THE EX-EMPRESS AND HER LATE VISIT

COPYRIGHTED BY NEW YORK ASSOCIATED PRESS. 1 BERLIN, Feb. 21 .- Since the North German Gazette gave an authorized but doubtful denial of the report that the ministerial council had ever considered the question of prosecuting Prince Bismarck, two authentic utterances on the attitude of Emperor William toward the Prince have been permitted to transpire. Speaking to the Austrain Ambassador, the Kaiser said: "The Duke of Tauenburg (as he styles the ex-Chancellor) will not understand or yield himself to projects which are a necessity of my reign. But it has never been intended that the Empire's tribunal should interfere to prevent him saying or writing whatever he likes, so long as he does not violate the law." It is understood that the Kuiser's words were in answer to informal inquiries made by Emperor Francis Joseph in regard to reports that the German Government meant to take action against Bismarck.

Chancellor Von Caprivl's Assurance. Chancellor von Caprivi, conversing with a member of the Reichstag who is a contributor to the press, said: "The Government has not the remotest intention of prose-cuting either Prince Bismarck or his newscaper organs. If the latter keeps within egal bounds we can meet their criticisms through other papers. As for the Prince, his personality, associated as it is with the reation of the edifice of the Empire, places im above measures that might be taken toward less illustrious men."

The position of Emperor William and Chancellor von Caprivi is perfectly well known at Friedrichsruhe, and does not asenerge the bitterness of tone of the ex-Chancelior's papers. Regarding the North German Gazette's statement that Bismarck would not be prosecuted, an inspired comment in the Hamburger Nachrichen insinnates that the semi-official press, is not now incited, was recently induced to urge a pubprosecution and arraignment of the Prince for inesio majestatis, Bismarch's Aristocratic Reserve "The only right attitude for the Prince." ontinues the article, "is an aristocratic reserve against the attacks of his enemies. Count Herbert's Thankless Task.

This he found to be an unpleasant duty, resulting in strong reproaches on the part of the ex-Chancellor. The practical public results of the interference by the Count are ntensified attacks by Bismarck upon the Superor's home and foreign policies.

Meanwhile, Emperor William has raised the country's estimation of himself by the character of the thinly-veiled allusions to Dismarck's entity in a speech at the Brandenburg Diet dinner. Referring to the hostile criticisms of policy, the Emperor said: "The spirit of disobedience is abroad, pursuing paths foreign to my principles and under a perfectly transparent guise trying to spread discontent among my sub-jects. This may be a subject of regret; indeed it makes my neart sore, but it will not cause me to swerve a moment from the path of duty." Everybody present march of duty." Everybody present caught up the reservee, and His Majesir's speech was greeted with a burst of cheers.

The Emperor Displeased With a Play. Another incident illustrative of Emperor William's feeling toward dismissed iMuisters, comes from Herr Arndt, who is now laying the leading part in "Der Neue Herr," the plot of which turns upon the Minister Schwarizenberg by the Great Elector. The Emperor cently attended a rehearsal of His Mujesty expressed tion with the episode satisfaction with the episode in which the Great Elector, reproaching Minister Schwartzenberg for his treachery, works bimself into a passion and finall drives the Minister out of the Presence Chamber. The closing passage of the scene evoked an imperial protest.

"Stop," the Emporer cried, "we must alter this. A Hohenzollera never treats a servant like that. When under the necessity of dismissing them he loads them with ors and never lets them perceive that he is angry with them."

PRECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. COVINGTON, KY., Feb. 21 .- A very decided sensation was produced here to-day. when the celebrated case of the Beals heirs against the Wickliffe beirs was called in the Chancery Court. The land in dispute embraces some 40,000 acres, and fully 1,000 persons are interested in it. The case is the most extensive and expensive ever tried in the Kentucky court. It began in the days of Henry Clay, and briefs in his hand are now on file. The Breckenridges were ville; R. A. Thornton, of Lexington; Major Hawkins, W. H. Mackey, Judge O'Hara, J. D. Eilis and O. These lawyers, representing both sides, recently visited Owingsville far back in the mountains to take depositions. Ten thousand acres of the disputed land is in that territory, and the people on it became convinced the attorneys were there to take cated, though there were hundreds of Arabs in the vicinity. These Arabs quietly surrendered to the Egyptians, handing over to their captors a number of hankers, spears, object the kidnaping and murder of the attorneys and the confiscation of their papers. The lawyers were quartered in the principal hotel of the place, and while aware that something was wrong did not guess what. Everything was ready for the execution of the plot, the hour for the seizure was fixed, a body of men who were to see to the execution of the attorneys had been selected by lot and all was in readiness when one of the attorneys was secretly warned. He at once informed his colleagues. The leading citizens of the place and vicinity were hastily called and told the object of the visit was not to secure confiscation of the lands, but to ascertain the amount sold in a given time and its present value. This appeased the people but in speaking of the matter Judge Humphrevs said: "A day longer and we should all have been dead and hidden where William O'Brien-is strongly opposed to the | no one would have found us. The place is remote that even our disappearance would not have been known for days." The attorneys completed their work and prepared to start home. They were to leave Tuesday evening, but a rain caused them to delay starting until Wednesday morning. As they passed a lonely spot a few miles from Owingsville they were shown a place where eight men had been concealed the night before, armed with Winchesters, to kill the party. Judge O'Hara says he will never go to Owingsville without a guard.

