Annual Banquet of the Washington-Jefferson College Alumni.

EVERY PROFESSION REPRESENTED

A Number of Interesting Musical Entertainments Last Evening.

THE LITTLE SOCIAL DRIFT OF A DAY

The alumni of Washington and Jefferson College banqueted at the Duquesne Club House last night, and the 90 men who gathered around the tables represent every profession and business. The genial President, Mr. Chulfant, depends upon such son will sing the "Habanera," from "Carhard substances as iron and steel to produce gold, while the Scoretary, who sat at his right, is willing to wait until someone gets sick and needs his attention that he may gain wealth and honor. There were three Judges, Messrs, Slagte and Ewing, of Allegheny county, and Hazen, of Butler, a couple of newspaper men, a State Senator, W. B. Dunlap, of Beaver, while the others present are mainly doctors of divinity, or on a good way to becoming such.

After a most excellent dinner had been disposed of and the coffee and cigars were produced President Chalfant rapped for order, and in the style that has made him famous during numerous banquets of the association, introduced the speakers. Prof. W. C. McCleiland very glibly handled "Our Mother Tongue." His witty points kept his auditors in a good humor and there was continued laughter throughout his address. Rev. J. A. Marquis, of Greensburg, told of the trials and tribulations of the impecunious clergyman. One of his points was that a preacher would make an excellent Indian agent because he has learned diplomacy by successfully handling the burch choir, sewing circles and other warke societies. He argued that such a man could easily change a ghost dance into a dance of praise to the Government. George Welshous told of the power of the press and the good chance for young college men in that profession. He said that a lawver reaches perhaps a score of people zen, and a minister talks to 300 or so each inday, while in Pittsburg three newspaers farnish a chance for each reporter to two Washington and Jefferson men in that profession in the city. Dr. T. L. Hazzard cologized the medical profession after first including that it was entirely unnecessary, and Judge Ewing told how the lawyers from the college are progressing. Prof. J. A. Moffiit, President of the col-ge, told of the hopes for success to come. A new gymnasium and commencement hall To to be constructed. He also spoke of the modern idea of colleges giving a smattering everything and not a thorough knowlhe election resulted in the re-election of

A CHARMING CONCERT

In the Chapel of the Pittsburg Female College Last Evening.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening President Norcross, of the Pittsburg Female College, usbered into the chapel the three young ladies who were to take part in the sairce musicale, the director, Theodor Salmon, having preceded tuem. An audience of refinement and culture filled the chapel and gave each of the performers a pleasing reception upon their appearance, and after ward cothusiastic encores. The lady inspir ing the most interest, as it was her initia appearance in the city, was Miss Blanche Newcomb, the Berlin violinist. She was ed on the programme, and played a finished, and though the accompaniment at Newcomb as a talented musician. In appearance she is a prepossessing blonde of medium height, with an expressive countenance. Miss Newcomb appeared also "Adagio from Third Suite," Ries, and

"Spanish Dance," Sarasate, In "Nell" Miss Mary B. Kier appeared first, and aroused considerable sympathy for the man who, crazed by drink, took the life of a fellow creature and raid the penalty on the gallows, and for his heart-broken mother, who told the story. "Harry and I" was another selection of the established electronist. "Protestations," with violin obligate and "Oh, Promise Me," were the songs that Miss Mary Bankard rendered with admirable effect, and Mr. Salmon suc-ces-fully interpreted Schumann, Chopin, Fourster and Liset

THE SWEDISH MALE QUARTET

Assists Many Friends of the Y. M. C. A. to a Very Enjoyable Evening.

The Swedish Male Quartet sang to a large audience under the auspicer of the Y. The quartet includes Charles A. Skoog, first tenor; Henri Pugh, second tenor; A. Emil Scoog, burtone; H. W. The various members of the club were also heard in solos, Mr. Pugh in "Brown Eyes," Mr. Skoog in "The Angel at the Window," and Mr. Wennerberg in "Out on the Deep," A bumorous trio by Messrs, Skoog, Pugh and Shoog, was one of the enjoyable features of the programme. The quartet, individually and collectively, possesses wonderful vocal power, which was displayed during the evening to the best advantage. The last overtainment of the course will be given bridgy evening, March 27, by Marshall P. Weider, of New York, and the Ollie Torbett Company.

