

A NEW STEEL PLANT

To Be Erected at Glenwood, in Which to Operate the Adams Open-Heart Process.

REVOLUTION IN THE CRUCIBLES.

A Metal, the Production of Which Will Prevent the Drainage of Millions of Dollars, and WILL BE ANOTHER BOOM FOR THE CITY.

When THE DISPATCH announced exclusively, a year ago, the completion of a process for the production of open-heart steel...

The new concern is known as the Adams Iron Company, and is composed of the Steel and Iron Improvement Company, of this city, and a number of other local and Eastern capitalists.

Getting Ready to Begin Work. The capital stock is $200,000, although, as often stated, the owners of the new patents have been offered an almost unlimited amount of support from capitalists all over the country.

Plans Laid for the Adoption of the Process by Another Concern.

When THE DISPATCH announced exclusively, a year ago, the completion of a process for the production of open-heart steel...

The experiments of the past 12 months have not only proven the absolute truth of all the statements made at that time, but have demonstrated greater possibilities in the process than were even thought of.

Everyone connected with it has become so thoroughly satisfied as to the practicability and permanent success of the process that a company has been organized to operate it exclusively, in a new plant to be erected in this city.

The new concern is known as the Adams Iron Company, and is composed of the Steel and Iron Improvement Company, of this city, and a number of other local and Eastern capitalists.

Getting Ready to Begin Work. The capital stock is $200,000, although, as often stated, the owners of the new patents have been offered an almost unlimited amount of support from capitalists all over the country.

Plans Laid for the Adoption of the Process by Another Concern.

When THE DISPATCH announced exclusively, a year ago, the completion of a process for the production of open-heart steel...

The experiments of the past 12 months have not only proven the absolute truth of all the statements made at that time, but have demonstrated greater possibilities in the process than were even thought of.

Everyone connected with it has become so thoroughly satisfied as to the practicability and permanent success of the process that a company has been organized to operate it exclusively, in a new plant to be erected in this city.

The new concern is known as the Adams Iron Company, and is composed of the Steel and Iron Improvement Company, of this city, and a number of other local and Eastern capitalists.

Getting Ready to Begin Work. The capital stock is $200,000, although, as often stated, the owners of the new patents have been offered an almost unlimited amount of support from capitalists all over the country.

Plans Laid for the Adoption of the Process by Another Concern.

When THE DISPATCH announced exclusively, a year ago, the completion of a process for the production of open-heart steel...

The experiments of the past 12 months have not only proven the absolute truth of all the statements made at that time, but have demonstrated greater possibilities in the process than were even thought of.

Everyone connected with it has become so thoroughly satisfied as to the practicability and permanent success of the process that a company has been organized to operate it exclusively, in a new plant to be erected in this city.

The new concern is known as the Adams Iron Company, and is composed of the Steel and Iron Improvement Company, of this city, and a number of other local and Eastern capitalists.

Getting Ready to Begin Work. The capital stock is $200,000, although, as often stated, the owners of the new patents have been offered an almost unlimited amount of support from capitalists all over the country.

Plans Laid for the Adoption of the Process by Another Concern.

When THE DISPATCH announced exclusively, a year ago, the completion of a process for the production of open-heart steel...

The experiments of the past 12 months have not only proven the absolute truth of all the statements made at that time, but have demonstrated greater possibilities in the process than were even thought of.

Everyone connected with it has become so thoroughly satisfied as to the practicability and permanent success of the process that a company has been organized to operate it exclusively, in a new plant to be erected in this city.

The new concern is known as the Adams Iron Company, and is composed of the Steel and Iron Improvement Company, of this city, and a number of other local and Eastern capitalists.

Getting Ready to Begin Work. The capital stock is $200,000, although, as often stated, the owners of the new patents have been offered an almost unlimited amount of support from capitalists all over the country.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Central Trades Council Has a Lively Contest for Posts of Honor—Cold Weather Stops Building.

The annual election of officers took place and the contest on the presidency was an exciting one. There were originally three candidates—W. J. McKeever, F. G. Stoehr and J. O. Stuart.

