Local Mouth Organ Experts Agree to Play a Match -General Sporting News.

That President G. P. O'Neill is a hustler is proven by the fact that he is on the road He will arrive in Cleveland this morning and Patsy Tebeau is the game he is after. Mr. O'Neill is prepared to offer a man in exchange for Tebeau, but that man is neither Miller or any man who has played on the Pittsburg team. The man is one of three that Mr. O'Neill has produced out of nothing but diplomacy. The Cleveland club has already declared by wire in favor of the exchange. The player that is offered to the Forest City team is a rattling good second baseman. If Tebeau cannot be secured, Mulvey may be our third baseman, so that nobody can say the local magnate has not been on deck and at work. Mulvey can be exchanged for a star first baseman on whom Mr. O'Neill has a claim, so that we may expect either Tebeau or Mulvey to cover third base for the local team. Both are good men. The third man on whom Mr. O'Neill has a claim will be kept here and will be in right field. He is a promising young player and will play other positions when needed.

The names of the three players are withheld at present, and so are the circumstances by which Mr. O'Neill secured his claim on them, Mr. O'Neill declined to talk on the matter yes-terday and did not even state that he was booked for Cleveland, our some of his acquaint-ances knew the facts, and as a result they appear in THE DISPATCH to-day.

John Ward will not play in Pittsburg. That is a settled fact, and instead of nim the club will get two or three men. Mr. O'Neill had a strong claim on Ward, and both the Brooklyn and New York magnates know it. It is, therefore, safe to say that the President of the Pritisburg club did not stand aside for nothing. Pittsburg club did not stand aside for nothing. Betere the week is over this fact may be made clear. Manager Hanlon is trying to sign a pitcher in the East who pitched in a National League club last year. The chances of the young man being signed are very good.

It has been definitely settled by President O'Neill to keep Sam LaRoque and Fred Carroll, if their demands are reasonable. Carroll will play in left field, Hanlon in ceuter and the young man above referred to in left. If a better man caunot be secured Miller will play short and LaRoque will be an extra man. President O'Neill is aconsented to give Burke his release. The outfielder wanted it because he prefers to play at his home—Toronto, It is known that President O'Neill is inclined to sign Haddock, and so is Hanlon. Haddock is sign Haddock, and so is Hanton. Haddock is a good man, and so is Ad. Gumbert. After all s said there is a probability of another change the. Young, who is from the New York team intended for the outfield here, may be dis-pensed with if Van Hattren can be secured. If the latter's terms are reasonable he may come

McCoy and Wise Have Ten Lively Rounds

One of the liveliest glove fights that has been seen in this vicinity for a long time was witnessed last evening in a suburban resort. The contestants were Jun McCoy and Fred Wise, both heavy-weights. Wise was much taller than McCox. The conditions were to fight ten rounds for points for a purse of $100.

the first round the contestants were even, and McCoy had a shade the best of it in the second.

Germany did not contemplate a change in currency. From that on it was a kind of hammer and tongs, or an exchange, in which McCoy always had the best of it. The truth is that if McCoy always for the Treasury said the Prussian Governhad the best of it. The truth is that if McCoy and been rightly advised, he should have won had been rightly advised, he should have won in seven or eight rounds. In the ninth round McCoy knocked Wise clean off his pins, and should have settled Wise, who was weak, if he (McCoy) had been rightly guided. McCoy was persistent in hitting the right side of Wise's neck, and it became a very damaged narty of his anatomy. In the tenth round they both tried to do damage, McCoy had the best of it, and time was called, with neither man knocked out. Ted Dillon, who was referee, declared the contest a draw.

THE BERING SEA QUESTION.

ENGLAND NOT PREPARED TO GIVE OUT THE CORRESPONDENCE.

The Death of the Duke of Bedford Called Up in Parliament-Home Secretary Matthews Says There Is no Necessity for Any Further Action.

LONDON, Jan. 26 .- In the House of Commons to-day, replying to a question, Sir James Fergusson, Under Foreign Secretary, said that it was not desirable to publish the diplomatic documents relating to the Bering Sea matter in their present incomplete form. The latest report on the condition of the seal fishery, he added, stated that the weather was unfavorable for fishing, but that the seals were as plentiful as ever.

With reference to the arrest in Mexico of the Captain of the English vessel Seaforth, the Under Foreign Secretary said that the British Consul had been instructed to watch the case in behalf of the captain and owners, adding that the usual legal remedies in the Mexican courts must be ex-hausted before the British Foreign Office could intervene.

