The testimony was opened by William Winn, a son of the deceased. He stated that his father was Superintendent of the fire alarm system of Allegheny, and that the witness assisted him in the work, although not a paid employe. The deceased was were marked away down. Controller Morrow was very much pleased have the use of his right hand. The witness last saw his tather alive on Friday at noon, when he stated that he was going to the lower end of Allegheny to look for a break on the line. The witness did not know of his father having requested help on the work.

DUTIES OF THE SUPERINTENDENT. Robert Jones, Chiel of the Allegheny Fire Department, stated that George W. Winn, the deceased, was elected Superintendent of the fire alarm by councils. His duty was to take charge of all fire telegraph lines and keep them in repair. The ordi-nance creating the office contained a section placing the Superintendent under the conrol of the Chief Engineer, and all supplies for his department could be obtained only on an order signed by the Chief Engineer. The telegraph lines on Friday last-were in very had order, and the witness told Mr. Winn to get them fixed up in some kind of shape. The pole Mr. Wian was killed on belonged to the Bell Telephone Company. ad the city of Allegheny had the right of way on the top cross beam. Mr. Winn did not ask the witness for any help, but Assistant Chief Clark told him before dinner that Mr. Winn wanted a horse and wagon, and the witness instructed the Assistant Chief to go with Mr. Winn wherever he wanted him to go.

Richard Clark, Assistant Chief of the ire Department, met Mr. Winn at City Hall, on Friday, and took him in a buck wagon to the place where he was killed. The witness talked with Mr. Winn in the morning and the deceased asked him for assistance. The witness then went to Chief Jones and the latter ordered the witness to go with Mr. Winn.

INSTANTLY ELECTROCUTED.

The pole they were working on was at the corner of Washington avenue and Manhat-tan street. The deceased climbed the pole and stepped on what looked to be an in-sulated wire. Mr. Clark was standing on the opposite side of the street and saw smoke under Mr. Winn's foot. The witness yelled at the deceased, but he seemed to pay no at-tention, and in a couple seconds fell to the gound. The witness has since learned that be wire was an induction line. The witness gave the deceased all the assistance he could. In answer to the Coroner the witness stated that they often experience trouble at fires from wires, and the men are constantly in danger of their lives. There ire 30 miles of fire alarm wire in Allegheny and only one man to take care of it. The witness did not consider one man enough to care for the lines.

Now, when this builted in is issued, you will see Pittsburg loom away up above many munici-palities that have in the past been franked ahead of her. Philadelphia has been figured comparatively iree of debt and held up as a model to us, because of the last census figured. In our own county, McKeesport has figured as entirely out of debt. How is it done? Why, they counted assets their school property, fire department property, engines, buildings and all, water works, water, pipe, gas lamps and ports, in fact everything that could be called the city's property. This amount footed up against their debts would overbalance and then they claimed they were free of debt. Now, if we did that, where would we be? Suppose we set against our Habilities the actual value of all our school property, of our excel-lent fire department and engine houses, our police stations and the lots they occupy, our city hall property, our market house properties, our wharves and numerous other things we, as a city, own why we would be able to count ma queried.

and Messrs. Noble Jones, James Brown and Edward Lowry were called, but their testimony was a repetition of that of the former witnesses. The jury returned the following verdict:

the jury retaines the following verdict: George W. Winn, aged about 57 years, came to his death on Friday, December 19, 1890, about 1:10 o'clock, while in performance of his outy as superintendent of the fire alarm tele-graph system of Allegheny City, repairing a wire on n pole at the corner of Manhattan streit and Washnetan avenue. Sixth ward street and Washington avenue. Sixth ward llegheny, by stepping on a cable or induct wire, shocking hun, and he falling head first to he ground, breaking his neck. From all the evidence the jury find said death was accidental, and recommends that all overhead was deter-dental, and recommends that all overhead wires be placed underground; and we further find that the fire alarm force of said city inade-quate, and recommend that Councils of said ediate steps to provide more men to perform said work
