Allegheny City Formally Accepts Governor Beaver's Proclamation.

VIGOROUS KICK FROM ALL SIDES.

Lively Fights for the Pleasure of Untangling the Legal Knots.

MR. PH'PPS' GIFT IS CALLED A BRIBE.

The spirit of Buck Kilgore seemed to hover over the special meeting of Allegheny Councils last night. There were kicks and counter-kicks.

The joint session was held to take action in regard to the city's promotion to the second class, but ten minutes after it opened the members were not certain as to what they had met tor. However, they finally decided Allegheny is now to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Hartman exclaimed that he denied a city of the second class.

The only other object attained was that of referring all the vexing questions to the Finance Committee and the City Attorney, together with other lawyers who are to be employed. All the points involved in the transition are to be thoroughly investigated, and they are to give an opinion as to what legislation is needed.

Before the business of the meeting opened Chairman Hunter announced that pursuant to a resolution for the division of the wards of the city he and President Lindsay, of Select Council, had appointed the following committee to re-district the city: COMMITTEE ON REDISTRICTING.

First ward-Common, Mr. Neeb: Select, Mr. Hubbey. Second ward-Common, Mr. Curry; Select, Mr. Lahugh. Third ward-Common, Mr. Stockman; Select, Mr. T. Brown. Fourth ward—Common, Mr. Bader; Select, Mr. Lare.

a reading between the lines of these ap-pointments shows how the Chairmen have on the present members a chance to rearn to Council, for of course no member of the committee will be expected to draw ward lines so that his residence will come in district already represented in Council. In many instances the Councilmen live lose together, and it will take fine work to place each residence in a different ward. Then both branches went into a joint session and Mayor Wyman presented the Governor's proclamation. It was ordered engrossed on the minutes, which action

LOTS OF OTHER AMENDMENTS. Mr. Henricks followed by offering as an amendment a resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee of 13, to whom all matters of second-class legisla-tion be referred, and that special counsel be engaged to examine into the matter. An amendment to the amendment was offered by Mr. Drum. It was as follows:

Mr. Hunter then read the law, decided the point was well taken, and Mr. Drum's resolution was ruled out of order.

Then commenced a long debate as to whether a special committee or the financial committee should take charge of the investigation of the legal diffience between Mr. Kennedy's and Mr. Henricks' resolution. Mr. Henricks urged his ecause it was broad and brief and then they would have a representative from each

Mr. Kennedy approved the amendment. He said that it was too important a matte to take out of the hands of Councils and give to a committee. Mr. Dunn remarked that he was opposed

BOODLE IN BAGFULS Leonardo Magniatto Goes to New All was in a fair way-to settlement, when Mr. Kennedy's resolution received such York After a Young Bride, but BRINGS BACK SPURIOUS DOLLARS.

Two of His Countrymen Held for Trial for Passing the Coin.

SEARCHING GOTHAM TO FIND THE MINT

Love and boodle is often a bad combination, but when the former fails to materialize and the latter is spurious, there is bound to be trouble.

Leonardo Magniatto went to New York a few weeks ago to meet and marry his sweetheart from Italy. He failed to meet the girl, but brought back two satchels full of clever imitations of the almighty dollar. As a result 15 Italians are pining behind iron bars, where faint echoes reach them of the merry jingle of sleigh bells and the execrations of pedestrians as they push and struggle and slip through snow drifts.

The story was unfolded at the hearing before United States Commissioner McCandless of Mazio Mazzaltino and Alia Rabisco, the men arrested while trying to pass counterfeit silver dollars at the Black Bear Hotel, Market alley, on Thursday evening. The men were brought into court handcuffed. Rabisco looks like a simple fellow, but Mazzaltino has a shrewd appearance, and was calm and self-possessed. The latter's wife was also in court, an interested Before the joint session convened the following petition was presented in Com-mon Council and referred to the Library spectator. She bears traces of beauty, but looked worried and haggard. Assistant United States Attorney Williams conducted the case for the Government. The prisoners were not represented by counsel.

most earnestly requested to promptly and emphatically refuse the bribe openly and unwillingly offered by Henry Phipps, to induce you COULDN'T FOOL THE BARTENDER. John Eichleay, proprietor of the Black as our representatative to open the Carnegie Library on the Sabbath or Lord's Day. It is Bear Hotel, was the first witness examined. "The prisoners, with their wives, came to Second—it would impose unlawful securar labor on employes.

Third—It would be an open and inexcusable violation of the moral law, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it help."

