EXPLANATION OF THE MEASURE.

The Author Claims That It Has Been Misunderstood and Secures a Postponement for One Week.

NO TAX WILL BE PLACED UPON COAL.

Representative Wherry's Plan for a Constitutional Convention to Secure Ballot Reform Favorably Reported.

SOME PRESS CHANGES MADE IN THE ROAD BILL.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—The session of the Senate was enlivened to-night by a tilt between Senators Dunlap, of Beaver, and Flinn, of Allegheny, over the latter's bill to permit the leasing of public wharves for market purposes.

THE DANVILLE ASYLUM.

Needed Enlargement Blocked by the Board of Public Charities. FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—The Board of Public Charities was jammed on again today in the session of the Senate.

THE NEEDS OF THE STEAMBOATS.

The available wharf room did not exceed 2,500 feet, and some steamboat companies frequently required 1,500 feet for their work. Steamboats no river line could exist. It was not the time to take any advantage of them when efforts were being made to re-construct the river.

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAD EXPENDED $100,000 ON THE DAVIS ISLAND DAM.

The last Legislature had appropriated $10,000 for survey of a ship canal from the Ohio to Lake Erie, which, if ever constructed, would demand the enlargement of wharf privileges instead of contraction. This bill affected the entire river interests which are a unit against it, as he would show by remonstrances signed by men representing $15,000,000 of capital invested therein.

IN SUPPORT OF HIS POSITION HE CAUSED TO BE REPRODUCED REMONSTRANCES SIGNED BY THE DELTA TOWNSHIP COMPANY, MAYFLOWER TRANSPORTATION COMPANY, THOMAS FISH COMPANY, JOHN A. WOOD & SONS, W. O. NICHOLS COMPANY, W. H. BROWN'S SONS, HORNOR & ROBERTS, HORNOR & CO., PACIFIC COAL COMPANY AND A LARGE NUMBER OF OTHERS.

MR. FLINN SAID IN REPLY THAT HE WAS NOT SURPRISED AT THE COAL MEN SENDING REMONSTRANCES IF THEY WERE AS FAR AWAY AS WAS MR. DUNLAP.

The object of the bill was simple. There was no room for the wagons of the gardeners and others coming to market, and it was desired to run them on the Allegheny wharf. This wharf has long been a receptacle for lumber piles and old boilers. No coal men land there, or ever use it, but they were jealous of any supposed infringement on their rights.

THEY, HOWEVER, WERE NOT THE ONLY PEOPLE INTERESTED. PITTSBURGH HAD SEVERAL GIVEN AWAY ANY OF HER WHARVES.

THE ELEPHANT DOWN.

But It Finally Had to Fall in Order to Accomplish the Feat.

TUMBLING ON TOP OF THE KEEPER,

SENDING A THRILL OF HORROR THROUGH THE 1,500 ANXIOUS SPECTATORS.

THE MEN INJURED, BUT BRIST UNHURT.

TO UNDERSTAND EXACTLY WHAT HAPPENED, A CLEAR IDEA OF THIS STRUCTURE IS NECESSARY. THE TWO RUNWAYS CONSISTED OF NARROW BOARDS ABOUT THREE FEET IN LENGTH, NAILLED SECURELY TO LONG WOODEN BEAMS.

THE OTHER RUNWAY EXTENDED FROM THE TOP OF THE WALL, RIGHT AT THE SIDE OF THE FIRST ONE, DOWN THROUGH THE COURTYARD INTO THE STABLE.

THE OTHER RUNWAY EXTENDED FROM THE TOP OF THE WALL, RIGHT AT THE SIDE OF THE FIRST ONE, DOWN THROUGH THE COURTYARD INTO THE STABLE.

Each was covered with a heavy mat of straw, and a firm surface for the elephant to walk on. Both runways were securely fastened.

ALL READY FOR THE EXIT.

The asses were taken out of the parlor windows, and the room was cleared in a summary manner that almost broke Mr. Brown's heart. No one, in fact, has suffered so much from Fanchon's escape as the keeper's wife.

THE HOUSEHOLD WAS NEARLY ASHAMED BY THE SCENE.

The crowd that came to see the feat kept on growing until noon, when there must have been fully 1,500 people in the street. Both sidewalks were packed, and the steps and benches in the neighborhood were filled with spectators.

THE CROWD THAT CAME TO SEE THE FEAT KEPT ON GROWING UNTIL NOON, WHEN THERE MUST HAVE BEEN FULLY 1,500 PEOPLE IN THE STREET.

Both sidewalks were packed, and the steps and benches in the neighborhood were filled with spectators. The crowd was a very noisy one, and Mr. Reich, fearing that it might make some unpropitious remark, frightened the elephant, sent for two policemen.

AT 11 O'CLOCK EVERYTHING WAS IN READINESS.

The elephant was led to the top of the runways, and the men in charge were all ready for the exit. The elephant was led to the top of the runways, and the men in charge were all ready for the exit.
