Mr. Warmeastle and Mr. Lambie both argued that the message contained points that should be considered by the various committees named in Mr. Lambie's amendment, giving to the Finance Committee only that portion relating to the sinking fund. Mr. Keating at this ju cture called all the gentlemen to order by a motion to formally receive the message, a fo.m which had been overlooked, which done, Mr.

Common Council Wanted to Hear It.

Mr. O'Donnell brought up the subject of the Mayor's report in Common Council. He thought it should have been read in that branch before sending at to the France Committee, and Mr. Bigham agreed with him and moved that select Council be instructed to transmit the Mayor's report to Common Council for concurrence or such other action as might be deemed in.

It is furthermore argued that, as the heads of the three principal departments of the city government.—Public Works, Public Safety and Charities—expend annually more than $2,000,000, and administer affairs which yitally affect the welfare of all the people, they should be directly responsible to the citizens whose interests are so wholly committed to their keeping. An application to the Legislature for a change in our government would have greater weight if supported by the approval of both cities of the second class, and I, therefore, ask your favorable consideration of the suggestion for some conference with the authorities of Alleghen.

The motion was adopted. When Mr. Bigham | gheny City. sucked to write the resolution for the clerk charged the word "instructed" to "requestand in this shape the resolution was sent to

HIS HONOR TO COUNCILS. Mayor Gourley Favors the Local Legislators With His Views on Municipal Matters-He Talks About the New Charter and

Makes Several Suggestions. Mayor Gourley's first annual message to Councils was presented by Chief Clerk Ostermater, and was read by Chairman Ford, who became a trifle husky before he reached the signature. The forecast given in THE DISPATCH on Sunday had prepared the members of Select Council for the contents of the document branch of Councils yesterday afternoon, and and, as all the subjects touched upon had been discussed in the press from time to time, it created no undue excitement. The full text of the message is as follows: To the Honorable the Select and Common Coun-GENTLEMEN-I deem it my duty, as the Chief Executive of the city, to respectfully submit at the present time, seem to possess a special importance. In this communication these matters are taken up separately, and what I have to say concerning each is presented in connection with each subject.

I desire, in the first place, to call your attention to the fact that our sister city of Allegheny has wirtually become a city of the second class, and that any laws that may be enacted by the Legislature touching cities of that class will affect both Pittsburg and Allegheny alike. It would, therefore, seem wise and expedient that some suitable action should be taken by the two cities in order that any legislation that may be had may be harmonious and for the may be had may be harmonious and for the best interests of both. For this reason I respectfully suggest the appointment of a special com-mittee to have charge of the matter of State legislation, and which shall meet and consult with a similar committee appointed for the same purpose by Allegheny. Similar Legislation for Both Cities. The great importance of this matter at the present time is apparent, because many persons in our own city entertain the opinion that the act of 1887, known as the New Charter, should be amended by the incoming Legislature; and it is moreover probable that Alle-gheny City will especially desire some change I refer was enacted entirely with reference to this city, and differs materially in its character of legislation from all other acts relating to the government of other cities of the State. It briefly prescribes the form of the city government and leaves the details to be adjusted by ordinance of Councils. ordinance of Councils.

It is flexible in its character, permitting change in the methods of the government by simply changing the ordinances of the city. The ordinances, therefore, of two cities of the Simply changing the ordinances of the city. The ordinances, therefore, of two cities of the second class adopted to carry the city government into effect may be entirely different and thus suited to the requirements of the respective cities of that class.

This act of 1887 preserves all previous legislation touching cities of the second class, not in conflict with it or repealed by it, and as it relates only to the form of government of such cities nearly all the previous legislation on other matters is retained. Under this act, therefore, Pittsburg and Allegheny may enjoy a similar form of government without interierence with the existing laws of either regarding other matters. In these respects the act is a wonderful improvement over all previous legislation relating to the same subject, but it is still imperfect. In the opinion of many people the act of 1887 should be amended by the Legislature so as to change the form of government in several respects, as follows: Robertson renewed his motion to refer to

> First, the Mayors of such cities should be inted with more power and responsibility in their governments. nd, some simple and expeditions method should be provided for the trial and punish-The heads of departments should be elected The heads of departments should be elected by the people, and their official term reduced from four to three years.

A radical reformation must come sconer or later which will insure just and impartial valuations, and distribute in an equitable manner the burden of inxation which at the pre-ent time is unequally borne by the people. This subject presents a fertile floid for investigation, and i equally borne by the people. This subject presents a fertile floid for investigation, and i trust that Councils will give it the consideration its importance demands.

The act of Assembly, approved June 15, 183, directs the Councils of cities of the secondical class to provide by ordinance for the investment by the Controller of all balances remaining to the credit of the sinking fund of said cities, in the loans of said cities, or the loans of the United States, or the loans of the State of Pennsylvania, and the income derived from such investment shall, on collection, be credited to the several funds respectively.

The language of the act is clear and explicit, and under it the duty devolves upon Councils to provide for the investment of sthe sinking funds at present lying unproductive in the depositories of the city. The Controller has embraced every opportunity for the purchase of bonds under direction of the Finance Committee, but he has been in a measure bandicapped by instructions which limit his purchases to a figure which will insure to the city an income of 3% per cent on the investment.

A Chance to Make Money.

A Chance to Make Money. I am informed by the Controller that the sinking funds in the several depositories of the city this large amount of money from which the city is deriving no benefit cannot be invested at the rate of 3½ per cent interest, why not invest it at 3 per cent and thus insure an annual income of $30,000? Why not, if necessary, invest it at 2½ per cent, and by so doing increase the revenues of the several sinking funds of the city by the annually acquiring interest of $25,000? Leaving out of the question the express requirement of the law and rewing the subrequirement of the law, and viewing the sub-ject simply in the light of a business proposi-tion the conclusion must be reached that the best interests of the city will be subserved by the investment of this money, even at a lower rate of interest. Better have it produce something than nothing.

The pressing necessity of a city hospital is becoming more and more manifest as the city grows and the years advance.

Almost daily some of the officials are visited by the sick or unfortunate, the old and decrepit, wasted or unfortunate, the infirmities of ago, penniless and in need of protection and care. Some of these destitute people are strangers who have reached the city on their way East or West in search of friends with whom they hope to find a home. Others are men and women who work for meager wages, and hence have been unable to accumulate sufficient money to provide for their necessities in the hour of sickness. Many of them are not proper subjects for the Poor Farm, and others, industrious when able to work, have a horror of such an institution. ag more and more manifest as the city of such an institution. Strong Arguments for a City Hospital. What such people need is the temporary cure and attention of a hospital. The various hospitals of the city are exceptionally kind and onsiderate, but they cannot, and ought not, be considerate, but they cannot, and ought not, be expected to receive, gratuitously, the sick and destitute persons who should be provided for at the expense of the municipality.

I do not believe the present an expedient time to undertake the work of establishing a city hespital and yet I earnestly think something should be done for the relief of persons such as these to when I relief.

thing should be done for the relief of persons such as those to whom I refer.

Would it not be well, therefore, in the absence of any better arrangement at the present time, to make an appropriation of, say, $10,000, to be used under wise restrictions in providing in the several hospitals of the city suitable relief for the sick and destitute who may be deemed worthy of such attention? I make this inquiry simply in the form of a suggestion, which I trust Councils may deem worthy of consideration.

which I trust Councils may deem worthy of consideration.

There is an almost universal demand, especially by the Southside, for free bridges. The people more particularly interested in this matter aggregate, at least approximately, one-third of our city's population: in consequence of this fact, if for no other reason, the claims so earnestly urged by them are entitled to respectful consideration. They naturally feel that the structures spanning the Monongahela, and connecting different sections of the same municipality, should be as free to the citizens as the streets and highways of the city. treets and highways of the city.

