Mr. Jackson was seen yesterday and said the ontlock for his class of goods was never better. New oil territory is being developed constantly and the demand for 220 barrel tanks is increasing rapidly. Prices have declined from $10 to $100 for this sized tank. He will supply the greater portion of the demand for the Butler county field in the future.

It will be remembered that when their demands were presented two weeks ago the new scale, providing for eight-hour work days and various other things, was to take effect January I. The time has expired, and, although the men claim to have pursued the constitutional course, they have received no satisfactory reply from either the railway companies or their own officials.

The matter has rested quietly, apparently, until last night, when it broke out afresh, and trouble of some sort is expected to-day. There was a meeting of the local Grievance.

Mr. Jackson was seen yesterday and said the ontlock for his class of goods was never better. New oll certifory is being developed constantly and the demand for 220 barrel tanks is increasing rapidly. He will supply the greater portion of the demand for 220 barrel tanks is increasing rapidly. There is a legal proceeding pending in which Mr. Jackson is the defendant, but in which he expects to vindicate himself without much difficulty. His former partner, Mr. Wallace, brings the action, claiming that Jackson had not accounted for over $3,000, and alleging that he day applied $3,880 to his own purpose. Jackson filed his answer in the case yesterday. The Grand Master has placed us in the position of downright fools. We presented a scale to take effect to-morrow, but the demands have not been granted. According to the constitution, he should have been here to settle the difficulty one way or another. If we work after making the demands the people will knigh at us, and if we retuse to work we remder ourselves hable to expuision from our association."

Transcontinental Rates Keep Going Up a

The advance in transcontinental rates does not put shippers into an agreeable frame of mind. The new iron rates will be $1 25. The time was when a keg of nails could be shipped to San Francisco for 65 cents per 100 pounds, but the rate is almost doubled now. The agents say that Western rates have been too low for profit, and after kicking for awhite shippers will forget all about the increase of 10 per cent.

Local agents do not think that the advance

Local agents no not think that the advance will increase the shipments to the coast by way of Cape Horn. The rates to San Francisco are lower than to many intermediate points.
