THE AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN ELECTIONS

LONDON, March 3.-In the House of Commons to-day Rt. Hon. James Stanfield, member from Halifax, in moving that the House amend the electoral law by enacting that nobody can vote in more than one electoral area; that the term qualifying a person to vote be reduced to three months, and that the act of registration be simplified, argued that the present system is entirely inadequate. He said that the present system of voting in Great Britain originated in a time when the electoral franchise was deemed a class privilege, and not a citizen right. When Parliament passed the household suffrage act, the idea of one man, one vote, naturally followed, but as the law now stood, a man could vote in every county and every borougt, where he held a house. In other words, the present plan meant that the man having the most means would have the right to return more members of Parliament than the one with smaller means. These out-voters, according to the speaker, often turned an election against the views of the majority of the resident electors.

The Conservatives' Argument. Henry H. Howorth (Conservative) submitted an amendment which, in brief, meant that any alteration in the law was inexpedient unless providing that the different parts of Great Britain and Ireland should be represented in Parliament in proportion to the population. This motion. said Mr. Howorth, reopened the whole question of electoral re orm. "There was no doubt," he added, "that the balance of voting had lately changed [opposition cheers]; but it would be rash to again alter the system of voting, which bore more harshly upon the Conservatives than upon the Liberals. If this system was changed, the first thing to be done ought to be to amend the disproportionate representation of the constituencies. Ireland is grossly over-represented. It is about that one small irish town has eight times as much electoral power as a city like Dundee; six Irish boroughs, each returning members, have a combined electoral wote hardly equaling the constituency I represent. Taking the Irish electorate as a whole, the representation far exceeds what is aliotted to England and Scotland. It is here that reform is necessary of anywhere. [Cheers]

Mr. Gladstone held that the amendment virtually admitted the necessity of amending registration and the acceptance of the principle of "one man, one vote." The country would not long tolerate a plural vote when convinced that it enabled the upper classes to throw their weight against the judgment of the working classes. [Hear, hear.]

Mr. Gladstone Against Plural Voting. l'essession of a plural vote was objectionable, because it had no connection with virtue, wisom, character or public services. Property was not entitled to extra representation. He ras unable to see that the convictions of the great mass of the people were less sound than those of the higher classes. The characknowledge and education they enjoyed pers less than she ought to have. England still held two-thirds of the voting power, and inirm should be transacted at her own fireside. England certainly had no title to complain

The Will of Birs. O'Shea's Deceased Aunt Is Called in Question. LONDON, March 3.—It was announced on February 24 that an attempt would be made to break the will of the late Mrs. Woods, the aunt of Mrs. O'Shea, who bequeathed the latter a large fortupe. Public allusion to Mr. Parnell's interests in this fortune induced Mrs. Woods' brothers to bring an action to have the will de-clared invalid on the ground of undue influ-ence, and on the day mentioned application was made to Justice Jenne for an order to see documents which Mrs. O'Shea does not want to produce. These documents include diaries of Mrs. Woods which it is thought, would show that lady's mental condition to be such as to render her incapable of makinga will. The ap-silication which was under in the name of brothers to bring an action to have the will deplication, which was made in the name of Charles and Sir Evelyn Woods, was to-day re-

DUBLIN, March &-At noon to-day, while the Dublin mail train was nearing Castlereagh, a passenger named Gavan suddenly drew a knife and commenced slashing and cacking at those about him, at the same time yelling at the top of his voice. The car was loaded with passen of his voice. The car was to adol with passen-pers, and all were thrown into a panic by the ferocious on slaught of the man. Gavan badly wounded five of his fellow pas-sengers, and only desisted from his bloody work when both blades of his knife were broken and the weapon was rendered harmless. He then jumped from the train while it was going at full speed, and when he regained his feet he ran to a wood nearby and hid himself. The police captured Gavan. He is undoubt-

LIBERALS. HOPEFUL

They Claim to Be Making Heavy Inroads on the Tory Majority.

A SECOND STRUGGLE PREDICTED.

HE DISCLAIMS ANNEXATION VIEWS

Laurier Says the Conservatives Won't Have a Majority of One.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. TORONTO, March 3 .- The Liberals claim that their prospects continue to improve, and the party now in opposition hope to achieve, if not a crushing defeat of the Goveroment, such gains in rural constituencies will make it impossible for Sir John Macdonald to continue in power, The Empire claims the Government will have a majority of 57, but Liberals consider this absurd, and the manifest feeling the Conservative party have displayed since the dissolution of Parliament show they anticipate a smaller rather than increased majority, with a narrow majority. There will almost certainly be another struggle in the near future, when the forces now opposed to the Government will be very much stronger than they are now. This may mean immediate action by the Dominion Government toward securing reciprocity with the States, or another appeal to the country on a new voters' list based on the census to be taken in a few months.

