BEFORE THE PEOPLE

Cardinal Gibbons' Reception at the Episcopal Residence

ATTENDED BY AN IMMENSE CROWD

Knights of St. John Blessed by the Distinguished Churchman.

VISITORS TO LEAVE THE CITY TO-DAY

A public reception was given at the Episcopal residence last night in honor of Cardinal Gibbous, and several thousand people passed through, receiving the Cardinat's blessing.

ally of the affairs of the church.

COSTUME OF THE CARDINAL. During the reception Cardinal Gibbons was costumed in the scarlet cassock and bareta, the insignia of his position in the Church. The Archbishop wore a purple robe, and the Bishops were attired in their usual robes. The Reception Committee was in full dress, and each wore in the lapel of his coat a cardinal button with a purple ribbon background, in honor of the Cardinal

The reception committee was headed by James J. Flannery, and was composed of the following gentlemen: F. J. Weixel, J. B. McNally, J. H. Bigley, T. J. Donehue, throng was gathered in front of the residence, lining the pavement and scattering into the middle of the street.

The Cardinal entered the room and took his place at 7 o'clock, but it was some time before the doors were thrown open to the anxious crowd. In the eastern part of the front parior is a bay window, which was prepared as a place from which the Cardinal received his people. It lowed and took a seat at his right. To the great majority of the members of the church lett of Cardinal Gibbons were Bishop Phelan, of Pittsburg and Bishop McGovern, of Harrisburg.

BLESSING OF THE SWORDS.

The ceremonies were begun with th - blessing of the swords of the Knights of St. John. The Knights in uniform marched into the room single file and were lined up on three sides of the room. The swords were placed upon a stand in front of the Cardinal, and as each man's name was called he stepped forward. Cardinal Gibbons placed

Among the first to pass were Messra, T. J. O'Leary, Jr., and Roper O'Mara. As the people entered they were told that the Cardinal did not expect them to kneel, merely to take his hand. Thus they were able to keep on the move and only occasionally one more devout than the others would kneel at the Cardinal's feet and ask for his blessing. This did not often occur and the people kept passing, sometimes as many as 40 shaking hands with Cardinal Gibbons in a minute.

Shortly after the reception began the procession was interrupted for a moment while Rev. Father Sheedy elbowed his way to the presence of the Cardinal, when he introduced Rev. E. R. Donehoo, who said he was an admirer of the man. After a mo-ment's talk Father Sheedy and Mr. Doneand returned to the back parlor and held a short in ormal reception with all the preists The condition of Ireland, politically, was the chief theme for conversation and all seemed to deplore the present state of affairs.

A HANDSHAKING ALL AROUND. The crowd soon broke up the little party and forced the priests into a handshaking all around. All the reverend gentlemen and triends in the crowd and they could not withstand the temptation to stop for a coment's talk with their favorites. The Recention Committee found it impossible to clear the room fast enough and the services of a stalwart policeman were demanded. He took a position near the door and kept the neople moving on through the corridor and out the side door into the court yard and thence on to the street. The priests who were not assisting in the reception went to other rooms away from the crowd, where they proceeded to enjoy themselves in conversa-

There were scores of Protestants who attended the reception, and, though many doubtless did it through curiosity, others had a great admiration for the man. One indy stepped up to one of the local priests with whom she was acquainted and

'I'm a Protestant, but I've always been anxious to shake hands with the Cardinal. I have often heard bim talk while in Baltimore, but never before had an opportunity to speak to him."
One of the priests had introduced the lady and she felt greatly pleased. Many others were introduced personally to Cardinal Gibhons, though the majority were satisfied with a hearty hand shake.

Judge Thomas Ewing was unable to be present, but sent his regrets to the dismatch, fringed and hemstitched, sizes 8-4 to tinguished churchman. Other well known gentlemen who could not appear in person at the reception sent their cards.

It appeared as though an endless throng was passing in and out of the building. Every once in a while a person standing in the rear parlor could recognize one who had made his second trip through the room and passed the Cardinal.

LONG AND CONTINUED MARCH. For over an hour and a half the march continued without cessation. At first the people moved very slowly, but the Cardinal was not feeling well after his hard work of the past few days and suggested that the people be made to pass on more rapidly. Netwithstanding his slight indisposition he remained at his post until the last man had passed, and none who were auxious to see neir leader were disappointed.

The great churchman was impartial in his reception, but perhaps he bestowed more attention on the extreme aged than upon these who have not spent so many years in the church. The old ladies seemed especially pleased that they should be honored by seeing the Cardinal and let the house wearing a happy smile of satisfaction.

In the crowd were people who had come from nearly all the towns of this section of the State, while Ohio and West Virginia were also largely represented. Ladies and gentlemen were present from Wheeling and Attoorh, while dozens of people came in from the nearby towns to attend the recep-tion. At 9 o'clock the last of the crowd had passed through and the Cardinal's tiresome task of handshaking was over. He imme-diately retired from the parlor, but Arch-bishop Ryan and the visiting bishops and priests circulated among these of the people who remained in the parlor and talked soci-

The reception committee was headed by was Pop. Plus IX, who formulated this dogma, and it is observed as one of the greatest feasts of the Church.

At the Cathedral masses were celebrated every half-hour after 5:30 A. M. At 10:30 high mass was celebrated. Archbishop stepped forward. Cardinal Gibbons placed his hand upon the hilt of the sword, while the Knight knelt and kissed the Cardinal's ring. After this ceremony ended the Knights marched out and took positions in different parts of the house to assist in caring for the crowd.

Our rapidly increasing population, the natural growth of our city eastward and the extraordinary facilities now afforded for reaching points in East End by cable and electric roads, make investments in East End real estate the most secure that can be found.

The fears that same of our croakers had that the recent financial flurry will have a depressing effect on real estate have been entirely exploded. On the contrary, prices are exceedingly firm, and December, which is ordinarily a dull month, is this year a very busy one. we deal exclusively in and if you are thinking of locating in this de sirable section and want a house or a lot, with a view of building, take our advice and buy now before the spring demand puts prices up still further.

We have conveyances on hand at all times, and will be pleased to show you any property in East End that interests you.

If you will kindly call or write, giving us an idea of what: you are looking for, we will cheerfully give you full information regarding it.

If you have a property on which you wish to borrow any money we can accommodate you. We have large sums to invest.
