Judge Stowe Talks to the Grand Jury About the Petition for

A COMPLAINT AIRED.

THE WORKHOUSE INVESTIGATION.

He Says It Was Impertinent, and Improper

That it Reached Them.

OTHER NEWS GLEANED IN THE COURTS When the grand jury reported for duty yesterday morning Judge Stowe stated to them that in pursuance of remarks made by him on Wednesday last, relative to the petition of a number of citizens demanding an investigation of the workhouse, he would read them a charge, defining their duties, etc. This charge was in substance as fol-

If the matter had not been given such publicity by the press I should have contented myself with quietly suppressing the paper, vithout saying anything more than suggesting without saying anything more than suggesting to you that the attempt to communicate was entirely improper, and that you had and could have nothing whatever to do with it in your official capacity as grand jurors.

"In my charge to you on the first day of the term I stated generally that so far as criminal or alleged criminal offenses (by which I mean all such offenses and matters as fall within the juri-diction of this court triable by jury) you could only take notice of them, or, in the language of your oath as jurors, they could come to your knowledge only by way of informations made before magistrates and returned to court, such as you have had before you every day, except in three kinds of cases.

WHERE THE JURY HAS POWER.

WHERE THE JURY HAS POWER. "First-When the Court, of its own motion, calls your attention to and girects investigation of matters of general public import, such as great riots or multifarious and flagrant vices tending to debauch and corrupt the public morals. In such cases the Court may properly, in aid of inquiries directed by it, summon, swear and sond before the grand jury such witnesses as it deems necessary for a full investigation of the evil intimated. But this course is never adopted in cases of ordinary crimes observed against institutions.

"Second The District Attorney can in some cases profer an indictment against individuals without a previous binding over or commitment, as when the accused has fied the jurisction of the State, "Third—The grand jury may, upon their own

"Thrid—The grand jury may, upon their own knowledge, in some cases originate a criminal proaceoung by presentment." This is the notice taken by the jury of an offense falling within their own knowledge or observation. It must be based upon the personal knowledge of at least one of the jurors, and must be concurred m by at least 12. It is as much a criminal accusation and such as affects the community at large as matters of general importance in regard to the public health, morals or safety as an indictment, except that it emanates from their own knowledge. It is regarded as instruction for an indictment. This, however, is strictly subordinate to the Court, and applies only to criminal offenses which are the subject of indictment. Where a presentment fails to show facts which are of such a character, the Court must refuse its assistance." Court must refuse its assistance.

JUDGES QUOTED ON THE QUESTION. Here the Court quoted at length from opin ions of Judges King and Parsons, of Philadel phia, and said: "Having thus indicated what the functions of the grand jury are, it is highly becessary to say that outside of such functions they have no more power, authority or duty than any other 1, 12 or more citizens who may meet together in any capacity, social or otherwise. And the Court has no more right to invest them with a power to investigate matters not falling within the purview of the criminal law and coming before them by proven authority, than it would have to do so with any other body of citizens we might choose to select.

In the case in hand the effort to communicate with the grand jury in the manner at-tempted was a gross breach of propriety, and is only saved from the penalty of being a mis-demeanor (if at all) by the fact that the charges specified are such as under no circumes the grand jury can have any power to "The grand jury are not even legal visitors of its workhouse or any other public institution this county. In their official capacity they are no right to be considered or recognized, heir visits to such places are merely personal nul are in no sense a part of their official aries, and their exclusion by persons in harge would be nothing more nor less than he refusal to admit the same number of ordi-ary citizens sawking to visit such places from Neither the Court nor the grand jury had any power or authority to investigate the matters complained of nor to appeals others to do so. Any action either might take would be entirely extra judicial."

THE ANSWER FILED

In the Action for the Nullification of a Street Railroad Lease.

The Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester Union Passenger Railway Company yesterday filed their answers to the equity suit brought against them and the President and directors f the Union line, by W. W. Martin, guardian of George M. Kountz, a minor. The suit was brought to have annulled the lease of the Pittsbrought to have annulled the lease of the Pittsburg Union Passenger Railway Company to the Pittsburg. Allegheny and Manchester Company. In the answers all the allegations of impropriety in making the lease, etc., are denied.
At the meeting of stockholders, it is stated, at which the lease was signed, all the stockholders were present or represented and the lease was unanimous. At the meeting, it is said, the ten shares of stock in the Union line claimed to be owned by George M. Kountz, a minor, were woted by William J. Kountz, acting for his son, William J. Keuntz, Jr., who owned the stock.
The lease was properly made and with authority by law.

The present litigation, it is stated, was instited by William J. Kountz and is under his control and direction. It was without consid-control and direction. It was without consideration for and in bad faith with his fellow stockholders. Kountz, it is stated, claims to be a large stockholder in the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester Passenger Rallway Company, his stock standing in the names of different

A Man Who Pleaded Guilty to Stealing

Flowers in a Cemetery. In Criminal Court yesterday H. G. Stage pleaded guilty to a charge of the larceny of a ot of flowers from graves in the Allegheny Cemetery. When the facts were laid before Judge Stowe, His Honor's face, which is usually wreathed in smiles, assumed a very serious aspect, and, after a few moments' thought, he remarked: "This I consider a very serious offense. I, myself, as well as others, have suffered from just such vandalism in the same emetery. I hardly feel fit to impose sentence in this case. I know of cases where flowers have been placed on graves, and in an hour the flowers would be gone. However, I will not let my feelings interfere with the sentence as directed by the law."

directed by the law."