Annexation May Be an Issue Soon. It may mean an attempt to carry on the busiess of the country for two or three years under the present policy, and finally, as hinted by Hon. Wilfred Laurier at Coburg last night, a general election with annexation as the issue, Sir John Macdonald having declared he would prefer it to independence.

Whichever party gets into power, unless it has a majority of at least 25, the Government of the Dominion amid the varied and conflicting interests of the different provinces will be ing interests of the different provinces will be difficult, if not impossible.

In an interview with Laurier at Coburg, he said: "Sir John will not have a majority of one. We will carry the whole country with the exception of British Columbia and the Northwest territories. We will sweep Ontario, and have Quebec by Is seats."

"It is alieded that the church is against you."

"It is a libel on the holy church that she has placed her influence on the side of wrong as against right. It is a libel. How insome the people are to think of such a thing. The only prelate in Quebec who is opposed to me is the Bishop of Three Rivers, and that is for personal reasons. As a patriot and as a Canadian, as a churchman and a Christian, he as well must be on the side of those who would make the country happier, richer and freer.

Laurier Not in Favor of Annexation.

"I claim Sir John and his party, as they

"I claim Sir John and his party, as they always have done, are making an unholy and unwarrantable use of religion. They are not only degrading the grand old flag in which we are all so proud, but they are besmearing re-ligion itself—be it Protestant or Catholic."
"Will unrestricted reciprocity bring annexa-tion?"

say it will, but for the life of me I can't see how."

"Will it weaken our ties to the old country?"

"I pray you again, my friend, to go to the Tories and ask these questions. I can't see how or why it shout, but they can, or say they can. If I though, that unrestricted reciprocity would lead to annexation I would not hesitate to call back yonder crowd and denounce unrestricted reciprocit; here and now, and everywhere from now till the last minute that the pollsclosed on Thu; d.y.

Laurier was reticent on the Manitcha French school question that is agitating the Province of Quebec. When asked what he would do with the Northwest school act he said: "I would certainly oppress no people or body of people, however few or however many. The rights of the individual. I should rather not talk on the subject, as I have not quite considered it. Indees, I will not consider that till I understand the subject in all its bearings understand the subject in all its bearings until I have visited the Northwest."

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, March 3 .- The weather today did not come to make it appear very much as if the National League was holding its spring meeting, but rather a midwinter session. But none of the magnates minded the weather in the least, as after they got into parlor F at the Fifth Avenue Hotel it became so warm that they could have gone out with the thermometer at the freezing point, minus overcoats, and not have minded

t. All day long and all last night there was a regular pyrotechnic display of fireworks in parlor F. The meeting was to have been called to order at 11 o'clock but as usual the majority of the delegates were evidently busy in doing their New York shopping and did not arrive until nearly 1 o'clock. Those present were: New York, John B. Day and W. J. Spalding; Boston, W. H. Conant and A. H. Soden: Philadelphia A. J. Reach and John J. Rogers: Brooklyn, C. H. Byrne, F. A. Abel and J. J. ment made by every magnate whenever he emerged from parlor F. Afthough having been in session for several hours the only information Secretary Nick Young gave out was that John I. Rogers, who had been appointed a committee of one at the Unicago meeting to revise the League constitution so that it would conform with the national agreement, made a report and it was unanimously adopted.

A report which came pretty straight brought the news that discussion had waxed warm over A report which came pretty straight brought the news that discussion had waxed warm over the signing of players under contract to the American Association. The Cleveland and Pittsburg clubs explained their positions and defended their course. A good many harsh words were said, so the report ran, and considerable ill feeling shown, but it was finally quieted down.

The League will take no official cognizance of the affair, as it can not do so. There is no way by which it can force a club to do a thing that is not one of the rules of the national agreement or one of the League. The whole matter will be left to the individual clubs to do as they think best. The Cincinnati muddle was brought up, and as many of the delegates were brought up, and as many of the delegates were not fully informed on that subject, John T Brush made a lengthy statement giving all the details. They were entirely satisfactory so far as they went. MR. CLARKE'S SUGGESTION.

Local Attorney Points Out a Way to Reform the Game Laws. Attorney A. H. Ciarke, who has been a sportsman from his youth up, makes a suggestion regarding the amendment of the game laws which lies away over most measures previously proposed. Mr. Clarke's proposition is tha men who shoot game for the market should be required to take out a license, and that the offer to sell game by anyone who could not show the license granted him should be liable to a penalty, one-half of which should go to the informer in order to make the law effective. Mr. Clarke's reasoning is that men who shoot for the marke, make it a business just as th for the marke- make it a business just as the butcher, baker or any other tradesman or professional man who is obliged to may a license, business tax or occupation tax. The fund arising, Mr. Clarke suggests, should be expended in paying farmer: to feed the birds during bad weather when they cannot feed themselves. He argues that not only real sportsmen who go hunting merely for relaxation and not profit, but farmers whose lands are appropriated for a considerable portion of the year by the hunters for the market are cutilied to the projection such a law would give. thetien such a law would give.

