sent to the workhouse for six months at the instance of Mary Daily, to whom he was also ordered to pay $1 50 a falled to pay the weekly stipend, however, and was again arrested. His discharge was asked for on the claim that the insolvent law released was again arrested. His discharge was asked for on the claim that the insolvent law released him from all liability. The prosecution held that it only affected payments that were due at the time of discharge. Judge Magee handed down an opinion saying that the prisoner would be subject to imprisonment while the payments run, perhaps many years.

The Court had discretionary power, the practice of which he preferred to adhere to, and the petition for release was dismissed. It was on this decision that the application for a special atlocatur will be made.

DEACONESS TALKS Of the Great Movement in America, and of Pittsburg's Home. ENTHUSIASM OF ONE OF THE LADIES

The Site for the Local Institution Will Soon be Selected.

R. P. SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION

Three intelligent, refined, cultured women in the quaint, demure, modest costume of the Deaconess, occupied prominent seats and in turn the platform in the lecture room of the Smithfield M. E. Church last even ing talking in the interest of the Deaconess Home movement in this city. They were Mrs. Lucy Rider Meyer, M. D., Principal of the Chicago Training School for City, Home and Foreign Missions, who is a guest in the city, Mrs. S. A. Brockway, Superintendent of the Cincinnati Deaconess Home, who arrived in Pittsburg during the day, and Mrs. G. H. Van Vradenburg, the resident Deaconess of the city whose recent arrival from Buffalo, her former field of labor, has been a matter of note. Mrs. Meyer made the principal address of the evening, and confined herself chiefly to the deaconess movement in this country and in the M. E. Church, though reference was made to the origin of the order in Europe and its organization in other churches. To Mrs. Meyer is due the honor of introducing the deaconess work in America, Chicago being practically the birth place of the movement, which, under her efficient management, has assumed such vast proportions and evidences such enormous vitality, with established homes in almost all the large cities established homes in aimost all the large cities of the Union. Eleven Homes during the past year have been opened, and the superintendents of them have, with possibly no exception, come from the training school presided over by Mrs. Meyer. In her address, in view of the contemplated establishment of a Home in this city, Mrs. Meyer gave some particulars as to how the Home in Chicago is established with its 45 deaconesses and 40 students, and also defined very clearly the life of a deaconess whose service, she said, must be voluntary and noremonerated, excent with the necessaries of life. Two years must be spent in preparation for the work either for a visiting deaconess or a nursing deaconess, and at the end of that time the church, through the General Conference, gives the stamp of its approval. The visiting deaconesses are given a course of study in the Bible, and an elementary course in medicine and nursing.

The nursing deaconesses takes a more extended course in hospital nursing, and is as proficient when she ventures upon-her duties as a professional nurse at $25 a week. They wear the costume as a protection, and also because of its inexpensiveness. They are supported entirely by the Home, and in have lived and worked. Their labors consist of a thorough and systematic missionary work in the parish to which they may be assigned, principally among the poor, for the poor can not secure other help in time of sickness and desolation, and the wealthy can. The homes are supported entirely by generous persons interested in the work.

Mrs. Brockway gave a few interesting details regarding the Cincinnati Home and told especially of one deaconess who visited the prisons and another who held meetings once a week in the workhouse among the women. The demand for deaconess nurses in that city was very much ahead of the supply thus far, the speaker said, but they would graduate a number shortly and will then be better prepared for emergencies.

Mrs. Vradenburg was very enthusiastic in Mrs. Vradenburg was very enthusiastic in her remarks regarding the work and her lopefulness for the home to be opened in this city. Enthusiasm and earnestness characterized each of the three representatives of the Deaconess' Order, and it was a strange man or woman who listened to the almost inspired address of Mrs. Meyer and the complimentary remarks of the others, without being greatly interested in the movement.

A reception will be given the deaconesses at the Oakland M. E. Church to-day between the hours of 2 and 4. A meeting of the committee on the selection and securing of property for the home will be hold in Christ M. E. Church next Wednesday.

That Vistate Donates a Handsome Approach to Schenley Park-The Ordinance Recommended to Councils-Work Done by the Public Works Committee.

The Committee on Public Works met susterday afternoon and considered a large number of ordinances, all of which were affirmatively recommended. Among them was an ordinance dedicating two long strips of ground in the Twenty-second ward for an eastern entrance to Schenley Park, the ground being a gift from John P., Alexander and David Murdoch, and Mrs. Ellen Watson. Beacon street runs right up to the park line at a width of 60 feet and connects with Forbes street by way of Wightman street, which is 50 feet wide. The ordinance propose to make these two streets 100 feet wide be tween Forbes street and the park line, a disance of over 2,000 feet, and the Murdoch heirs, through whose property the streets are opened agree to make a gift of the necessary ground agree to make a gift of the necessary ground to accomplish that object, the only condition being that it shall be used as a park entrance. The donors request that in consideration of the gift she entrance shall be known as the Murdoch entrance, but it is not made a condition. There had been a provision requiring the city to pay for the paving of the donated strips whenever the two streets should be paved, but Chief Bigelow insisted that it should be stricken out. He says that while the gift is a valuable one in some respects, still there is already a good entrance from Forbes street, which is more convenient than the proposed new one. There is but little donbt, however, that the new entrance will some day be one of the finest to the park, and that it will immediately enhance the value of the Murdoch estate, through which it rous very greatly.

Other ordinances recommended were as follows:

Repealing an ordinance for the paving and curbing of Wallingford, between Aeville and Barton streets; changing the name of Ardshell avenue to Murray Hill avenue; paving and curbing Wallingford street, from Neville street to Morewood avenue; opening Kirkpatrick street, from Webs et to Bedford avenues; College avenue, from Elisworth avenue to Spohr street; Carey alley, from South Thirtieth to South Thirty-first streets; St. Cisir, from Rural street to Stanton avenue; Herdman alley, from Rural to Broad streets; sewer on Mulberry alley, from Twenty-eighth to Twenty-ninth streets; Lambert street, from the Pennsylvania Bailrond in Frankstown avenue; Market street, from Waler street to Fourth avenue; grading, paving and curbing Eeystone, from Fifth sevenue to Hastings street; Breed street, from Fifth avenue to Hastings street; Breed street, from Lyor alley to South Fifteenth street; McCanoless street, from Santon avenue to the Allegheny river; opening, widening and grading Wellington avenue, from Stelling to Glover streets; grading, paving, from Stelling to Glover streets; grading, paving, from Stelling to Glover streets; grading, paving, lug, widening and grading Wellington avenue, from Sterling to Clover streets, grading, paving, curbing, sawering and opening Castleman street, from Amberson to Morewood avenues.

A mighty cold streak developed in Minnesota yesterday morning, and Weather Boss Stewart confidently asserted last night that Pittsburg would not escape without first experiencing a sample of the same. At Vincent the mercury anchored at 24° below zero At Moorhead it dropped to 16° below. It was 4° below at Duluth, 4° above at Bismarck and St.

Paul, and 60 below at Sault Ste. Marie. Plenty of snow was also reported in the West. Boss Stewart expected that the mercury would fall de low as 18° above zero by daylight this morning. This would be about 7° lower than was recorded yesterday. The signal office sent out an order yesterday, parts of which may be of interest to the public. One section reads:
