THREE SHOT DOWN

A Mysterious Tragedy That Occurred Near Wilkesbarre.

DEADLY WORK BY A REVOLVER. How Martin Curley, His Wife and a Hungarian Were Killed.

PRESH NEWS FROM THE THREE STATES

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WILKESBARRE, Dec. 29.-A terrible triple tragedy, which is yet involved in considerable mystery, took place at Broderick's Patch, a small mining village three miles west of here, shortly before noon today. Martin Curley, a young married man, 31 years of age, together with his wife and four children resided in the heart of the little village.

This morning Curley told his wife that he did not feel well and said "he guessed he would not go to work." He got up at 6, dressed and after eating breakfast went back to bed. About 10 o'clock Mrs. Curley left her baby in charge of her 4-year-old daughter, and went to call on her mother, Mrs. Shields, who lives a few doors turther up the street. Mrs. Curley told her mother that her husband was not at work and that she guessed she would do the family wash-

Mrs. Curley's Cry of Murder.

The two women then returned to the Cur-ley home. Mrs. Shields returned to her own As she was leaving her daughter's house she saw a Hungarian named John Tralia enter the barroom. Five unnutes later Mrs. Shields, who was on her was back with soap, heard a pistol shot in the barroom. The next minute Mrs. Carley ran out of the

The next minute Mrs. Curley ran out of the house, and when she got to the stoop she cried "murder." As she did so she received a shot back of the head and fell heavily on the stoop. The neighbors now rushed into the barroom. Is the meantime two more shots were fired. When the neighbors entered like barroom they found the husband lying in a pool of blood. He had been shot in the forenead, the ball entering his head just over the left eye. A revolver with three balls in it was found on his breast. Three feet away from Curley lay another Hungarian named Mike Haddock. He was shot behind the ear, and the blood was flowing from the wound in a large stream.

All Three Soon Died.

The neighbors picked up the wounded and carried them to an adjoining room. Several physicians were summoned. Mrs. Curley lived an hour after the shooting and then died in preat agony. The husband lived about an hour longer. He was unconscious all the time and could make no statement. Handock was dead when found. The first man to enter the place cays he saw Traila, a Hungarian, leave by way of the back door. His light overcoat was stained with blood. It is also believed he was wounded, as bloed was found in his tracks for some distance.

some distance.

The first supposition was that Curley had killed his wife and the Hungarian Haddock, attempted to shoot Tralla and the : killed himself. Later, however, circumstances make it appear that Traila was in all probability the marderer, and that to hide his crime he piaced the revolver on Curley's breast. As soon as this fact became known a large posse started in pursuit of Traila. It is believed he took a train at Wyoning for the West. Another theory is that he is hiding in the mountains, Hunting for the Hungarian.

A large crowd of men and boys are now scouring the neighborhood for him. The only living witness to the crime is the little 4-year-old daughter of the murdered parents and she can give no intelligible version of the affair. can give no intelligible version of the affair. She was in an adjoining room rocking the baby to sleep. The girl did not come out at once. All she knows about the affair is that "a man hit papa and mamma and they fell."

If Traila is the murderer his motive is unknown. He was indebted to Curley some $70. He remed a house from Curley, but about four months ago left without giving notice. Since then he has not been seen about the neighborhood. On Christmas Day he returned to spend the holidays with friends.

KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED.

C. L. Cookerly Was Too Accou a Total Stranger. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

CUMBERLAND, Dec. 29,-Yesterday evening a young man was found unconscious upon the gas house bridge. After being taken to the station, and recovering, he stated that his name was C. L. Cookerly, of Middletown, Md. He had lately been in business there, but had sold our and gone to Pittsburg to look for another mation. He had decided to locate in Pitts-urg, and was going back for his effects when to was approached in the depot by a man who hated that his name was W. Johnson, of

He said he kept a confectionery in Cumberhand, waild Mr. Cookerly, "and wanted to go home, but was busted. He then horrowed $5 from me on a watch he had, and I turned back into the city to make some other purchases, while Johnson went on, I came back and took a later train from Pirtahara. at me very keenly, and I now know him to the same man who lured me on to the dge here. I stayed in Cumberland all day ting for the man Johnson, as I wanted to tra bins his watch. Finally a man with a beand approached me, and said he had a sent to conduct me to Mr. Johnson. Ifol income sent to conduct me to Mr. Johnson. I followed him unsuspectingly, and when on the bindge he turned, knocked me down and rabbed me of S200. In my strangle with the ment I partially pulled a false beard off his face, and I positively identified him as the man to chom I had loaned the S5, and who followed in disguise on the train." Search is being cade for his assailant.

HAD ANOTHER MAN'S CHECK.

d. A. Cassidy Will Have to Answer to the Charge of Embezzlement.

SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH, FRANKLIN, Dec. 23.—This morning Deputy United States Marshal Frank Hearatty left for Pittsburg in charge of J. A. Cassidy, who was arrested at Foxburg on a charge of embezglement, on information furnished by Post-olics Inspector H. R. McCalmont. From the evidence given before United States Commis-sioner Chadwick it seems that Orlando E. Clark, of Appleton, Wis., sent a letter containing $25 to James Cassidy, at Fredonia, N. Y. The letter was forwarded from there to Buffalo, where it was advertised. James A. Cassidy noticed the advertisement, and lifted the letter.

Afterward he called at the First National Bank, of Bradford, to have the check cashed. This the casher refused to 60, but agreed to forward the letter and check to Wisconsin for collection. A few days after Cassidy wrote the Bradford bank to inquire after the check, and wanted the money forwarded to him. In the meantime Inspector McCalmont had been informed by the department at Washington of the letter going astray. Calling at the Bradford bank, he procured the address of James A. Cassidy and arressed him. Cassidy is well known throughout the oil country. His admissions before the Commissioner were said to be so very damaging that he was held in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at the next term of United State Court, which meets in Pittsburg.

POISONED BY SARDINES. Several People Made Sick by Eating Heartily of the Canned Fish. SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATOR.

SCHANTON, Dec. 29.-Mr. and Mrs. David Evans, John Evans, Mrs. M. A. Thomas and S. Evans are all suffering from being poisoned by eating the contents of a can of sardines. Mr. Edwards had purchased them at a neighboring store, and with several friends sat down to disner. Each are heartily of the canned fish, and in a short time Mr. Edwards and Mr. S. Evans were taken violently ill while walking on Main

Both showed the same symptoms, and it was at once surmised that they had been poisoned. They were hastily taken to a physician's office, and in a shert time were able to start for home. When they arrived there they found, as expected, all the other members of the family very ill. Dr. Roberts attended them, and in a few hours they were all pronounced out of dianger.

DIPHTHERIA'S RAVAGES.

Four Deaths in One Family Since the Early Part of Last Month.

SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH.: YORK, Dec. 29 .- The family of Henry Eppley of Newberry township, has been sorely afflicted with diphtheria. On November 5 last a son aged 14 died; on November 27 a daughter aged 7 years died; on December 1 a son aged 16 years died, and a few days ago still another son died, aged 8 years. There were other members of the family who had the disease, but they have recovered. The neighbors feared to go near the house.

When the fourth one died Rev. Mr. Spangler,
When the fourth one died Rev. Mr. Spangler, who was out on a pastoral visit, volunteered to officiate at the grave and a regular funeral service was held, the reverend gentleman including in his service the others who had been buried without any rites. The bodies were all interred in the Union Cemetery in Manchester borough.

NELLIE SHEE'S STEALINGS.

A Foung Woman Who Made Rich Hauls From Her Employers.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) BEAVER FALLS, Dec. 29 .- When O. H. Hunter, a drygoods man, left this place last spring and went to Union City to enter into the drygoods and notion business with W. S. Gilt-son, he took with him a young and pretty saleswoman, named Nellie Shee, and placed her in the same position with the new firm. In the same position with the new firm. In August last, she left them to go home, as she said, to her sick mother. This was the last they heard of her until they saw in the papers last week an account of the robbing of the drygoods store of P. N. Haskell, in Meadville, by one of their clerks named Nellie Shee, and of finding in her room at her boarding house $170 worth of goods, which the fair Nellie said she had stolen from her various employers.

Messrs, Hunner & Giltson went to Meadville and in the house where Nellie lived with her parents found a large quantity of goods which they said had been taken from their store. Nellie is not at home, and is said to be clerking in a store at Wellsville, O.

FAILURE AT LANCASTER.

The Fishing Creek Lumber Company Makes an Assignment. "SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 LANCASTER, Dec. 29.-The Fishing Creek Lumber Company, one of the largest concerns in the State, has made an assignment to William B. Given for the benefit of their creditors, The company was chartered a year ago with an The company was chartered a year ago with an authorized capital of $175,000, and a paid up capital stock of $100,000. This money was expended in building a mill, houses, dams, roads, cabins, etc. The operating expenses of the company were very heavy, and owing to the prevailing tightness in the money market it was found impossible to realize the cash necessary. Under the circumstances it was thought best to protect all interests by making an assignment. The officers claim that the assets are largely in excess of the liabilities, and that they will be able to make a satisfactory arrangement and resume business at an early day.