This proposition is on the line of one made by Ohio sportsmen some years ago. They proposed the raising of a fund that would pay each farmer in the game belt to allow a field to grow wild each year as a protection to qual from hawks, owls, etc. There really does seem to be justice in the demand that game butchers shall pay a business tax as well as other

WANTED BALDWIN ARRESTED.

Von Der Ahe Swears Out a Warrant Charging Mark With Conspiracy. Sr. Louis March 3.-President Von der Ahe of the St. Louis Browns, swore out a warrant to-day for the arrest of Mark Baldwin, the Columbus club pitcher for conspiracy against the American Association. Before it could be served Baldwin skipped town. Baldwin jumped his contract with Columbus, going to the Pittshis contract with Columbus, going to the Pitts-burg League club. Von der Abe says that he will make it very warm for every League agent who comes here to tamper with his players. It was Von der Abe's intention to proceed against Baldwin criminally on the charge of conspiracy, which is a penitentiary offense in this State. Von der Ahe has consulted the best attorney here, and they have advised him that the tam here, and they have advised him that the tam-pering with those of his players who are under regular contract and who have received ad-vance money is a clear case of conspiracy, and clearly within Missouri statutes. Baldwin's mission here was to sign several players, but be left without accomplishing it. The men Bald-win is said to be after are Jack O'Connor, a catcher of Columbus, who lives here, and King, one of the pitchers of St. Louis.

WOULDN'T ANTE UP. Columbus Club Requested to Give O'Connor More Money but Refused.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. COLUMBUS, March 3 .- The Columbus Base ball Company to-day received the following telegram from Secretary Munson, of the St. Louis club: "Baldwin is offering great inducements to O'Connor to jump. I can keep him in line if you authorize me to give him $600 advance over present salary in cash. Pittsburg offers him $3,850. $1,150 advance. If you will oners him $3,500 for season, $1,000 in advance in all, I can hold him in line. I would advise you to give him the money, if only to block Baidwin, who is here working hard to get him. Answer quick, as he is to see Baldwin in the morning.

The local management concluded if their contract for $2,900 with O'Connor would not hold him, one for $3,500 would be no better. A telegram was sent that the local ciub would pay no more money than they had contracted to pay. Treasurer Cohen went to Cincinnati to-day to confer with President Kramer. WILL ALL BE SOLD.

The Late Senator Hearst's Horses to Be All Disposed Of, ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR.1 turf plans, it was learned that all racing en-gagements for the Hearst stable will be kept, but a public sale of the entire stable will be made at the end of this season. There will be no private sale of any stock. It is estimated Hearst's borses are worth from $500,000 to $750,000. He has the most valuable lot of youngsters of that trainers and managers were doing proper work. The sale will be awaited with much in-terest by California turf men, as most of them are anxious to get one of Hearst's youngsters. G'CONNOR HAS SIGNED.

Young Hearst, singularly enough, cares nothing for horses, and declared to friends here some time ago that he would not keep up his father's stable, as he had not the technical knowledge to make sore that trainers and managers were doing proper that trainers and managers were doing proper

The Famous Columbus Catcher Agrees to Play on the Local Team. The local ball club has captured another of the American Association star players. This time it is Jack O'Connor. Mark Baldwin signed him yesterday at St. Louis. O'Connor was the star catcher of the Golumbus team, and it is considered that he and Baldwin make one of the strongest batteries in the country. The local club is only in need of an outfielder and an infielder now, but even these are not and an intender low, out even those are not absolutely necessary, as there are several good nien signed already who could fill the positions.

Only s are are needed.

It is understood that the team will be an expensive one. A gentleman interested in the club figured out yesterday that the salary list will be in the neighborhood of $60,000. This may be a little steep, but it is certainly some-

"I used often to read the newspaper aloud "I used otten to read the newspaper aloud to my wife," said Bert Robinson, "and once I was fairly 'taken in' by a patent medicine advertisement. The seductive paragraph began with a modest account of the sea-serpent, but ended by setting forth the vir-tues of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which, it was alleged, was a sure cure for all Bronchial. Throat and Lung troubles, and would even cure Consumption, if taken in time. The way I was taken in was this: I had lung disease, and I bought a bottle of the remedy; I was a stranger to it, and it took me in—and cured me."
