FARMERS SNOWED IN.

Unable to Break Roads, Even With Four Horses Abreast—Sabbath Quiet in the Country—Bull Movement in Petroleum Boring.

While the deep snows are in a considerable degree obstructing business in many cities, it has completely paralyzed it in the rural districts.

There were sections in the western part of the county where one could stand on a height and look for miles in every direction without noting any evidences of life, save smoke rising from chimneys and here and there a domestic animal of some kind trying to break through a snowdrift in search of food or water.

The irrepressible sap-suckers fitted from tree to tree looking for evidences of worms, and even they (the sap-suckers) seemed to be oppressed by the snow.

It is so unusual to see such a snow in this neighborhood of late years that farmers were taken unawares, and many were about to cool owing to the mud laid prevailing, and yesterday they were cutting up rails for fuel.

The road between Charters and the top of McGreevy's hill, where young Caughey was killed last week by an upset of his wagon, is as rough as it was before the snow fell, the teaming being done by the horses with heavy chains, and they have not beaten the snow to a smooth surface.

It is a bull movement so far as boring for coal is concerned, and the interest is intense about Forest Grove as to make the Sabatarians feel as though the pumping of wells was a profanation. No attempt was made to start, but the country is as usual.

The brute creation seemed depressed, as if the burden of the winter was upon them, and they were all shut out from the rest of the world. He tried to force a way through the drift in a lane yesterday afternoon, by driving four horses abreast, but before the animals were harnessed they finally reared on their hind feet and refused to go further.

YESTERDAY'S MISHAPS.

Two Men Meet Death on the Railroads and Others Were Injured—Man Burned by Coming in Contact With a Stove, While Getting Warmed.

Yesterday's accidents included two men killed on the railroad. One of the mishaps was that of a man who got against a stove while being warmed. The list follows:

JOSEPH SWANSON.—Joseph Swanson, about 20 years of age, was struck and instantly killed yesterday morning by a Port Wayne engine at the Anderson street crossing.

WILLIAM HARTWELL.—A horse attached to a team of agricultural machinery, owned by William Hartwell, of the city, was backing up a load of manure on a street when it was struck by a street car, and the horse was killed.

JOSEPH O'SHEA.—Patrick O'Shea, employed at Carnegie's office, was struck and killed by a street car on Monday.

A BABY BOY DESERTED.

Wrapped in a Blanket and Left on an East End Doorstep.

About 8 o'clock last evening an Officer Warren was passing the corner of Stebbins avenue and Broadway, when he discovered a bundle lying on the steps of the house at the corner. Upon examination he found it to be a month old baby wrapped up in an old blanket. It was a boy and was fairly well clothed with the blanket for an outer covering.

The officer could learn nothing as to where the child belonged and took him to the Nineteenth ward station. It is now in charge of the matron until some disposition is made of it.

THE MEN NOT IN IT.

Miss Rutan Thinks They Should Step Aside and Allow Women to Vote.

About 250 people attended the free lecture and musical last night in Carnegie Hall. The lecture was the great feature. Miss Sara Rutan, M. D., a sister of ex-Senator J. D. Rogers, was the lecturer. Her subject was "The World's Progress."

She described the boy from his infancy to middle age, and it was very little sympathy for the girl. The speaker advised that the men who were not doing were either boys of conceit or toughs. In her estimation, the only good man was a woman, and therefore women should vote.

GEORGE BENDLEY, alias Williams, was committed to jail for trial by Alderman McKenna yesterday on a charge of stealing an overcoat.

JOHN C. WIER was yesterday morning held for court by Alderman Reilly on a charge of wife desertion. Wier is a Hazelwood carpenter.

JAMES LAPPAN, a track worker employed on the R. & O. R., was yesterday charged by Alderman Richardson with deserting his wife. Mrs. Lappan prosecuted. Lappan was arrested and committed to jail in default of a hearing.

A. J. ROSS, of Verona, has been sued before Alderman Warner, of Penn avenue, on a charge of "crucifix" preferred by Hon. Agent M. J. Deen. Mr. Deen claims that Ross, on December 12, cruelly beat a little boy named John Saunders, who is employed with him in the office of W. W. York, at the corner of Liberty and Duane streets.

J. W. FOWLER was yesterday given a hearing before Alderman McEasters, on the charge of fraudulently disposing of his personal property. John D. Biggers, who prosecuted, claims that Fowler had sold his property on which the prosecutor had levied to satisfy a claim. The Alderman reserved decision till Monday.

JOHN HENDERSON, colored, was arrested yesterday afternoon at his home in Bethelborough, and taken before Alderman Warner. A charge of cruelty, ill-treatment and abuse perpetrated by him on his 12-year-old daughter, Minnie, had been preferred against him by the Superintendent M. J. Deen, of the Bethelborough Society. Henderson gave bail for a hearing.

A STARTLING THEORY.

Both Americas to Relapse Into a State of Dense Savagery

THROUGH FAILURE OF RESOURCES.

Plain Evidences of Decay Already Visible in This Country.

THE CAUCASIAN'S FATE IS SEALED (FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Olin Mason, of the Bureau of Ethnology, of the National Museum, has evolved a theory that the resources of the Western Hemisphere will in a comparatively short time be exhausted as a support for civilized man, and that North and South America will be depopulated, except by savages of a very low order of humanity.

Prof. Mason said to-day: In order that this may be understood, it is first necessary to explain that this western part of the world, known as North and South America, is from the scientific point of view an inferior continent, as compared with the land masses of the other hemispheres. By that is meant that while superior to Europe, Asia or Africa, in point of vegetable productiveness, it is less adapted for the support of animal life.

Some Striking Contrasts Shown.

What we have as a substitute for the camel is the llama, which is a high creature, and strong enough to carry what would be a load for a man. The lion and tiger of Asia and the grizzly bear of North America, and the mammoth of the Old World is represented here by the tapir.

It is this that this part of the earth is termed an inferior continent, and the reason is that it produces or supports such high developments of animal life as are found in the other parts of the world. It is a natural product, but as an importation.

The Vegetable and Mineral Kingdoms.

Prof. Mason then, in elaborate detail, described the lapse of wheat-raising in our State after another, until the fact had been transported to the Dakotas and the very verge of the great desert; the rapid exhaustion of the soil and of the minerals; the tremendous quantities of heavy iron resources, which, newly-developed as they are, must be nearly exhausted even within the next century; the ruinous cost of producing the iron, which, in the present state of civilization, he then concluded his remarkable forecast as follows:

To put it plainly, the so-called American people are in a position to consume, regardless of their future. They have delved into the earth, and have taken out of it the resources of the land until there stands them the face of the most immediate prospect of starvation. It is a matter of time, and it is a matter of time when it will become a dead State and so the country will be a dead State.

The painful reflection incidental to the subject is that other States, if not all of them, are destined sooner or later to follow Nevada's example. The population on this continent cannot be supported by the resources of the earth afforded it by the country. If what science says is true, the white man has got to get out of the country, and the Chinese and Japanese must take his place. It is a matter of time when it will become a dead State and so the country will be a dead State.

State After State Will Decay.

In other words, he loses his status in the scale of civilization. The result is that the exhaustion of the resources of the country, State after State will necessarily become uninhabitable, because it will be incapable of supporting a population.
