An interesting story regarding Buck Ewing and Mike Kelly and the late Players' League is now to the front. It purports to give the details of how Ewing and Kelly soon discovered that the P. L. was a failure, and how they speedily made known the fact to mid how they speedily made known the fact to Messrs. Anson. Spalding, and J. B. Day.

In July A. G. Spalding went to New York, preparatory to a contemplated trip to Europe. Anson and Ewing had talked over the baseball situation in the meantime, and a bond of sympathy has been established. Spalding was ignorant of this. One day Anson requested the Chicago League President to take a drive with him that evening. He refused to take "no" for an answer, and asked furthermore that Joho B. Day, the New Yorks' President, be invited to a seat in the carriage. So anxious did the "old man" appear to desire the commany that Spalding gave consent, although he knew not the purpose of the drive. He had, in fact, asked for information and had been told to wait and learn. A carriage drove up to the Fifth Avenue Hotel at the appointed time. Spalding and Anson took seats and the ride uptown began. A stop was made at Day's home and that magnate was taken awheel. He, too, wondered what it was all about. Then a long, tedious drive began. The men in the carriage were silent. Away up large. all about. Then a long, tedious drive began, The men in the carriage were silent. Away up near High Bridge the carriage stopped and Anson alighted. Soon he returned and the frive was resumed. But another carriage was following close behind. Spalding and Day wondered some more. But Auson was silent.

wondered some more. But Anson was silent. Shortly afterward the city lights were lost in the distance. The procession moved on.

At Westchester a stop was made. Anson got out and after reconnoitering led Spalding and Day to and through a dimly lighted cigar shop to a small room in the rear. Then the Chicago ball captain hastened to the second carriage and escorted its occupants to the rear room of the little shop. As the trio entered the two League magnates looked up in the greatest surprise. The newcomers were "Buck" Ewing and Dan Richardson, two of the Players League's most noted sympathizers and ardent Brotherhood supporters. Ewing was aware of the purpose of the errand, for he had consected to Anson's proposition. Richardson was of the party because of "Buck"," request that his friend's presence and counsel be allowed.

Subsequently it was agreed that Kelly, Subsequently it was agreed that Kelly, Ewing and a player from each of the other clubs should issue a manifesto to the Brother-hood stating that all should leave the P. L. at hood stating that all should leave the P. L. at the end of the season. It was on Spalding's suggestion that the time was set for the end of the season. He had no nestre for vengeance, but, on the contrary, hoped to end the light in the most honorable way to the capitalists and players. The details were all arranged. On a certain date Spalding, Day, Kelly and Ewing were to meet in Youngstown, C. The manifesto was then to be issued, the consent of the other leading players having been obtained by Kelly and Ewing. Each of the quartet was ready to start for the Ohio town. Kelly was in Youngstown a day ahead of time. That evening Spalding and Day were surprised to receive telegrams which read: "Don't come; receive telegrams which read: "Don't come; the bird has nown." Ewing had backed out at the last moment. The manifesto was not issued. But the prochecies of Kelly and Ewing were correct. The Players' League had dready reached the beginning of the end. It is now no more. The Chicago League President ded to await the natural results of events. He said that in spite of the dissensions and rottenness of the Players' League it would finish its season. A Heavy Commission to Back the Australian in the Coming Fight.

New Orlhans, Jan. 2.—The interest over the bardle for $12,000 between Jack Dempsey and Bob Fitzsimmons for the middle-weight championship of the world is increasing. It is the main topic in sporting circles here.

Fitzsimmons is a heavy favorite, and every day he gains new admirers. If the present champion defeats him it will be a great surprise. The quick way Fitzsimmons deleated Edity McCarthy, of Australia, at San Francisco on May 30, Las considerable to do with his being such a favorite, coupled with the comparative case in which he defeated Arthur Upham in this city.

Dumped the Uniontown Sports. PEPECTAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH. SCOTTDALE, PA., Jan. 2-A big cocking main took place at Summit Mines, near here, yesterday, which was witnessed by fully 500 people. The battles were between the Uniontown and Scottdale fowls, and the latter were completely victorious, winning six out of the seven fights. The Uniontown sports were rather inclined to bet freely on their favorites, and as a result lost about $590. The only battle won during the entire day by the Uniontown people was due to the fact that the local men put a cripided bird into the ring. The last battle was a light for $75, and the Scottdale people, after winning it, paid the boys' fares home. Another hie main is being a granted which will

HIS CASE IS HOPELESS. and Talks About Baseball and the New League He and Brunell Are Going to

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CLEVELAND, Jan 2-A genuine sensation in baseball news is to be sprung upon the public within a day or two, and the essential features of the new deal were learned inadvertently by your correspondent to-night. The Players' League people contemplate organizing a circuit of clubs composed of Philadelphia, Brooklyn, New York and Boston on the East, and Cleve-land, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis or Pittsburg on the West, to play Sunday ball at 25 cents per game. While your correspondent was in a downtown restaurant to-night Al Johnson and Secretary Brunell came in arm-in-arm. "I have the letter here," said Johnson, "calling for the special meeting of the Brotherhood players within a week."