The other officers elected were: Vice President, John H. McCloskey; Recording Secretary, Thomas McNave; Financial Secretary, Lewis J. Zegan; Treasurer, J. O. Stuart; Sergeant at Arms, Isaac Regester; Trustees, Hughes, Holman and Stuart.

A communication was received from L. A. 4897 in regard to the salesmen's grievance with a Smithfield street matter, and after considerable discussion the action of the Salesmen's Assembly in putting the establishment a non-union house was ordered.

The seal of Broommakers' Union No. 321, A. F. of L., was endorsed by the council, and a committee to visit the different wholesale grocers in regard to the matter.

Several delegates reported that their union had adopted the Schenley Park Memorial scheme, and the matter will be brought up again at the next meeting to form some definite plan of action.

PRESENTED WITH A WAIVER. Former Superintendent of the Solo Furnace Remembered by His Men.

Last evening Mr. R. C. Porter, the former superintendent of Moorhead, McCleane & Co.'s Solo furnace, was tendered quite a surprise by his fellow workmen.

The men assembled at Mr. Porter's home on Lavin street, Fourteenth ward, and in a neat address Mr. P. Madigan, on behalf of the employees, presented Mr. Porter with a handsome gold watch and chain, and Mrs. Porter, with a pair of earrings and a bracelet.

Mr. Porter, with a pair of earrings and a bracelet. Mrs. Porter, with a pair of earrings and a bracelet. Mr. Porter, with a pair of earrings and a bracelet.

COLD WEATHER STOPS BUILDING. Fewer Permits Issued in December Than During the Same Month of 1890.

The report of Building Inspector Hoffman for the month of December shows that permits were issued for 43 brick buildings, 102 frame buildings, 1 iron building, 1 iron building and 1 stone building, a total of 148.

The estimated cost of the total number of buildings is $2,500,000. This is a decrease of 62 buildings as compared with the same month last year, and a decrease in estimated cost of $914,748. The amount received for permits was $370 50.

Huns to Be Tried for Rioting. The trial of the Bradock rioters will be begun in Criminal Court to-morrow, the principals being Dodner and Todd, indicted with 48 others for participating in the riots there on the 10th of December.

A Gas Explosion. A gas explosion occurred at Carnegie, Phipps & Co.'s Twenty-ninth street building yesterday, that shattered the windows and doors of the entire place. No one was hurt.

TO COLONIZE HEBREWS. A German Count Looking for Land in America for Persecuted Poles.

Count Bernard De Mark Witz, a German Hebrew from Berlin, was in the city yesterday on his way West. He is in this country in the interest of the Polish Hebrews who have been persecuted in Russia and Poland.

AN ODD FIRE ALARM CODE. Wilkinsburgers Are to Be Warned Hereafter by Steam Whistles.

Benjamin W. Clackandun, Superintendent of the fire department in Wilkinsburg, has placed the fire alarm whistle on the tower which adjoins the passenger station.

ANOTHER MANDAMUS WANTED. County Officers Will Ask Controller Grier to Increase Salaries.

County Solicitor Geyer has given an opinion that county officials, as the county has more over 500,000 inhabitants, are entitled to the increase of salary specified by law, and as Controller Grier has said he would not pay the increase, the legal band is expected to begin to totter ere long, as the persons interested will go into court and ask for an improvement.

DISCUSSING A STREET ACT. Mayor Gourley and Senator Fitch Spend a Pleasant Hour Together.

Senator Fitch and Mayor Gourley spent an hour yesterday afternoon in earnest conference on the city's urgent need for a new street bill. Both gentlemen agreed that a new street bill was needed in order to help the city to continue its present rapid progress.

A CHANCE TO HELP OUT. The Subscribers to the Guarantee Fund Have an Opportunity to Assist the Westinghouse Electric Company.

The Westinghouse Electric Company has a chance to help out. The subscribers to the Guarantee Fund have an opportunity to assist the company.

THE PITTSBURGH DISPATCH. SUNDAY, JANUARY 25, 1891.