NEW FILES A PETITION.

He Defends the Monon Management From

Sensational Charges. CHICAGO, *Feb. 21 .- A new move was made to-day in the litigation begun a few days ago by William S. Alley for the appointment of a receiver for the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad Company. It was the filing of a petition in the Circuit Court by John C. New, asking the Court to protect him as trustee.

Mr. New says he is a defendant in the case, and is a citizen of Indiana. He is a trustee in a first mortgage executed by the defendant railroad on its main line of road between New Albany and Michigan City, to secure bonds for $3,000,000. He is also trustee under a first mortgage on the Air-Line division of the road between Chicago and Indianapolis to secure $2,-300,000 of bonds. As such trus-tee, Mr. New asks that the Court cause a proper examination to be made of the charge of insolvency, maladministration and misappropriation of income set up in the bill. The court shall find upon an investigation that the charges are untrue and that petitioners' trust estate has not been in any way violated or put in peril. Then the court is asked to protect and preserve the trustee's rights in the property.

In a short time the executors, acting under the authority of the Surrogate's order, will curred in renovating and refurnishing Blenheim Castie, the ancestral home of the Duke of Marlborough in England, and the purchase and equipment of a London residence. At the rate of $50,000 a year it is understood that the debts of the Duchess will be paid in about filteen years, the aggregate amount of the claim being nearly $700,000.

PROVISIONS OF THE BEST ONES.

With Tax Memorials. HOW APPROPRIATIONS MUST BE CUT

PRECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. HARRISBURG, Feb. 21.-The various bil's contemplating ballot reform are slumbering in committees. Two are before the Senate Committee on Constitutional Reform and two before the House Judiciary Committee. So little attention has been paid to them that some of the members of the committee scarcely know of their existence. It is evident that if the demand of the people for a pure and secret ballot is expected to be granted by the Legislature work must be done quickly to stir up these apparently in-

Next Tuesday the Senate Committee on Constitutional Reform will endeavor to have a meeting. Its chairman, Senator Robinson, has been absent for more than a week because of sickness and death in his family. but is expected to join his colleagues in considering the constitutional convention bills with a view to the early report of one of them. This legislation embodies a bill introduced by Senator Robinson, which allows the people to say whether they will have a convention to amend the constitution and a bill read in place by Senator Brown, which provides for a special election in June to choose delegates to the convention. Baker's Plan for a Secret Ballot.

Representative Baker has a bill before the House Judiciary Committee which pro-poses to make the ballot virtually secret without the intervention of a convention Under the system of voting, which this bill seems to introduce, the number of the voter is to be obscured on his ballot, after it shall have been handed back to him by the election officer by pasting a portion of the paper on which the ticket is printed over it.

A sub-committee is alleged to be examining this measure to ascertain whether it meets the public demand for a secret ballot. This committee has failed to strike any one with the idea that it is hustling to give the House an early opportunity to pass on its

Another bill before the committee is that of Representative Wherry, who took for his guide in framing it the Buckalew act, un-der which the last constitutional convention was called. The bill has been almost antirely neglected by the committee to which it has been referred, and Mr. Wherry will next week try to have it favorably reported so as to give it a place on the calen-dar in tim: to be finally considered by the Legislatu:e.

Representative Wherry's Plan This bill provides for a convention consisting of 176 delegates, 26 of whom shall be elected at large and three from each of the 50 Senstorial districts. Both of the great political parties are to have equal representation on the ticket to be elected by the entire vote of the State.

As to the district delegates, each qualified person shall be entitled to vote for two, thus making provision for an almost equal representation of both these organizations in the convention.

THE INVESTMENT SCHEMES.

Prospects of a Bill Aimed at the Oulci Money Making Concerns.

PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. HARRISBURG, Feb. 21 .- There are about a dozen bills before the Legislature relating to insurance. Several of these were prepared at the Insurance Department, and are intended to reform prevalent abuses. One of them seeks to put mutual fire insurance companies in the position occupied by stock companies so far as their supervision by the insurance department is concerned. The drafting of this bere several days this week urging legislation is, in a large measure, due to the the passage of the bill to give negroes difficulties had with the Kittanning Fire Insurance Company, which wound up with losses aggregating over $50,000, and no money with which to pay them. Another bill prepared by the department authorizes associations of individuals organ ized under the Lloyd's system to operate in this State provided they do not include in their business the insurance of lives. These insurance companies claim they can do business in Penusylvania without so much as taking out a license.

