NO WORKING OUT ROAD TAXES

The Bill Ready for the Final Action of the Commission.

THE COUNTRY MEMBERS ARE PEARED.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] HARRISBURG, Jan. 4.-From members of the State Road Commission I learn that Opens January 5, 1891. Send for catalogue. some important changes have been made by the sub-committee in the Road Improvement bill, which they are about submitting to the Commission for final action. The bill, as now definitely decided upon by the sub-committee, wholly abolishes the system of "working out road taxes." It provides that every farm owner must pay his road taxes in cash. If the farmer feels that that is too great a financial drain on him, or if he still has idle time on his hauds which he believes he could just as well put in on the roads, then a course is left open to him by this proposed new law which might omit flowers. be regarded as the equivalent of working

He may give notice to the County Road Engineer that he wishes to work on the roads. The engineer at the proper time notifies him where to report for work, and then he works upon the roads just as any other person who is employed as a laborar for that work. He will be paid wages for each day's work, entirely independent of the amount of property he owns, or the amount of his assessment. But his own road tax he must pay in cash, and he is simply given this opportunity to earn the money back. In other words, the authorities in employing labor to repair roads must give the farmers of the township preference. County Engineers Provided For.

The proposed law also provides for the appointment of a civil engineer in each county to have general charge of the work on roads. He shall be paid a salary, and he can only secure the place after passing a thorough examination as to his fitness. These exami-nations shall be conducted by a board, which may possibly be formed of members of the State administration at Harrisburg.

In distributing State aid the township is made the unit, and the money appropriated by the State for road building will be dis-tributed like the school funds are. If a township raises by local taxation, say $3,000 for roads, then the State will give to that township in proportion. For a long time the sub-committee considered the idea of the sub-committee considered the idea of building a mile of permanent roadway for every mile built by the township, but at last this has been rejected as falling short of the mark. A township might never build a mile of permanent road, and thus the good work would never be started, though the State was willing to aid. By the plan now proposed the State aid will be at once turned to practical use, because taxes will of to practical use, because taxes will, of course, be assessed and collected every year in townships. The members think the pro rata plan makes it a fair distribution. What money the State gives a township must, however, be expended on building a permanent road, not in isolated sections, but Continuously adding to it each year.

Not Sure of Adoption.

While the above is an outline of the bill roughly drafted by the sub-committee, it is not sure at all that the general commission will adopt it when it is reported to it. The sub-committee is a minority of the whole commission, and the majority has full privilege to amend the work of the minority in this case. The sub-committee will hardly call the commission together to receive the report until the middle of the month, because they are awaiting the outcome of a popular road improvement movement in Philadelphia. In that city there is a remarkable sentiment for a permanent im-provement of rural highways all through quarters there, to draw up a bill for sentation to the State Legislature this

This committee is composed of the ablest men in Pennsylvania in that particular line. They are Hon. Wayne McVeigh, ex-Attorney General; A. J. Cassatt, the railroad magnate; John C. Bullitt, the Quaker City millionaire; Prot. Lewis Haupt, the eminent W. H. Rhann, an expert in civil engineer ing matters. When the State Road Com mission finally sends its bill through the Governor to the Legislature, its interests will be championed in the Senate by Senator Amos Mylin, of Lancaster county, while Hon, J. H. Griffith, of McKean county, and Dr. W. H. McCullough, of Allegheny county, will have charge of it in the House

Afraid of the Country Members.

The Commission realizes that the proverbial economy of the country members in the Legislature will be one of the principal obstacles their bill will encounter. are, therefore, disposed to trust to the press of the State to educate the people to the con viction that although expensive at first, good roads in the end cut down taxation. As soon as the bill is approved by the whole Commission, no matter what form it finally takes, printed copies of it will be mailed by the Secretary to every daily and weekly newspaper in Pennsylvania, with the request that it be reprinted by them in full.

It is believed that there is a powerful undercurrent throughout the State for some better system of improving the public high-ways, and it is the desire to turn this widespread sentiment to some account by removing false impressions. The County Road Exploring Expedition of THE DISPATCH last spring brought out in strong light the hearty favor with which the rural press everywhere advocate road reform. The time for action has now arrived, and in no legis-lation to be introduced at Harrisburg this winter will the power of a united press be no potent as in this. L. E. STOFIEL.

Poisoned by Scrofula

Is the sad story of many lives made miserable through no fault of their own. Scrofula is more especially than any other a hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissue; there is a period of fortal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is espe-cially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But here is a remedy for scrofula whether heredwhich by its powerful effect upon the blood, expels every trace of the disease and gives to the vital fluid the quality and color of health.