AN EASTERN FEEDER

Formed by the Friends of the Westinghouse Electric Company.

NEW ENGLANDERS INVESTING. Subscribers to the Guarantee Fund Could End the Trouble.

BY TAKING THE FULL AMOUNT IN STOCK. Messrs. R. H. Brown and W. R. Brown, of New York, were in the city yesterday on business connected with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

The latter gentleman is of the banking firm of Brown Bros., and is also President of the United States Electric Company of Springfield, Mass., which has just been formed to co-operate with the Westinghouse Company in the construction of electric railways in New England.

E. L. Brown is the New England representative of the Westinghouse Company. The gentlemen say that there is great confidence manifested by Eastern capitalists in the ability of the company to get out of the present difficulties, and so to think that the trouble is really over.

"Everybody in New England considers Westinghouse Electric stock a good investment," said R. H. Brown. "There are a good many holders of common stock there and they are willing to take a good bulk of preferred stock in addition. They consider Mr. Westinghouse fully able to come around all right and are backing their confidence with subscriptions for preferred stock."

New Englanders After the Stock. "Some of the stockholders are exchanging the common stock for preferred and adding a good bunch of shares to the lot. Our end of the country is coming up nobly and in one there has no idea that there will be any further delay in the present plan of the Bridgeport, Conn. will be here in a few days to take a large block of stock. We are taking orders right along. Just as soon as the Connecticut Legislature gives the company the franchise we will put in a 30-car road at New Haven. The laws are a little different there, and it requires more time to secure a franchise, as it must go through the State Legislature."

"We now have a road in operation in Springfield. Considerable trouble was had in getting the franchise through on account of the poles and wires being objected to. The Springfield Republican was very much opposed to the franchise being granted, but said editorially that if the road must go in the city the city should stipulate for the use of the more noiseless electric motor, a local trial of which was had."

"We had a trial of speed in Springfield not long ago. The trip was 2 1/2 miles, and in one of the miles there was a 120-foot rise. The trip was made in 7 minutes with three stops to let messengers get on or off. Another trip of a half mile with a 20 per cent grade was made in 1 minute and 20 seconds."

Business Prospering in the East. "There is certainly no more cause for financial trouble if business in other parts of the country is as good as in my district and I understand that it is. In New England we shall put in at least 150 cars during the coming summer, and that is a very low estimate. People there are greatly excited with electricity as a means of locomotion."

"A very novel contest occurred in one of the cities in which two kinds of cars are used, one of the motor cars and one of the horse cars, and a discussion brought on a challenge. So a Westinghouse car was hitched to one of the others and they were started in opposite directions. Our car hauled the other right along for 40 yards. Of course, that was done by the motor car, but it was a very interesting thing to see. I am not sorry to see our car get the best of it, but I certainly should not have sanctioned any such a contest."

Mr. Brown talked further about the business of the company in New England and seemed very confident of its success in the present year.

A Motor With Half the Gears. The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has just completed a new noiseless motor, and the trials have, so far, been successful. Mr. Brown, manager of the railway department, explained the workings of the new motor to a DISPATCH reporter yesterday.

"The new motor is a great improvement on half the gears of the old motor, and it is called the slow speed motor. It dispenses with the intermediate gears and pinions. This reducing the number of revolutions necessary to run the car gets rid of all the noise, and yet it does not reduce the speed of the car. It is also better in the case, because it can be started or stopped so much easier than the other. The old motor is just as good as the new one for roads out of the city, as it can make just as good speed. The chief advantages gained are in getting the car started and in stopping it. It is not the invention of one man, but made by the company."

Reasons for the Company to Stand Well. "Of course, there are other advantages gained," continued Mr. Harding. "The gearing is boxed up with an iron case, which keeps out the dirt. About four-horse power is used in the motor, and the maintenance and repairs is greatly reduced, and the gearing will last eight months where formerly it was badly used up in two or three."

Patents have been asked for on different parts of the motor, but as a whole it cannot be protected. For that reason the manner in which the motor is constructed is of great importance to the company, and the company will thus have the advantage of its competitors who will be able to pattern after it to a great extent."