The defendant, a rather well-dressed, intelligent-looking man, stated that there had been no direct intention on his part to steal flowers. He had gone to the cometery to get some things that were in his mether-in-law-slot, and on his way out had unconsciously picked up a lew pinks and put them in his pocket. Judge Stowe remarked that while the act might have been a thoughtless one, it was none the less a ead offense, and that he would not pronounce sentence until Saturday.

NO MONEY IN THE GENERAL FUND. The Reason Salaries Were Not Paid the

Solon Trustees. An answer was filed by the defendant, yesterday, in the suits of John R. McKelvey and Frank J. Wheeler against the Order of Solon. The suits were brought to recover salaries as trustees elected by the Supreme Executive to a mittee of the order. In the answer it is mated that at the meeting creating the salaries, it was provided, the plaintiffs voting for it, that the salaries were not to be paid until there was enough money in the general fund, of which the plaintiffs were trustees, to paythem. The salaries, therefore, are not payable yet because there is no money whatever in the general fund.

DEMURRER OVERBULED.

In the United States Circuit Court Judge McKennan handed down an opinion in the case of George F. McGinness, administrator of case of George F. McGinness, administrator of Edwin May, against Erie county, overruling, Iron City Brewery's make, Trhssu the demurrer filed by the defendants to the plaintiff's declaration. The suit was for dam-ages for the infringement of a patent on a cellar door.

The question raised by the demurrer was that as the patent had expired more than six years before the suit was brought, the claim for damages was harred by reason of the statute of limitation.

Something About Michigan's New Democratic Governor.

LOVED AND WAS GIVEN THE MITTEN

Notable and Successful Career as a Cali-

CONSERVATIVE WOLVERING FARMER

GRAND RAPIDS, Dec. 29.-Edwin B Winans, of Hamburg, Livingston county, who will be the first simon pure Democratic Governor the State has had in over 30 years and who will enter upon his duties as Chief Executive amid an immense burst of Democratic enthusiasm on New Year's Day, is a cool, conservative, hard-headed old farmer, and, with his neatly trimmed beard, well fitting clothes and kindly eyes beaming over a pair of gold bowed spectacles, does not look like one who has a romance concealed about his person or as a man who has faced hardships and death in a desperate chase across the continent to satisfy a thirst for gold thirst for gold.

The California gold fever in '49 raged with particular virulence in Livingston county, and Michigan's next Governor was among Stewart for $11,000.

The certificate of the Governor in relation to the population of Allegheny City, placing it in the second class, was placed on record yesterday in the Recorder's office.

JAMES MCQUISTON and Henry Roberts yesin an other direction. He started a bank— not of the kind that was quite popular at that time and place known as faro, but a bank for the transaction of legitimate commercial business. The young Michigan financier prospered, and in the course of two or three years had accumulated a com-fortable little pile. But Winans grew restless and longed for bome.

The Governor's Lovemaking. Not far from . Winans' old home in Livingston county lived the Galloway girls. There were four of them, and it was which and tother as to which one of the quartet was the prettiest. Young Winans decided in his mind that Sarah Galloway would just about come up to his standard of an ideal wife, and before his departure for the gold fi-lds paid his addresses to her and his kind attentions were favorably received. "If I like you as well when you come back as I do now I will marry you," she told him with refreshing frankness when he went away.

It was to see if Sarah still liked him that Winans was so anxious to return to civiliza-tion. The long journey back to Michigan was as full of danger as the first trip across the continent. The train of prairie schooners was attacked by Indians and Winaus received a bullet in the ribs, but fortunstely the wound was not fatal. He reached home in safety, although bandaged, and was given a royal welcome by the neighbors for miles around. But he found that his cup of harminess had at history days. His of happiness had its bitter drop. His sweetheart loved another.

Loved Him as a Sister. Absence had not made the heart grow fonder in her case, and she regretfully informed the future Governor that she would be glad to be a sister to him. Winaus de-termined to take her at her word. He was eminently practical and sensible then as he is to-day, and when he learned his fate he made up to Libbiz Galloway, proposed, and was accepted. A few weeks later they were marriel, and the slender, sweet faced little woman who has made so admirable a wife and devoted mother accompanied has husband has to California. companied her husband back to California. They remained severa! years and Governor Winans there laid the foundation of his present comfortable fortune.

ALMOST A RESURRECTION.

The Terrible Experience of Mr. Phillip A. C. Beaver as Told by Himself.

His Condition Had Continued for Years -- The Story of His Final Rescue by Drs. Copeland & Blair.

Mr. Philip A. C. Beavers, who, lives at Wilkinsburg, Ps., and is in the employ of the Union Switch and Signal Company, of Swissvale, Pa., has the following to say in mmendation of Drs. Copeland and Blair: "I think my catarrhal trouble was hereditary. I had been afflicted more or less all my life. But for the past ten years I suffered constantly, the disease had undermined my entire constitution, and I was little better than a dead man,

"I consulted doctor after doctor and spent a lot of money, but got no relief. Then after reading the statements of patients who had been cared by Drs. Copeland and Blair while suffering almost as I did, I went to see them, and finding their charges so reasonable—simply nominal as compared to those of other physicians—I began their treatment, although I expected when I paid out my money that it would go like all the rest—for nothing.

"Imagine my surprise and delight to find that I improved steadily under their splendid care, until now I am as well as I ever was in my life. I need not tell you my symotoms, I had them all, and to an intense degree my head, nose, throat, eyes, ears, lungs and stomach, and, in fact, nearly every portion of my body was affected by the loathsome disease. Drs. Copeland and Blair not only furnish their patients all medicines, but give them also a regular methodical local treatment—mild and agreeable, but very effective, as the result in my case proves. The best I could say for these eminent specialists would not do them half justice. They saved my life, for had it not been for them the disease would have brought me to my grave."