THINKS NO MORE JUDGES NEEDED. An Attorney Who Disagrees With Some

His Legal Brethren Attorney N. W. Sha er is not altogether convinced that another court is necessary in this county, and he exhibits the present trial lists in both Common Pleas courts as evidence that some suits that have hung fire for two or three years have not been pushed up as rapidly as they might have been. It was stated before the Judiciary Committee in Harrisburg Thursday, that it is not now possible to get a case to trial within a year or a year and a half of the time suit is brought, but Mr. Shafer shows the present list of cases to be tried next week, and lists for weeks back, to prove that suits entered last summer have already been reached, while others have been hanging fire for two years, and some of them were entered as far back as 1877. The trouble appears to be that some lawyers get cases on the issue docket sooner than others. Mr. Shafer thinks there might be a way devised to expedite business in the courts, but he is of opinion that there are enough courts to answer present reeds.

VISIT OF A MANDARIN

That Has Been the Cause of Some Speculation in This City.

He Expects to Take in Pittsburg's Mills and Manufactories.

A CHINESE NOBLEMAN ON A CALL,

SAYS HE IS TRAVELING FOR PLEASURE

J. Sin, a Mandarin of the highest order in the Chinese Empire, and a wearer of the Imperial button, now occupies a suite of ooms at Hotel Duquesne. His presence in Pittsburg has naturally aroused much curiosity, but the many people anxious to catch a glimpse of this Chinese nobleman are disappointed. He travels unattended, and claimed to be only making a tour of America for pleasure and information, and is in no way connected with the Chinese Frank A. Smith, of Philadelphia, who is a personal friend of the Mandarin, whom he met luring one of his tours in Europe, was heartily welcomed by Mr. Sm. A DISPATCH represenrative was the only person, with the exception of Mr. Smith, who gained an audience with of Mr. Smith, who gained an audience with him yesterday.

J. Sin in appearance is away beyond that of the Chinamen known to Americans. His complexion is light olive, with dark har and a cute little black moustache. His features are finely cut but prominent. He speaks English with considerable difficulty, but has no trouble in making himself understood. When speaking his native tongue his voice is low and musical, and has none of that gutteral gibberish used by coolies. Everyone of his words seem rounded and sound as pleasant as good English. He did not care to talk much about himself, but when drawn out he said:

A Country With No Counts.

A Country With No Counts. "It seems strange that Americans wish to give me so many titles, and I learn that last of all I have been called a count. We do not have counts in China. I am simply a Mandarin of high order, and am only traveling through America for pleasure. I have been all over Europe and did not believe my over Europe and did not believe my experience would be completed until I had seen America. Everything here has impressed me favorably and the American women are the most beautiful I have ever seen. I am much interested in your great mills and railroads and expect to visit a number of the manufactories here in Pittsburg, for I am told that this is the manufacturing center of the country. As for establishing any of the American industries in my own country, I don't know that I will do anything of that nature at present. The barriers in the way are too great. The aversion to foreign ideas is still strong in my country. When I see the hurry and bustle and progress here, and then think of the slow pace of my native land, I can hardly understand how it can come about."

about."

Then the Mandarin leaned over a little further and drew his robe and an air of superiority a little closer about him as he remarked: "Why, when your ancestry were red skinned savages, the children of China were reading text books. The Great Wall of China has kept to the foregrees but the sales retarded. out the foreigners, but it has also retarded progress. We are a nation of 550,000,000, enormously rich, and our people are as good as that of any nation in the world."

Some More Rumors Denied. The nobleman was asked if he was represent ing his Government in this country, and replied that he was not connected with the Chinese embassy, and that the Chinese Minister was now on his way to Peru.

When asked about the report that Count Mitkiewicz was to meet him here he said he did not have the honor of the Count's acquaintdid not have the honor of the Count's acquaintance.

Late last evening Mr. Sin, dressed in an ordinary suit of black clothes, left the hotel, and in company with Mr. Smith, of the Universal Refrigerator Company, he drove over a part of the city in a carriage, viewing the sights.

One of the reports circulaced about Mr. Sin was that he was the Chinese Minister to this country. Telegrams from Washington yesterday poured in, stating that before that Minister left for Peru he made a statement, which was published to the effect that an attache of the Legation, named Tu Yen Ku, had resigned to rejurn to China; that Tu Yen Ku was not commissioned by the Minister to transact any official business, and that runors about concessions to business, and that rumors about concessions to be had in China by American business enter-prises, and statements involving any connection on the part of the Minister or any interest of the Minister in such enterprises were without the slightest foundation.

Of this matter Mr. Sin knows nothing, he not being at all interested in it.