Home Secretary Matthews stated in reply to a question on the subject that the Coro-ner who had charge of the inquest into the death of the Duke of Bedford had sent to the Home Office copies of depositions taken at the inquest, and after examining them carefully Mr. Matthews was of opinion that carefully Mr. Matthews was of opinion that that there was no necessity for any inquiry.
Sir James Fergusson, Under Secretary of State for the Foreign Office, stated that the convention with Portugal, signed in August last, not having been ratified, England remained under no engagement in regard to limiting boundaries in Africa, excepting so far as contained in the modus vivendi expiring in May. The Government, Sir James Fergusson added, had been informed that Portugal intended to grant a charter to the Mozambique Company. England, however, could not recognize an application for a by the convention. It was not probable that Her Majesty's Government, in view of recent events, would sign a uture convention as favorable to the Portuguese claims south of the Zambesi as that which Portugal

GUARDS LOOK AFTER THEIR MOVEMENTS

TOPEKA, Jan. 26. - Another Alliance saucus on the Senatorial question was had again to-night. A reporter stationed outside the door counted 94 members as they passed into the caucus room. Every Alliance member was present. The caucus, as usual, was secret. After the caucus convened, sentinels were stationed in the corridors, and no one was permitted to approach the door of the caucus room, lest the pro-ceedings might be overheard. The window of the room opens upon an alley, and sen-tinels were stationed there also. They accompanied every person who entered the alley, and stayed with him until he de-

Alliance men arrived from every district by the hundreds. The Alliance of each legislative district sent three men to look after its representative. A system of the most rigid espionage was established, and whenever a member went out he was ac-companied by at least one of his brethren. These guards stood over the Alliance members in the hotel corridors, accompanied them in their strolls about the streets, went to their meals with them, walked with them to the Capitol this after-noon when they attended the session of the House, watched the proceedings from the galleries, button-holed them after the ession, and stayed with them until the caucus hour arrived.

Stuck to Them to the Last. During the caucus they waited outside the outlding until the adjournment and then took them to their hotels. This system of espionage was established to prevent any of the members being talked over to the other side and prevent any person from trying pressures upon them.

At the caucus rooms particular precau-tions were taken that none but members should be allowed to enter. Besides giving the grip and password, each member was obliged to show his credentials from the Speaker. It would have been as easy for an outsider to obtain admission to the caucus as for an unitiated man to get into a Masonic Lodge room. On account of the late adjournment of the House, the meeting did not begin until nearly 9 o'clock.

How the Voting Is Done. A new plan has been in consideration this afternoon, its object being to prevent the op-position from learning the name of the nomposition from learning the name of the nom-inee. In the first place, the "drop-one" method of voting will be followed. The candidate receiving the lowest number of votes on any one ballot will be dropped from the list before the succeeding ballot is taken. In this way the contest is bound to narrow itself to two candidates.

When this stage in the voting shall be reached it is proposed to postpone the next ballot until to-morrow night, when another may be held, or possibly until Wednesday noon, when the voting in joint session will begin. If the latter plan is reached the caucus nominee will not be known even to the caucus until after the first ballot in joint session. If a nomination is made to night the endeavor will be made to keep it a secret until the joint session, and when the House meets to-morrow the vote will be scattered so as to give no hint as to who the

THE CONTEST IN ILLINOIS.

Probability That the Alliance Men Will

Drop Streeter. SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 26 .- A decided sensation was caused in the struggle for the United States Senatorship to-day when, on the 31st ballot in joint session, Taubeneck (F. M. B. A.) voted for Palmer (Democrat). Cheer after cheer arose from the Democratic side but it was soon learned that Taubeneck had agreed was soon learned that Taubeneck had agreed for a joke to exchange votes with Rowand, (Dem). The Democratic leaders endeav-ored to persuade Rowand not to carry out the trade but he did and when his name was called voted for Streeter, amid laughter from the Republican side. The farmers' candidate, Mr. Streeter, will have a conference to-morrow with the three F. M. B. A. men, at which will be decided the question of dropping Streeter and taking up another candidate who will be more acceptable to other parties. The farmers would not say what other man they had in mind. In an interview to-night Mesars. Moore and Cockrell both said flatly they will not at any time support General Palmer.

Cockrell had an extended conference this evening with Chairman Jones, of the Re-publican State Central Committee, and Senpublican State Central Committee, and Sen-ator Fuller, of the Republican Steering Committee. He was positively informed that the Republicans would not come over to Streeter. Cockrell frankly told the Republicans the F. M. B. A. men would never vote for Palmer if the Republicans would join them in the election of a farmer candidate acceptable to both. The Republicans finally held out hopes to Cockrell that perhaps ultimately some compromise candidate might be found who would receive the solid Republican and F. M. B. A. vote.

FEARS OF A FLOOD

Causes Little Sleep Near the Big House tonic Valley Dam. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

BIRMINGHAM, CONN., Jan. 26.-An other rise of the Housatonic river caused fears that the great dam would give way. Last night none of the people residing in the vicinity of the dam remained in their houses, but slept A number of men were appointed to watch the dam and spread the alarm should it give way. The guard had their weary vigil for nothing, however, as the dam remained in-tact, though its strength was severely tested. Huge blocks of ice floated down the river all night, pounding against the dam, which shook under the attack. The water rushed through the aperture made by the freshet of last week with a mighty roar. Every minute it was expected that the giant wall of masonry would succumb. Over 10,000 strangers visited the scene of wreck and Owing to the breaking of the dam 18 factories are idle, throwing about 7,000 men

FLOODS IN CONNECTICUE.

Bridges and Barns Washed Away and Immense Damage Done.

PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. WINSTED, CONN., Jan. 26 .- The flood in the Farmington river was very severe. In the towns of Barkhamand Colebrook the damage was very large. The big Pleasant bridge at the former place was swept away and floated down the river several miles, being caught by the ice. At Barkhamstead Hollow a good-sized wooden bridge was swept off its abutments and carried down stream. At North Colebrook, in Sandybrook, the ice gorged up against the bridge and the stream was diverted into the road.

The roads for miles around are impassable and the regular stages have not gone through since last Tuesday. Travel was never so completed interrupted before. The Cole-brook river ice-gorge broke last night and flooded all the cellars in town; swept away many barns and drowned horses and hogs. Many farmers lost heavily.

WHAT MR. HEDENBERG SAYS.

He Believes That Silver Pools Have and Still Do Exist. CHICAGO, Jan. 26 .- John W. Heden berg, who has been so frequently referred to in connection with the silver investigation has just returned from Springfield, and will go to Washington in a few days, in response

In an interview to-day he said: "I have had no connection with any such pool, and have no knowledge of the existence of one, though I believe such pools have existed and may still exist. The statements that have seen in the papers regarding the testi-mony of Hill and George are so far from the truth that I am confident that they must be erroneous reports; therefore I think it well to reserve comment until I see their testimony as officially recorded before the committee.

"It seems to me that this committee has been appointed as a kind of a drag net for eatching political fish. In other words, it is mostly politics. The evidence that partisan political influences have controlled silver legislation, is, to my mind, strong and con-clusive. The leaders of both parties have evidently considered less the interests of the country than they have the interests of their respective parties."

Cleveland Refers to Attacks Upon Him

During the Last Campaign. NEW YORK, Jan. 25 .- Ex-President Cleveland, while responding to a toast at the annual police banquet here to-night, referred to his baving been at one time Sheriff of Erie county. He said in part:

"So far as my shrievalty is concerned, I may say by way of magnifying my claim for recognition here that I not only held the office and performed its duties, but that I have since suffered more or less abuse on account of it. Not many years ago, during account of it. Not many years ago, during a national political campaign, a female orator was employed to go about the country imploring electors to withhold their suffrages from the Buffalo haugman.

"You must agree with me that this was quite dreadul. It makes me almost shudder to think thus perhaps this female's efforts may have had much to do with the disastrous result, but, after all, there is a grain of com ort in the reflection that this thing was done in the heat of a political contest and by one avowdedly in employ of political adversaries."

GREATNESS IN A CROWD.

Illustrious Men Pass Unrecognized in the Streets of a City.

In the rushing crowds in this big city even an ex-President of the United States, a' man whose name is constantly before the public, Grover Cleveland, is lost, despite the conspicuous proportions of his portly figure. I was a passenger in the same L train the other day with Mr. Cleveland, and I specially noted the number of persons who appeared to recognize his distinguished pres-

He sat in an extreme end of the car, deeply engrossed in a newspaper. Passengers entered and left at every station, and how many do you suppose identified the ex-President? Only one, and that was a woman. Impossible.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 26 .- A brief debate curred in the Senate over a resolution inroduced by Senator Hines, providing for a ommission to investigate as to whether there were violations of Article 17 of the Constitution against discriminations by common carriers, and providing that the Commission report a remedy by bill, or otherwise, for such discrimination, if found. Senator Grady moved its reference to the Committee on Constitutional Reform. Hines opposed this, and Grady took it as a reflection on the committee. Hines disclaimed such intention, and Senator Goben declared the bill too important in its pro-visions to be lightly disposed of, especially as it authorized unlimited expenditure and unlimited traveling and summoning of vitnesses. Riches Concealed in the Headwaters of the Missouri in Montana. Said a Montana man to a reporter of the New York Press: "We have got what no other State or country possesses—a river bar full of sapphires." This was something novel, and the newspaper man inquired for particulars. The sapphire deposits are in two or three bars of the Missouri river, about 13 miles from Helena. The area of the bars is several hundred acres, and was once dug over for gold mining in the days when labor was $7 or $8 per day. It has been bought up and held for working over for gold when labor gets cheaper, and is said to contain plenty of gold for labor at $2 a day.

The sapphires are so thick in some parts of it that simply by working the dirt over with the hands 20 or 30 large-sized atones can be found. The color is not deep blue, but of the greenish blue that has hitherto been found only in fancy sapphires, as the jewelers call them, which have been re and commanded high prices. An English company has bought one-tenth of the area for $250,000, and intends to work it over for the sapphires on a large scale.

pool. It is so rare that any official witness before a committee volunteers anything not concerning himself, that everyone has wondered why Senator Vest could have brought himself to say anything about Mr. Cameron in this case, particularly as the two are great friends. It is now explained that the Senator mentioned the fact because Senator Cameron requested him to.

The Pennsylvania Senator had been summoned to appear before the committee and he preferred to have the fact made known that he once had a speculative interest in silver, through the declaration of a friend, rather than to be called upon to make the original statement himself in answer to the direct question which would have been asked him as soon as he appeared upon the stand.
