There are the religious cranks, who make the by-laws of a hundred or a thousand years ago divine canons, who, like the R. P. Presbytery, put muzzles on the mouths of those whom God has made free. These cranks are not confined to any church or creed.

These cranks are not comment to any canten of creed. Then there are the cranks who come with a theory to mend the world with: who promise us an Arcada in 24 hours; who, without study-ing the past, thius they can see through the cloud-curtain of the future. These cranks who see no good in our social or civic system, who carry all wisdom in their pint-mp theories—do we not meet them every day? In closing, let me ask you to treat the cranks with hospitality and charity. Remember that no one is wise enough to see over the whole horizon of thought. THE PITTSBURG DISPATCH

BUSINESS OFFICE,

ALWAYS OPEN.

At the Denny Church union services were held last night, which were joined in by the Wesley chapel and Trinity churches. Good music and interesting addresses made the time pleasant as well as profitable. Rev. C. L. Smith spoke entertainingly of the life and trials of Wesley, reviewing the land marks in his life and works. Rev. W. S. Cummings spoke of Wesley's great influence for good. At the fitnems Vista Street Church, Alle-gheny, last evening, the services opened with one of the hymns of John Wesley's composi-tion, and all the other sacred songs of the even-ing were composed by the man whom they met to honor. The address of the evening was made by the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Miller. He took up the life work of John Wesley, and explained the beliefs established by him and upon which the Methodist church was founded. He told of the life of Wesley at Oxford, his subsequent preaching in the field after all the churches were closed to hum. Continuing, he said Wesley, during his life, preached 42000 sermoes and on borseback traveled a distance equal to six times around the fiobe. BARBER-A GOOD BARBER. #### Eanishment for Life as a Punishment. If this was an absolute decree, then all I have

o say is that the Lord himself disregarded it epeatedly and that his people treated it with ndifference from the day that it was first an-sounces, without any divine rebuke being adnounced, without any divine rebuke being ad-ministered. Cain was a murderer of the deep-est dve, but God did not put him to death, nor did He suffer his fellowmen to do it. He han-bled him to the land of Nod for his crime. And so to-dar, from the example of the Lord God Himself, we mete out to the nurderer his just dues when we banash him for life to the penitentiary. The ends of justice are satified and society is protected from his murderons proponsities. cialty.

What are we to do with the man who takes the life of his fellowman? Of course many are ready to answer. "Do with him just as God has specifically commanded—put him to death." And they are prepared to give their authority for such action, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood by man shall his blood be shed." To surgest a repeal of the haws against capital punishment is in the estimation of those who point to this Scripture, an attempt to annot the decree of the Creator, and is therefore rebellious and atheastic in principle. Candid critician will admit of this passage being thus rendered, "Whose sheddeth man's blood, by man will his Wood be shed" - a prophecy, not a precept. It B.& B.