One of the bills before the House in which great interest is taken is intended to keep out of the State bond investment and finance companies which promise unnaturally large profits to patrons, and which every now an then startle the community by the boldness of their frauds. The bill does not prohibit them from operating in this State, but it compels the companies to deposit with the Auditor General a bond for one-half the maximum amount promised the aggregate membership at the expiration of a certain period. The requirement is equivalent to shutting the companies out of the State Some lobbying is being done with members to prevent the bill from becoming a law, but it will have very little effect, as the system of insurance which it seeks to wipe out in Penn sylvania has very few if any triends in the Legislature, and a very small number among the people at large, who do not regard it as better than the graveyard insurance which disgraced the people years ago.

TAXING CORPORATIONS.

The Grangers Very Industrious in the

Memorial Business. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. HARRISBURG, Feb. 21.-There are 1,002 granges in the State, and all these have been urged to send memorials to the Legislature in the interest of the bill to equalize taxation by imposing additional taxes on corportions of all kinds and incidentalle reducing the taxes of real estate for local purposes. The grangers are gallantly responding to the demands made on them. At every session of the Legislature for the past two weeks printed petitions settiting forth the virtues of the bill have been presented, and | ton, Ill. Thursday and Friday last they fell on the clerks as thick as leaves in autumn.

Their appearance in such large numbers revived recollections of the days when the Prohibition sentiment in favor of an amendment to the Constitution to prevent the manufacture and sale of liquors found expression in many hundreds of petitions having that purpose in view. The rush of grangers' memorials will continue next week, the latter part of which the tax bill is expected to be reported from the Committee of Ways and Means.

On next Thursday the corporations will make the second attempt to convince the committee that the bill should be reported with a negative recommendation. Strong arguments have been presented to the comnittee from representatives of the corporations. But owing to the interest the farmers are taking in this financial scheme, the com-mittee will probably report the bill affirmatively.

For miles the streets were lined with a solid line of people standing at least a dozen deep. The evidences of affection and esteem in which his fellow townsmen held him were abundant on all sides. The site was decorded. Two years ago the public schools were allowed $4,000,000. For the next two years they will likely be voted $5,000,000, the abundant on all sides. The city was draped in mourning. Evidences of individual sor; row were also abundant, and badges of rib-bon and crape fluttered from every coat amount Governor Beaver suggested in his last message. The people of the agri-cultural districts want $8,000,000, but this extravagant demand can, of course, not be

A few minutes before 11 o'clock the caisson, drawn by four black horses, was drawn up in front of the main entrance to the depot, and, amid the roar of the artillery, the casket was tenderly borne from the train by eight members of Rausom Post, and placed on the carriage. Its head was draped with the Stars and Stripes, its feet with the Union Jack that covered the caisson containing the remains of General Joseph Hooker and General George H. Thomas. Under escort of the infantry the caisson was then driven to the point at which it was to take its position in the parade, while the relatives and other members of the funeral party were assisted to carriages, which fol-lowed the caisson at a distance of a few blocks.

When the various divisions were in readiness, General Merritt gave the signal, there was a double salute of artillery, and the column began to move in the following

The route was full 51/2 miles in length, but at no point was re a perceptible diminution in the un broken line of spectators. Minute guns porting an installment sale for the full were fired and church bells tolled as the caisson nassed by.

It was nearly 2 o'clock when the head of the column reached Calvary Cemetery. Outside the gates the cavalry and artillery de-ployed to the right and left. Gently the veterans of the Thirteenth lifted the casket from the caisson, and bore it to the open grave. Here they laid it down upon a bier that had been placed directly in front of the grave of Willie Sherman, who died at the the grave of Mrs. Sherman, surmounted by a handsome monument; to the left that of baby Charlie, who died in South Bend, Ind., in 1864. Every head was bared and bowed as Futher Sherman stepped to the head of the casket. The services were of the usual nature, and at their conclusion all that was mortal of the nero was consigned to the grave.

Inspector Byrnes Refers to Two Men Who Had Served Time-His Opinion as to the Difference in the Two Separate Counts.

PPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, Feb. 21.-Inspector Byrnes was the only witness at to-day's hearing of the Assembly Committee. He testified that the police recount was taken with every precaution against error. He stated positively that men served as enumerators of the Federal census who had been in prisons charged with theft. He said:
"It came to my knowledge that a professional thief had been engaged as an enumerator. I sent for him and asked him if it was true. He said it was true. His district.

trict included Washington Market, and he had enrolled about 400 names. His name was George B. Davis, alias William Jones, alias Bundy. He is a shoplifter. ARKANSAS CITY, KAN., Feb. 21 .-Another premature invasion of the Cherokee strip was begun here to-day, with every prospect of its continuing un-less it is stopped either by Executive order or by United States troops. More than 200 families crossed the line here to-day, and dispatches have been received from South Haven, Caldwell and Kiowa from South Haven, Caldwell and Kiowa which state that the invasion seems to be general all along the border. Among those who joined the invasion at this place to-day were a prominent minister and a number of the members of his church. They will hold services to-morrow on the Chacasca river, about 15 miles southwest of this city. The troops have been withdrawn from their late' camp in the strip. The settlers seem to regard this fact as a mute invitation to walk in and help themselves. It is estimated that about 3,800 persons entered the strip to-day with the intention of settling.

A TAME CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION. Page, Dem., Has a Walkover in the Se Rhode Island District,

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 21 .- The election for Congressman in the Second district to-day was a very flat affair, owing to the declination of Congressman Arnold to run, and the general abstinence of the Republicans from voting. The Dem-ocratic ticket had from two-thirds to threefourths its registered vote, but the Republi-can vote showed a falling off of nearly 7,000 as compared with the November election. With one town only lacking, Page, Dem., is elected by about 5,600 majority, and the missing town will not change the result more than 200 votes.

DESPERATE TON ES. The Canadian Manufacturers Mercilessly Bled for Funds. LIBERALS ARE TAKING COURAGE.

Their Reciprocity Ideas Making Headway in the Provinces.

HITT DENIES A MACDONALD CHARGE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH! St. John, N. B., Feb. 21.-A St. John manufacturer, who has just returned from Ontario and Quebec, received information concerning the political outlook in those Provinces. He reports that leading manufaucturers are being called upon to subscribe heavily for Sir John Macdonald's Tory corruption fund. Thinking that the St. John man was of the same political faith, Mr. Drummond, the wealthy sugar refiner of Montreal, confided the fact that the Government was in a bad way, and be himself had subscribed $10,000 to help the Tory party retain power.

He further said that all the manufacturers concerned were being bled freely, at least those who had not gone over to the Liberals, and the demands of Sir John and hi Cabinet had caused many to forsake him; but those who had decided to continue in the Tory ranks felt that their very existence depended upon the Tories being returned, and had subscribed as largely as they could. The Montreal man admitted, though, that the Government was doomed and affairs were growing more desperate every day. The news of this state of things in the up-per Provinces has cluted the Liberals here, and they have gone to work with renewed energy. The crusade against ruinous taxa-tion and in favor of reciprocity free trade is making such strides that the Tories are ut their wits' ends to answer the arguments.

Alexander Gibson, the lumber and corton king, about whom the Tories have talked so much, has signed the nomination paper of C. W. Weldon, the Liberal candidate, Finance Minister Foster is being hard pressed in Kings county by Colonel Domville, the former Conservative member for that county. The constituency is being flooded with money, and yet an official there says if the vote was taken to-morrow Foster would be snowed under by 400 majority. Throughout the province the desertions of the farmers have alarmed the Tories, who are trying to check the tide by the loyalty cry, but it has not yet proved potentenough against unrestricted reciprocity.

A dispatch from Toronto says: The Empire having alleged that the pamphles written by Mr. Farrer was written for the information of Mr. Hitt, the Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee at Washington, Mr. Hitt has telegraphed as follows: I never saw or heard of the pamphlet de-scribed by Sir John Macdonald, nor ever t never to the control of the contro

The Carr-Pfeffer Election Contest Nearing an End.

READY FOR FINAL ACTION.

The Carr-Pfeiffer contest for a seat in Common Council from the Twenty-seventh ward will probably be put into shape for final action on Wednesday next. Judge Stowe yesterday made an order for the final count of the ballots, with the illegal ones thrown out.

The patriotic citizen who has reveled in the belief that ballots falling like snow silently effect the will of God through the vox populi may be astonished to learn that the voting system of Pennsylvania, which was thought in 1874 to be very nearly the perfection of human reason, turns out to be more nearly the perfection of political trickery, and accomplishes results that are only detected when the hoodboing is trusted to prentice hands. The Twenty-seventh ward is a tolerably large one, containing some 2,200 votes, but at the election that is contested there were only about 900 votes cast. Of these 148 are illegal, 95 of them being thrown out on account of defective affidavits by which they were bolstered, Rather more than one vote in six was illegal, It is said that, very few election boards follow the law strictly in doing their work, and it seems that ignorance is frequently the cause of the imperient work. For instance, on Friday four election boards were brough into court and required to rectify errors in their return sheets. They had all neglected to designate the offices for which candidates were running. And these boards were not rural ones either, three of them being Pitts-
