SMALL CHANCE FOR THE HOUSE BILL

SPROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 .- The shipping subside bill, now under consideration in the House, will be voted upon to-morrow after-w an uncertain quantity, with the friends victory. Whichever way the cat jumps the vote will be a very close one, with the scales about eventy balanced. The opposition to the bill has been strongly developed during the last day or two, while the advocates of the measure are mustering their forces and are putting forth their strongest endeavors to secure the passage of the bill. One thing is pretty certain, however, and that is that the House bill will not become a law. Tale till provides for a bounty of 10 and 20 cents per ton for the first and second 500 and the next 1,000 miles, while the Senate bill increases the bounty to 15 and 30 cents per ton for the same distances, The bill will probably go to a conference committee, and if the Senate bill is agreed by the House conferees, the measure will go to the Senate and be passed. Otherwise, less a satis actory compromise is agreed upon, the bill will eventually full. Republican Opposition to It.

The speeches of the Republican Hopkins, of Illinois, and Candler, of Massachusetts, ngainst the bill to-day tended to brace up some other Republicans who are really opposed to the bill, but who desire to get with cir party, and it is thought that with Republican opponents and absentees the bill may suffer defent, as the Democrats will practically act in a body. Cummings, of New York, is the only Democrat hitherto assummed in support of the bill.

Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, who held the floor when the bill was last under considerameasure to-day. Effect of the Tariff Bill. Mr. Grosvenor said that the reason that the Democrats would be in a majority in the next House was that there had been a misrepresentation and misunderstanding of the McKinley bill. To-day in the market of this country the commodities that entered into the daily life of the people (without a single exception) were obeaper than the were on the 1st of September, 1890, and chesper than they had ever before been in the history of the country. At the same time, the agricultural products brought better prices than they old at the close of the Fiftieth

For Mills, of Texas, opposed the bill, and ridle in the person of the present admissration. It the United States wanted process, why not necrosiste with England, and a Cermany? England has pulled to the bars and welcomed every barrel of ker Justice of wheat that was sent her. She saiding to take more actreatural products if the colors more actreatural products if the ore agricultural products if the would take down its bars and exnguish the fire which it had ignited on the and, in order to prevent communice. Now the conficers wanted foreign trade; a few aths ago they but up the bars against that do. Then they said that they did not want eathing to do with foreign pattners; now they cauted to trade with them, and, in order to do this, they wanted further to tax the peorder to send ships to foreign per s to show the American flag and to return in ballinst.

Democratic Doctrine From Mil's. The advocates of the bill wanted ships. Why not build them. They had the protective policy, which it was claimed brought down the out of production. It was claimed the Mo-Kinley bill had cheapened the cost of necessitos, it had cheapened one thing. It had ed the wages of American labor in all parts of the country. [Donotratic applains.]

If there was such a lobby he had never heard of it. The legislation was requested by the representatives of the leading nergial organizations of the Pacific coast, He did not nock on this measure as a partisan but one that should be considered on its moults.

Mr. Commings, of New York, spoke in ndvocacy of the bill as tending to build up the American merchant marine and to extend the American commerce. The bill would achieve re-uits that could not be achieved by the pass-age of a free slip substitute. Free trade and said or rights was good Democratic docurine. Shipping interests had always been allied to ree trade. The maritime prosperity of England might be cited as an example; but even with free rade, hundreds and hundreds of millions had been drawn from England in order to increase eer carrying trade. This only illustrated the killful policy of Great Britain to secure and maintain the carrying trade of every other restron.

The Policy of England.

It was by the use of such means that England

she did not carp at methods, or higgle at exo. This was not a protective measure, nor t a gratuitous subsidy like the sugar sub-li was a measure to build up our decayed shipping industry.

The passage of the measure would open the markets of the world to the products of the West and Northwest. It would stimulate the building of ships to an extraordinary extent; would give a profitable occupation to sailors, and would give a profitable occupation to sailors, and would give employment to 50,000 or 100,000 American machinists and artisans.

Mr. Fitch, of New York, opposed the bill, denying that it would prove of any benefit to laboring man. The stock of the Pacific Mail Steamsing Company was yesterdey quoted at Inhoring man. The stock of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was yesterdey quoted at 30; this afternoon it was quoted at 40%. It is not generally known that the antipathy to Leeds does not emanate from the White House, but is being urged by a Cabinet officer. President Harrison has been argued with and talked with until he agreed to com-promise the situation, and he offered to ap-point Leeds to a consulate if he would withboint Leeds to a consulate if he would withdraw from the race. This was about a week ago, and he made this statement to some gentlemen who were urging Leeds' appointment for the Marshalship, but he declined to state what kind or where the consulate would be.

Leeds was consulted and he flatly refused to accept the compromise, and said in explanation that if his personal and political record was such as would admit of his appointment to a Consulate it would stand for his appointment to a Federal office in Philadel hia, and as the fight against him appeared to be waged entirely upon this issue, he would remain for either victury or defeat.

It is definitely known that the President has tory or defeat. It is definitely known that the President has turned down Mr. Leeds, and the appointment will in all probability be given to Magnin, of Delaware county, but it is thought that it will not be made until after Congress adjourns.