Fourth—it would violate our city statute.

Fifth—Every such violation, especially by lawmakers, leads to greater disregard of law, human and Divine, of which we have enough my house last evening," he said. "Mazzaltino called for drinks for himself and Rabisco, and threw down a silver dollar. The bartender told him the money was no good, and Mazzaltino replied: 'Is that so? Well, I've got snother.' This was also a now.

Sixth—The accentance of Mr. Phipps' money on the condition named, as in the case of the conservatories, involves us all as citizens and members of the corporation in the sin of Sabhath breaking; and for myself and others whose consciences protest against this new step in sin, I do most earnessly remonstrate, as bringing guilt and danger upon the whole city, opponents as well as friends of the measure.

Very respectfully, S. Collins. counterfeit and was refused, whereupon Mazzaltino pulled out some small change and paid for the drinks. I asked Mazzaltino where he got the money, and he said from a bank. His wife interposed, and said the money had been given her husband by Leonardo Magniatto, one of their boarders. The woman wanted to get the spurious dollars, but I refused to give them up, and sent for the police. Richard Williams, bartender for Mr.

James McGovern, in Drunken Stupor, Quar-Eichleay, corroborated the latter's testirels With His Wife and They Part-His Detective P. E. Fitzgerald told the story Mind is Now Unbalanced and He Will be of making the arrest. Mazzaltino wanted to resist, but the detective persuaded him Inspector McKelvey, of the Third police that it would be pleasanter, if not healthier, to go along quietly. Rabisco and the two district, is now pursuing the necessary legal women were also taken to the Central station and locked up. Mazzaltino said he got the course to have James McGovern, a former well known and respected citizen of Allemoney from Magniatto.
Albert Grazzianni, who acted as intergheny, committed to the Dixmont Insane preter, related a conversation he had with Mazzaltino at Central station. The latter said he had gotten the counterfeits from Magniatte in change for a $20 bill. Magniatto had recently returned from New York with several hundred dollars.

A SATCHELFUL OF DOLLARS. United States Detective McSweeney was the last witness. He said he want to No. 523 River avenue, East End, and arrested all the men in the house. He found $130 in good bills in Magniatto's possession. In a room occupied by Magniatto and several other nersons, there being five beds in the department, he found a satchel containing nearly $500 in base coin. The counterfeits are very clever, and are dated 1888, 1889 and 1890. The detective learned that three weeks ago Magniatto borrowed $230 from Mazzaltino to go to New York, where he was to meet a young woman. A few days ago he returned without the girl, but with two heavy satchels. One of these he gave to a young man who took it out of town, and for whom search is now being made. The men were committed for court in default of $1,000 bail each on a charge of pass-ing counterfest coin. Mrs. Mazzaltino was held as a witness.

Detective McSweeney stated yesterday that Magniatto and Michaele di Maria would have a hearing to-day, and the Gov-ernment would be guided by the result in its action toward the ten or a dozen prisoners. It is probable that a charge of conspiracy will be made against the whole party.

BREAKING UP THE GANG. Mr. McSweeney says the counterfeit, while probably the best ever made, is the work of Italians, who are very expert in the use of plaster of paris molds. A number of Italian counterfeiters have been arrested from time to time in New York, but nearly all escaped with short sentences, and are now at large. The detective expects that the arrests of Wednesday will result in breaking up the gang, as the officials are making vigorous search in New York for headquarters of the coiners.

Detective Shore, who has had considerable experience with criminals of all national. ities, says it is very difficult to convict Italians, as their fellow-countrymen are avers to testifying against them, having a lively dread of the stiletto.

In speaking about the effect of spurious money Mr. Shore related an incident of the Pendleton campaign. Pendleton, who was running for President on the Greenback ticket, had distributed throughout the country a campaign circular on one side of which was printed a fac-simile of a $2 bill. Many of the Pittsburg "boys" got hold of them and passed them off on a number of illegal iqour sellers, and as a result over a dozen speak-easies were financially wrecke.

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA. SS.

COUNTY OF ALLEGHENY.

Personally before me, a Notary Public for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, resident in Pittsburg, in said county and State, appeared John T. Moss, who, being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the distiller at the John T. Moss distillery, Westmoreland county, in the Twenty-third district, Pennsylvania; that he has been engaged continually in the distillation of whisky since 1856, and that the "Silver Age" rys whisky distilled by him for Max Klein, of Allegheny City, Pa., is double copper distilled and absolutely pure rye and barley mait.
