

an excellent company of comedians, will present the entire new musical satire entitled "U standing that it has been written for laughing jurposes, introducing as it does a number of characters met with in every day life. The first act is located in the parlors of MUe, Ver-micell's apartment. She is an actress at the New York Casino. Act II is given in the atining room of Prof. Ungarblot's apartments (Gus Williams). Act MIL is the grand fete given on the roof garden of the Sitting Bull Plats, which is a scene nover before seen on the New York stage and is a new idea. There are employed, in order to interpret the piece prop-erly, four young ladies who impersonate comic opera stiphs, erratu as persons in their sphere of life disually are; a count opera prima donna who is worshipped by the Johnnies: a dude, American by birth but English by adoption; a policeman, whose idea of keeping the peace is to keep a good distance from all disturbances; a janitor, who is the despotic ruler of the Sit-ting Bull Flair, a confidential maid, who is called Babetiz because it is tonier than Bridget; a ratived Iraib hypic hypical sectors. standing that it has been written for laughing called Babette because it is tonier than Bridget; a retired Irish bricklayer contractor, who visits the metropolis one night and sees enough to last him for ever, and a German music teacher, last him for ever, and a German music teacher, a victim of circumstances and mixed drinks. It will at once the perceived that G as Will-fams plays the German music teacher and John T. Keily the Irish bricklayer, and they exact enough humor out of their parts to occupy the entire evening's entertainment, were it not for the fact that a number of the yery cleverest comedians will support the two stars and will assist in keeping up the hilarity throughout the part that a number of the yery cleverest comedians will support the two stars and will assist in keeping up the hilarity throughout the performance. Miss Florrie West, the comedianent of the company, by her beauty and talent, has created a verifable furore in the large cities in which she has so far appeared this beasen, notably classical Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia, Here is the cast: Prof. John Ungerblatz, a victim of clreamand Philadelphia. Here is the cast: Frof. John Ungerblotz, a victim of circum-stances and mixed drinks, Gus Williams: O Don-even Janes, of Haverstraw, N. Y., who visits the metropolis to see Ho, and sees enough to last him forever, John T. Kelly; Orner Twist Buphagord, a janitor, the despotic ruler of the Sitting Bull Flats, Charles Wayne; Adams Oktober, a police-man, whose Mean of Keeping the paces is to keep at a distance from all disturbances. Here, Kelly; Percy Pra Astro. American by birth, but Builish by adontion. Charles F, Wilton; Another Johnay, Seymour G, Hess, M'Re Meron; Another Johnay, Seymour G, Hess, M'Re Meron; edit, a comic opera delty worshiped by the 'Johnnics,' Miss Gertrade Zella; Babette, M'Re 'Volumics,' Miss Gertrade Zella; Babette, M'Re 'Johnnics,' Miss Gertrade Zella; Babette, M'Re 'Johnnics,' Miss Gertrade Zella; Babette, M'Re 'Johnsita's maid, called Babette becruse it is tenter than Bridget (American debut), Miss Flor-ice Weni, Mrs. Orgerbiot; He professor's wite, whose temporary absence from home is the cause of the trouble, Miss Florence Carlisie; Gracie M, Miss Ma Fairbank-comic opera sylpis, erratic as persons in their spiter of usefunces usually are. Duquesne Theater. Manager Henderson, of the Duquesne Theathis week presents as his attraction Thatcher's Minstrels, Mr. George Thatcher, the humorist, will appear at every perform-ance, and will be seconded in his fun-provoking endeavors by Burt Sheppard. It is said that he makes his points with intelligence, never descending to vulgarity. He serves as an excel-

16

this week.

Duc," being one of the features of the first part. Thomas LeMack sings his original song. "The World's Fair." R. J. Jose, the California tenor, who is one of the sweetest of male singers, will render a new composition, "The Lone Grave." by the weil-known ballad wrker, Paul Dresser, The soft and silvery tones of Jose; the pure, chear voice of Raymon Moore, English balladist the rich, full notes of H. W. Frillman, the grant barge and the suprement bestman. balladisti the rich, full notes of H. W. Friliman, the great basso, and the resonant baritone of Thomas Lewis, will be heard in harmonions combination in the rendition of "The Bridge." Joun A. Coleman will sing "Strolling by the Sea," introducing his original and eccentric dancing. Thomas Lewis will render "The Ship That Carries Me Home." "Katte Darling" will be given by Raymond Moore and the "Lost Chord" by H. W. Frillman. The first part finale will be entitled "Stocks From the Wood-box of Memory," introducing many once famil-isr meiodes, presenting Thomas LeMack as Old Bob Ridley and Messes, Coleman and Lewis as the Charledon Gulz. The second part will include Messes, Gregory and Eimar in