THOM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.-General Catchings, of Mississippi, is to-day the maddest man in Congress. "Hill is not even a citizen of Vicksburg. He has heretofore lived in Jackson, But, of course, he now claims Vicksburg as his home although he is not a taxpayer and does not own a dollar's worth of a property in that State. He is simply a political tramp. His appointment is an infernal outrage. It was for a double purpose—to humaliate the white people of Vicksburg, and secondly because Harrison believed that Hill could turn him over the Mississippi delegation in the next Republican convention. The judgment of the people of Mississippi of both political parties will be that it is an infernal outrage upon the State. There was no lack of good material. HELD FOR COURT TRIAL trous Results of a Party of Boys Drink ing Too Much Liquor.

Mrs. Bertha Standfast, who resides on East street, Reserve township, has entered suit before Alderman McNulty, of Allegheny, against Adam Miller and Mrs. Wolf, who re side in Reserve township, for selling liquor without licenses. The prosecutor alleges that the defendants sold her son, a minor, and some the defendants sold her son, a minor, and some other boys liquor, making them drunk, and while in that condition they smashed the windows in her husband's tarbershop, besides doing other dawage. Miller was given a hearing yesterday, and was held in $1,000 bail for trial at court. Wolf will have a hearing to-day.

Anton Steadfast, husband of the previous prosecutor, entered suit against Charles Glant, charging him with malicious mischief in breaking the windows of his barbershop. There was a hearing in the case yesterday, and the dewas a hearing in the case yesterday, and the de-fendant was discharged, owing to a lack of ev-idence.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 HARRISBURG, Feb. 26.-Among the cases heard by the Board of Pardons to-day was that of William H. Porter, of Allegheny county, convicted of conspiracy to cheat and defraud, and sentenced January 18, 1890, to a year and nine months and to pay a fine of $500. The prisoner, in a letter to the Board of Pardons, says he has brain disease, which threatens to run into paralysis, Eight of the jurors who convicted Porter

Eight of the jurors who convicted Porter have asked for his pardon, and Coroner Me-Dowell, Mayor Gourley, ex-Mayor Lyon, ex-Mayor Lidell, ex-Mayor Medailin, ex-Post-master Larkin, Controller Morrow, ex-Mayor Folion, Sheriffs McCaudless and McCleary, Vincent, Stevens and others have written letters asking for Executive elemency.

Word was also received in the city yesterday to the effect that Jim Fogarty had agreed to sign. It is, therefore, likely that he will put sign. It is, therefore, likely that he will put his name to a contract as soon as he receives his advance money, which will probably be to-day. President O'Neill is certain that one or two more first-class men will be signed to-day or to-morrow. Referring to Shiudle, the President said that all League clubs had agreed to keep their hands off him to give Puiladelphia a chance. Altogether it is safe to say that as far as signing good players is concerned Pittsburg is doing as well as anybody, as much quiet work is being done which will have some effect later on.

SOME INTERESTING CONTESTS.

The Young East End Athletes Have Lots of Exciting Sport.

There was quite a large and appreciative audience in the East End Gymnasium building last evening to witness the indoor athletic contests. It is not exaggeration to say that the contestants did extremely well, and their ex-contestants did extremely well, and their excellent performances reflect great credit on their general instructor, Prof. Kirchner. Of course the proceedings were enlivened by charming music.

One of the entertaining features of the evening was the "set-to" between Pat Farrell and Fred Wise. The latter, of course, was never in it, and Farrell had little chance to make a display. But he thumped Wise in an extremely lively manner. Ed Reilly, the wrestler, did not appear, and Hornbacker and an unknown gave a wrestling exhibition. The class from the Forbes Street Turn Verein gave some extremely good exhibitions on the horizontal and parallel bars.

Mr. Cuuningham won the fencing contest, defeating Mr. Kessler by 9 points to 4. The running high jump was won by C. S. Miller, with a handicap of 3½ inches he cleared 5 feet 5½ inches. J. B. McKennan, a scratch man, did exceedingly well. He is a pretty jumper and a clean one. The pole vaulting was won by D. H. Barr, who had an allowance of 12 inches from L. Gibson, who was scratch man. Gibson's vaulting was well applauded, and he was only beaten by about a half inch. Exhibitions of high kicking and running long jumping brought the proceedings to a close.

SAYS IT WAS A MISTAKE,

Phil Searl Gives His Opinion About the Recent Mitchell-La Blanche Contest. The following letter, which explains itself, was received at this office yesterday:

To the Sporting Editor of the Dispatch:

"I have just arrived in Pittsburg from 'Frisco, where I witnessed what is called a fight' between 'The Marine' and Herget, or 'Young Mitchell,' as we call him on the slope. 'Young Mitcheil,' as we call him on the slope. We all had tips as to the outcome of the battle from one of La Blanche's particular friends, and we all won heaps of money accordingly.

"When 'The Marine' entered the clubrooms every person could see that, while he was trained as fine as a needle, he was in no condition to fight that night, as he was under the influence of liquor.

"I wish you would publish this, so as your readers will understand why 'The Marine' was worsted so easily. In my opinion 'Young Mitchell' is not in it with Dempsey. I am on my way East with a youngster whom I have entered in the Madison Square Garden pedestrian contest. He will surprise some people.