Mr. Harding showed the reporter reports from the managers of new roads in different parts of the country of how the work is progressing. There were also letters from clients who have put Westinghouse cars on roads operated by other systems, and the letters were to show the superiority of the local company's cars. All this was done to prove that there is no reason why the company's stock should not be selling rapidly to and to show that there is no cause whatever for an assignment. Officials of the company are growing more confident every day and declare everything is now lovely.

Mr. Westinghouse Takes Another Trip. Vice President Bannister said yesterday afternoon that while he is not yet prepared to make any direct statements, matters are moving along smoothly. Other members of the company made the same statement.

The Messrs. Brown returned to New York yesterday, and stated that they had also left for that city. One week yet remains in which to finish the business of selling preferred stock, but comparatively little has yet been done. The major part of the stock is either sold or promised. Mr. Westinghouse yesterday telegraphed his lawyers in New York that he intended going to that city, and stated that the office of the company had assumed a very promising aspect.

The local creditors' committee is yet at work, but will probably finish early this week. They expressed their confidence in getting all the local creditors in line by the end of the allotted time.

A CHANCE TO HELP OUT. The Subscribers to the Guarantee Fund Have an Opportunity to Assist the Westinghouse Electric Company.

The Westinghouse Electric Company has a chance to help out. The subscribers to the Guarantee Fund have an opportunity to assist the company.

KNAUFF IS MISSING.

So Far He Has Eluded the Vigilance of the Allegheny Officers.

FAULK AGAIN BECOMES RATIONAL. The Murderer Realizes His Crime, and Means His Wife's Fate.

SAYS THE GERMAN MADE HIM KILL HER. Interest in the sensational Faulk murder is deepening.

Although the facts, as published exclusively in THE DISPATCH yesterday, told the story of one of the most remarkable crimes ever committed in this country, the developments yesterday added a new mystery to the actions of William Faulk, the murderer, and George Knauff, the false prophet.

Faulk yesterday appeared perfectly rational. His immanity has apparently let him, and he charges Knauff with being responsible for his crime. He does not know why he shot his wife, and even asked if he might not have been better off if he had not married her.

From the ravings manifest of Friday, with a desire to murder every one he met, he is now transformed into the loving husband and father that he was before he listened to the ominous croakings of the old German.

Another strange fact is that Knauff has disappeared. Officers were hunting him all day yesterday, but up to a late hour last night he had not been caught.

In view of the developments, though, all the officials are puzzled how to proceed. With Faulk in his right mind, and charging Knauff with making him commit the deed, they admit they do not know how far the old German can be held responsible.

The Coroner, however, believes that all that can be done with Knauff is to send him to Dixmore, for he believes him to be more insane than Faulk.

In view of the developments, though, all the officials are puzzled how to proceed. With Faulk in his right mind, and charging Knauff with making him commit the deed, they admit they do not know how far the old German can be held responsible.

They were friends and business associates of Mr. Westinghouse, and were very proud of his enterprise when all seemed smooth sailing, and did not like being put in the seeming attitude of abandonment at the first adverse breeze.

Some of the subscribers to the Guarantee Fund are growing more confident every day and declare everything is now lovely.

THE PITTSBURGH DISPATCH. SUNDAY, JANUARY 25, 1891.

ON PUBLIC HIGHWAYS.

A Railroad Seeks to Lay Tracks on a Thoroughfare Without Authority.

Rev. Father Neeson, of St. John's Church, Thirty-second street, has taken a stand against the threatened encroachment by the Junction Railroad on a public thoroughfare in the neighborhood of the church. Men employed by the road are constructing a side track from Thirty-third street westward.

Yesterday afternoon they sought to lay the track on an alley at the back of the school, when the reverend gentleman interposed and said that they should not use the public thoroughfare for a private purpose without authority from Council.