"What assurance have you," asked Secretary Brunell, "that the Brotherhood men will stick Brunell, "that the Brotherhood men will stick to the new agreement?"

"Why," said Ai, "there are being mailed to the Brotherhood players to-day 100 ironclad agreements that the boys will be asked to sign before leaving the secret meeting next week, In this agreement the players bond themselves not to sign with the National League or American Association. We will have nine-tenths of our old players in line when the deal is completed."

"What about Cincinnati?" asked Secretary

"Why." said Johnson, "the managers and stockholders in St. Louis and Columbus would certainly rather come into our organization than into one where big bonuses must be paid Rochester, Syracuse, Toledo and other cities Rochester, Syracuse, Toledo and other cities to get out."

All this was said in a whisper, but could easily be heard a dozen feet distant, Almost simultaneously with Mr. Johnson's declaration, J. J. Coleman, who managed the Players' club here last season, called a meeting of the local players of the city, and secured their signatures to a petition addressed to the General Assembly of Ohio asking that Sunday games be allowed.

ANOTHER CHAMPION WRESTLER. Jack Carkeek Claims the Title and Issue

a Sweeping Challenge. The controversy about the title of wrestling champion is becoming very interesting. Jack Carkeek has appeared on the scene and defles anybody and everybody. He says: "Will you kindly allow me to contribute my little song and dance about the much-coveted title of champion catch-as-catch-can wrestler. Lewis' (or the Parson's) talk about Lewis being champion is all bost. Of course, he won from Acton at Battery D in Chicago a very long time ago.' Previous to that time he was defeated by Tom Cannon, winning two falls in the short space of six minutes. Up to then where does Lewis come in as champion? He then went to Pittsburg with the title of champion tacked to his name, and wrestled Tom Connors. The result of that match was not only disastrous to Lewis, but to the entire party of Madison sports, who lost some $1,500 on the sure thing. 'Parson' Davies claims that Lewis was robbed. Be that as it may, Lewis was given the first fall because Connors butted him and made his eye black. When they came together again Connors won a fall, the only one that occurred during the match. The finish of that match was a brutal rough and tumble fight, and Lewis lost. The title of champion of course went to Connors, who must have retained it until defeated, which was not until I met him at Milwaukee. I have not a the short space of six minutes. Up to then

Cocking Main at Newark. PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR 1 NEWARK, O., Jan. 2.—The day was duly celebrated here yesterday by a lively cocking main in a barn in the very heart of the city, which was attended by a large crowd of sports. Some half dozen battles were fough; and consider-able money changed hands. There have been a number of mains here during the year, and at no time was anyone molested by the police.

Bad Weather Stopped the Race.

The foot race between Tom Hammond and T. Nichols, which was to have taken place at Monongahela City Thursday last, did not occur owing to the bad condition of the grounds. The race will be run at Brownsville Monday, weather permitting. There is considerable interest in the race, and the Brownsville sports think Nichols a sure winner.

BILLY MURPHY, the Australian featherweight boxer, is now on his way from Australia to San Francisco. Before sailing he was defeated in eight rounds by "Red" Mace. Young Griffo in-tends to follow Murphy to "Frisco" where he hopes to get on a match with him.

THE match etween Paddy Smith, of Brooklyn, and Palsy Kerrigan, of Boston, has fallen through owing to Kerrigan's inability to get down to weight. The men were to have fought at 125 pounds, but Kerrigan finds that he cannot get below 140 pounds and be strong. PRIL ARCHIBALD, the bookmaker, has started or Australia on the steamer Alameda. He had with him like Weir, the purillst; John Green, the horse trainer, a groom and three horses. It is Phil's intention to fight Weir and race the horses when he gets to the colonies. He may do well enough with the trotters but the chances are he'll have his hands full controling the erratic Weir.—Exchange.

Exchange.

There was a trace of sentiment in the purchase by Baron Leopoid Rothschild of the beautiful yearling flity Magnolia, by The III-Used out of Magnetism. Baron Rothschild and Mr. Belmont were the firmest of friends, and whenever either achieved a notable rictory on the turf the cables throbbed with congratulatory dispatches. Magnetism was Mr. Belmont's favorite mare, and the Baron paid his dead friend's memory a very slucere compliment in buving a filly of whose blood lines Mr. Belmont was so justly proud.—Sportsman.