The justice of their demands must be cor ceded, but how to meet them even partially without increasing to a very appreciable extent the burden of taxation, is a problem worthy of the highest consideration of Coun-

An Appropriation for Free Bridges. The purchase of these bridges, which have en erected at large expense by private corporations, even if possible, is not practicable at the present time. Such an undertaking would involve a greater expenditure than the municipality will be prepared to assume until her present debt shall have been more nearly extinguished. Perhaps all that can be done by your honorable bodies at the present time is to make a reasonable appropriation to be held in reserve and increased by future appropriations reserve and increased by future appropriations until a sufficient sum shall accumulate with which to build a bridge or purchase the right of way. Of course, the time is coming when all these bridges must and will be free, but this cannot be expected in the immediate future. In this connection permit me to add that there is a pressing necessity for a bridge across the Monongaliela, from the mouth of Twenty-fourth or Twenty-fifth street, Southside. The growth and business interests of the city demand the means of communication at this point. Besides, such a structure would make Schenley Park comparatively accessible to a large proportion of the Southside people. The citizens of this part of our city bear their proportion of the expenses attending the improvement of the park, and if they are to enjoy its advantages and benefits it should be made as easy of access as possible. This bridge, when built, should be built by the city and made free to all the citzens.

I leave this matter with you, entirely satisfied that your action will be determined by what on conceive to be for the best interests of all you conceive to be for the best has concerned.

I had hoped to be able to-day to transmit to you the reports of the several departments of the city government; but as all these reports have not yet been received by me, this is impossible. Whatever I have to say concerning these documents and kindred subjects will be said when I present the reports to Councils.

Yours respectfully,

H. J. GOURLEY, Mayor.

The first act authorizes the boroughs and ities of the State to purchase and condemn bridges crossing navigable rivers. Section I provides that when any bridge connecting with a public street or highway, and it shall appear a public street or highway, and it shall appear that the toils are burdensome to the traveling public, it shall be lawful for any borough or city to purchase such bridge on payment, or securing the payment of such sum as may be agreed upon between the Councils and the owners. In order to secure the payment the Councils shall have power to appropriate from time to time a sum sufficient to pay the amount agreed upon, or which may be awarded by viewers and Court.

The second section provides that when it is determined to acquire a bridge and the price cannot be agreed upon, it shall be lawful for the Court of Common Pleas, on application of the Councils, to appoint five freeholders, resideuts of the county, but not residents or property owners in the borough or city, unless the parties interested shall agree to such appointment, to fix a place and time to appraise the value of such bridge and franchise. have Philadelphia members introduce us to each other." There was a good attendance at the meeting, Messrs. Jones, of Homestead, and Nesbitt, of Oakdale, being the only absentees. On motion of James F. Richardson, S. E. Stewart, of Verona, was elected Chairman. Senator William Flinn moved that the delegation indorse the candidacy of J. Donald Cameron for re-election to the United States Senate. The roll was called, and on this motion each member answered to his name. The first name was that of John Neeb, and so it happened that the journalistic Senator's first proud official act was easting his vote for Senator Cameron's re-election. Every member present

In the meeting yesterday the question of the Speakership was not publicly discussed. Before the meeting was called to order there was some quiet talk over the situation. Brooks, of Philadelphia, was not in it. There had been a rumor on the street that S. E. Stewart, of Verona, as the home candidate for Speaker of the House, would be given the unanimous indorsement of the Allegheny county delegation. But the sentiment seemed general to not touch on the Speakership at all in the meeting, and neither it was. It was a black eye to Brooks, however, and a compliment to Mr. Stewart, to elect the latter Chairman of the delegation at yesterday's meeting.

tion of his candidacy for speaker. The delegation evidently is not unwilling that this sustion evidently is not unwilling that this suspicion shall attach to their choice of chairman. Mr. Stewart says he was not disappointed in not getting a formal indorsement at the hands of the home delegation, because he did not expect it. It would have implied an indorsement of all the misor positions which Allegheny county people are after, and they are numerous. He adds, significantly, that he will prize the votes he gets in caucus more than an indorsement. He will go into the House caucus Monday night, he says, with a reasonably strong following, and he hopes to come as near winning as anyone of the seven or eight candidates for the big arm chair in the House of Representatives.