Acting in this manner, said Father Neeson last night in Pittsburgh. I am aware that the alley is under control of the civic authorities, and also that the railroad has not obtained permission from Council to encroach on the thoroughfare. For any other citizen can interfere in unauthorized usurpation of public property, and in this case I do not propose to allow the railroad to lay tracks along the school yard. Council say they may do so. If Council do permit the laying of tracks alongside the church then I shall know how to act. The church property is a school yard, a committee, and does not own one cent, having cost over $12,000, and been paid for inside of ten years. It cost too much money, you can see, to allow its value being destroyed by the building of railroad tracks alongside of it. When the men tried to carry in rails I simply warned them off, and they desisted. That is all there is to it."

SEE WOULD NOT GO HOME. A Southside Father Appeals to the Police to Help Recover His Daughter.

Jacob Ecker went into the Twenty-eighth ward police station, last night, and complained that his daughter, Mary, had left her home and gone to a neighbor's house, 23 Egan street. He told the sergeant that he had tried to get her to return, but she refused.

As a last resort the angry father wanted the police to interfere. He was so mad that he could hardly be understood, but was finally pacified by being told that the officer on the beat would help him. The last seen of him he was handing the officer. The girl is 17 years old, and is supposed to have left home for a while to get rid of her father.

THEY DON'T GAMBLE. The Room Filled on Wylie Avenue Yesterday Morning Not at No. 2.

Messrs. Brown & Williams, proprietors of the billiard room at No. 5 Wylie avenue, stated yesterday that they wished it understood that the gambling den raided by the police early yesterday morning was not at No. 5, which is their place of business, as was published yesterday morning. The gamblers who were raided held forth in a room in the rear of the building, on the corner of Fifth and Wylie avenues, on the opposite side of the street from No. 5.

Messrs. Brown & Williams desired the correction, as they are applicants for a license, and do not wish their place to rest under a cloud.

CHANGING ITS QUARTERS. The American Club Decides to Move Into a New House.

A special meeting of the American Republican Club was held last night to consider a proposition to move the club from its present quarters at the Fresh Pond building, on Smithfield street. There was but little opposition, and the step was decided upon by an almost unanimous vote.

The club will have two floors, with ten rooms, in the new location. It is the intention to remodel the building and fit it up in excellent shape. It is estimated that $5,000 will be required, and at the meeting last night over 100 members subscribed $10 each to this fund.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN. John Kerr Died Yesterday at the Advanced Age of 99 Years.

John Kerr, the oldest citizen of O'Hara township, died yesterday at the advanced age of 99 years 6 months and 24 days. He has illness lasted three weeks. He lived in O'Hara township over 50 years and in that time has amassed a fortune of about $120,000. Up to his 90th year he attended personally to all his business. He was of Irish parentage.

At the age of 15 years, Mr. Kerr married Miss Neff, then in her 21st year. He leaves no children.

Officers of the Dental Society. The Dental Society, at its annual meeting, elected the following officers: President, Dr. W. F. Whistler, Youngstown, O.; First Vice President, Dr. W. E. Funderberg, Second Vice President, Dr. W. A. Krasler, Secretary, Dr. J. M. G. Goshorn, Treasurer, Dr. W. A. Lee; Librarian, Dr. H. L. Reinecker; Censors, Dr. J. S. Goshorn, J. C. Phillips and C. B. Brath.

SEVERAL LISTS. Of Rooms and Houses Advertised for Rent Appear in THE DISPATCH classified columns Monday and Tuesday. Those consulting them you will probably find a place to suit you.

THREE HILL HOUSES EMPTIED. The Police Laid Several Places Which Were Cases of Cholera.

Lieutenants John J. Sullivan, with Officers Turner, Elmer and McCaffrey, raided three disorderly houses on the hill late last night. The first one visited was the house of John Burley, a colored man, who had for a partner Mrs. Mollie McGraw, a white woman. They also arrested seven colored men who were engaged shooting "craps."

When the officers gained entrance to the room one of the colored men blew out the lamp, and a general stampede took place. The house was well surrounded by officers, and none of the colored men escaped. Several of them suffered from sore heads by being struck with the officers' staves.

