Wholesale Check Swindling Schemes Come to Light in Salem.

THE POSTMASTER PLAN WORKED.

The Eric Railroad Company Cutting Down Its Working Force.

A BUCKEYE BRIDE COMMITS SUICIDE

"SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH, I SALEM, Feb. 10 .- A wholesale swindling scheme came to light here this morning. Somebody has attempted to get checks cashed by some of the prominent merchants of Salem which were supposed to be signed by other merchants. In one particular it was a very clever forgery. Some men, on their way to work found a lot of checks, fully signed, torn in pieces, together with two $10 bills. It is evident that the party, whoever he was, had become frightened from some cause or other, attempted to de strey them, and in mistake nearly destroyed the money also.

While your correspondent was in the First National Bank this morning the officials were trying to place the pieces of checks to-gether. While doing so, Charles Snyder, a gether. While doing so, Charles Snyder, a prominent drygoods merchant, came in and said that, while absent from his store yesterday a boy came in and presented a letter for him (together with a check fully signed), which was retained by his clerk, but not paid. The letter ran thus:

"Flease cash the inclosed check and send by bearer, as I have cashed so many money orders to day that I am short of money.

Mr. Dorwart, postmaster, was seen this morning, and he knew nothing about it. It is also evident from the money found with the torn checks for $20, as all the pieces show that they were all for the same amount. The scheme is, no doubt, being worked in other towns.

THRIFTY ALLIANCE MEN.

In Lawrence County They Give Merchants a Monopoly of Their Trade.

county, and it is estimated that at least 1,000 farmers are banded together in this organization. Some of the methods pursued by the officers of the Alliance are peculiar.

A drygoods merchant in this city was approached by an officer of the organization. Alliance people wanted to know what discount he would give if the Alliance would give him all their custom. A contract was then made, by which all members of the Alliance who dealt at this store would be given a 10 per cent discount on all goods purchased. A grocery store was also seen and a similar contract made. In nearly every township in the county an alliance has been formed.