Sportsman.

THE "dinky dink" is the newest phrase in racing phraseology. The phrase had its origin in the baseball world. Its father brought it into the world to describe the condition in which the Players' Learne dunes found themselves after the severe "throw down" to which they were subjected by the "magnates" and it leaped into immediate popularity. Now the sporty boys have taken it up. They feel that no one is subjected to such allopathic doses of the "dinky dink" as they are, and they have adopted the word for their own.—Sportsman.

The backers of Smith and Ed Nikirk met at this office last evening and agreed to postpone the race between the runners until next Satur.

MINOR NOTES FROM THREE STATES

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. INDIANA, Pa., Jan. 2 .- J. F. Snyder, a rominent attorney of Clearfield, says it is altogether likely that the Beech Creek Railroad Company will extend its lines into Indiana county before long. He says the line will probably go to, or near, Gettysburg. He has been here for several days examining titles of land in the vicinity of Hillsdale, with reference to the Beech Creek system. The Vanderbilts, who bought up the holdings of the minority stockholders in the ings of the minority stockholders in the road, are understood to have transferred their holdings to the New York Central Company, and it is understood that they desire to bring the Beech Creek directly under the influence of the New York Central. The direct purpose, however, of the change of management is believed to have a bearing on the new charter to connect the Beech Creek with the Lake Shore at Oil City. The construction of 90 miles of track will close the gap and form a new line from Chicago to Philadelphia. For through freight this route will be 123 miles shorter than any other line now, running.

A peculiarly sad story is connected with her tragic end. A grown daughter became insane several weeks ago, and a constant brooding over this caused the father's mind also to give way. December 30 he died in the West Penn Hospital, where he was taken for treatment. It is thought the double affliction proved too much for the poor surviving wife and mother to bear, hence her mad act to-day. Mr. Bair was a veferan of the late war and a highly-esteemed member of Post 190 of this place, which post assumed charge of his funeral.

NATURAL SNOW BALLS.

The Action of the Wind Causes a Strange Phenomenon at York. PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR.

YORK, Jan. 2—A curious phenomenon in connection with the late fall of snow is re-ported from Washington township. George Hollinger, of Mulberry, stated to-day that there were thousands of ready made snow there were thousands of ready made snow balls, varying from the size of a walnut to that of a football, to be seen in the fields in the vicinity of his home. They are as well formed and as hard, and even rounder than the ball usually made by the small boy.

At first it was impossible to account for the presence of the snowballs, but afterwards it was ascertained they had been formed by the whirling action of the wind. The first snow that fell had been covered with a coat of ice. The second snow fall was very light, and only about one inch in depth. This last snow fall was set in motion by the sourrying wind, and rolled along its smooth, ley bed, forming into balls which increased in size as they rolled along. Fence corners, ditches, and hollow places were so filled by the round spheres as to create the belief at first that they had been dumped there by the wagon load. Several impromptu snow balling parties were formed.

The greasers, engineers, firemen and machinists, who do not belong to any organization, presented a separate scale asking for the same wages as are paid at Bellaire and Mingo.

The locomotive engineer is paid $1 80 per day and asked for $2. The first blowing engineer receives $2 50 per day and asked for $3; the second is paid $2 25 per day and the scale calls for $2 70. The machinists demand an increase from $1 90 to $3. The traveling crane men are paid the same wages and ask for a similar advance. The machine helpers are paid $1 35 per day and want $1 60. The firemen receive $1 85 and demand either $2 per day or a helper. The water tenders receive $2 25 and demand $2 40.

Snow and Rain Falling Over Most of the Country. PREPARED FOR THE DISPATCH,

The storm which was west of Lake Michigan on Tuesday moved directly east, and was central to-day over Lake Huron, with slightly increased energy. The warm wave, which preceded the storm, sent the temperature up 25 degrees or more in all the New England States and in New York. It was raining along the Atlantic coast from Wilmington, N. C., to Eastport. The rain extended west to Lake Erie. Thence it was snow as far west as Lake Michigan and North through the upper lake region. In the upper lake region the snow was heavy. A high pressure area, or fair weather conditions prevailed west of the Mississippi Valley and extended from the Gulf to Canada. A second storm was sweeping in the extreme Northwest The cold wave had reached Michigan, where a fall of 20° to 25° occurred. Dense fogs prevailed off shore and in the States from Norfolk to Portland.