The next house was that of Robert Peterson at No. 6 Arthur street, where Lizzie Adams, May Gray and George Gray were arrested.

The last house visited was that of Mrs. Mary Vanoy, of No. 98 Logan street, where George Richards, William Sloane and D. McClelland were arrested. They were all locked up in the Eleventh ward station.

SOME VERY DEAR SOAP. Smart Fakirs Who Fooled Many of the Residents of Coraopolis.

Coraopolis has natural gas, petroleum, a glass house and two rolling mill projects under way and now it is well supplied with soap. A taking have done up some pieces of soap of the place by selling them here at an out of a grab-bag. They paid $3 a package and drew the stuff from a bag, being persuaded that around some of the bottles were capped $2 and $10 bottles.

The snap purchased is said to be of poor quality, but some smart people parted with $300 or what they got.

THREE VACANCIES TO FILL. In the Positions of Fifth Ward School Directors.

There is a very interesting contest in the Fifth ward for school directors. There will be three vacancies on the board. D. A. McCarthy, William Sexton, Richard Fowen, Richard J. Fowen, J. B. Dean, John J. Gifford and the new applicants for the positions which will be open on the expiration of the terms of Michael Doyle, Charles Lang and William Hickley.

The three trustees are candidates for re-election.

READ Edward Groetzinger's ad.

IF your complaint is want of appetite, try Angostura Bitters before meals.

GREAT Reduction Sale—Read Edward Groetzinger's advertisement.

No truthful or conscientious photographer will say he can make good photographs in bad, cloudy weather.

GREAT Reduction Sale—Read Edward Groetzinger's advertisement.

READ Edward Groetzinger's ad.

IF your complaint is want of appetite, try Angostura Bitters before meals.

FIXING OUR BULWARK

City Officials Talking About a Constitutional Convention.

Personal Tax Called a Cheap Method of Wholesale Bribery.

PEOPLE WHO OBJECT TO TINKERING. Governor Patton's suggestion that it might be well to hold a constitutional convention has received considerable attention around City Hall, where daily assemblies of many persons who keep a watchful eye on every move pertaining to the State government.

Controller Morrow is rather afraid of having the Constitution tinkered with, but thinks the Australian ballot system should be adopted. He believes, however, that the Constitution could be amended in this respect, without the aid of a convention.

The Controller's chief clerk, E. E. Phelps, also indorses the Australian ballot in the following language: "I would be willing to offer a big premium for every honest man outside of politics who does not favor this system, and I am confident that I would not have to pay a cent."

Wholesale Bribery at Low Rates. Delinquent Tax Collector Ford, on the other hand, wants the Constitution overhauled for several reasons. In the first place he wants a better system of registration preliminary to voting. In the next place he goes on to say: "I want the personal tax, as a means of raising revenue, wiped out. I have come to the conclusion that the personal tax affords the cheapest method of wholesale bribery known. Every time the matter is brought before the Legislature the members from the county districts object. It may be possible to collect this money in the rural counties, where the collector knows each individual, but it is almost impossible in the cities, and it only amounts to 35 cents in head, and, I believe that a convention of honest, intelligent men—and we have plenty of them in the State—would soon see the policy of abolishing this tax, and the other purpose of abolishing the wholesale purchase of tax receipts just before election day."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on.

Mr. Gourley has not given this matter much thought, as he is busy preparing his address of welcome to the newspaper men who will arrive here on Tuesday. "So far as I honor feels that the present Constitution is a very able document, and has proven to be a very heavy club when wielded by the State's attorney, and I would not care to see a constitutional amendment, but I think the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."

Chief Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, would like to see a constitutional convention. He believes the constitution embodies too many arbitrary and annoying details. He would like to give the average citizen a little more say in the government.

Not Stock on Tinkering. Judge William Ramsey does not see any necessity for a constitutional convention, and is afraid that such a body would revise the bulwark of our liberties clear out of sight. He sees no reason why a vote on constitutional amendments should not be sufficient, and thinks the time it would take to pass them would give every voter time to pass them, and become thoroughly familiar with the subject to be voted on."