But why should we be ashamed to work with our hands, at any useful service, be it carrying cicks or succepting floors? If it is honorable to work for $4 a day, is it not just as honorable to work for $17. I do not think it disgraceful that a man should begin as a dollar-a-day laborer, but I do think it wrong he should end there. I disk I see the time coming when hand labor, names work, will be paid for its generously as as work of the arrist, the physician, the minis-r or the editor. But then, more brains will be o the kind of service. But to bring at this change, men must not be ashamed of mon work. They must not be ashamed to

AN INCREASED INTEREST In the Monthly French Services at Rev. Dr. Purves' Church,

That increased interest is being taken in the monthly French services in the chapel of the First Presbyterine Church, Wood street, was attested in the large congregation present yes-Gles Club led in several hymns, to the accou passment of Carl Hetter, but the rather limited esponses to the "cantiques," indicated that a reportion of those present were, however ardent, not on speaking terms with the language, liev. J. Launitz, as usual conducted the services. Recognizing that his audience was composed of persons of different creeds he connied his address to questions of broad Christianity. The reverend gentleman based his discourse on what, he said, was the greatest of the commandments the love of conformation of the commandments the love of thirst and the love of one's neighbor. Neighborly love he illustrated by relating an anecdote of George Herbert, who, when thiveling along a highway on one occasion, just a man with an overturned load. The man was in perplexity, he was unable of himself to release his horse and proceed on his journey. Herbert went to be assistance, raised his horse to his feet, and then average him money as additional assistance. When he presented himself at the society whither he was bound, the companions twitted him for his soiled clothes and his disbeveled appearance. Herbert's answer was; "I was only doing my duty by helping him, for I see no use in imply praying for one's nearling if we do not give him wint assistance. nt, not on speaking terms with the language. for 1 see no use in simply praying for one's about it we do not give him what assistance The second part of Mr. Launitz's address reated to the question as to "What was Christ?" I am not of those who think that goodness and greatness have died out of the world. On the contrary, there is substantial growth in all good qualities of head and heart. God's word shines through Christian character. Its witness is numistakalile. THE PROPER STUDY OF MANKIND. Sermon by Rev. Charles E. Locke at the Smithfield Street Church. At the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church last evening a large congregation, which filled the church to overflowing, gathered to hear the pastor Roy, Charles Edward Locke, preach upon the subject "The Kind of a Man That Can Serve His Day and Generation." The text was taken from Leviticus xvi., 21, "By the hand of a fit man," "Our century is the student's paradise," said the paster. The "American Mechanics and Workingmen," which he introduced by saying: "It is said that some members of the Order of American Mechanics object to being called 'workingmen. This seems to me to be a spirit unworthy of Americans. I fully recognize the right one has to rise in his avocation or profession. Promotion, when honorably earned, is justly a matter of priste." Dr. Townsend continued:

But why should we be ashanced to work with light and success of the called the many who were falling upon every side. Death claims all seasons for its own. How to live that we might render valuable service to the "American Mechanics and Workingmen," | sky with its planets, the earth with its rocks, the that we might render valuable service to the

A Sermon for Young Men by Dr. Kennedy in Carnegie Hall. Carnegie Hall has become the home of the First Presbyterian Church, of Allegheny, while the new edifice is being erected on Arch street. At both services yesterday the hall was packed her was a workingman; my to hear the Rev. Dr. David S. Kennedy. In the evening his sermon was to young men, his subject being "The Glory of Young Men Is Their Strength."

Their Strength."

The immister said this glory did not come from wealth or position, nor from any particular quality. He did not believe it was from physical, mental or emotional development, but from an equalization of all. There is not much glory in the mere development of brute strength, or in being a book-worm or an enthusiast. The man will suffer who crucifies the mind in caring for the body, or kills the body in giving the mind entirely up to books. The true glory the mind entirely up to books. The true glot of a man comes from a strength gained by holding every faculty and power in control and having each up to a proper standard.

A WORD FROM CHILE.

Address of Rev. J. M. Allis at the Bellefield Presbyterian Church. There was quite a large attendance at the Beliefield Presbyterian Church last night to hear the address by Rev. J. M. Allis, who recently returned from Chile, where he served as pastor of the English church in Santiago, the capital. His long residence in Chile, his fa-miliarity with the leading men, and the interest now manifested in everything regarding that country, made his address more than usually interesting. He told much regarding Chileans, their habits and customs.

AMENDING THE SALARY BILL Allegheny Jail Physician Is Underpaid. Representative Emmett Cotton left last night for Harrisburg. During the week he will offer an amendmen: to Representative Nesbitt's county salary bill, in order to include the jail physician. The salary of this official was fixed at $600 by an act of 1862, and the physician is expected to furnish the necessary medical and surgical supplies. At that time the average number of prisoners in the jail was 15, while now it is 270. An effort was made at the January meeting of the Board of Prison Inspectors to increase the physician's salary under an act of 1887, out failed because Judge Ewing decided such action unconstitutional.

Mr. Cotton wrote to Dr. Butcher, jail physician of Philadelphia county, asking for information as to the salary paid there. Dr. Butcher replied that he received $1,200 a year, and had two assistants, one male and one female, at $900 a year each, while the county furnished all the supplies. The average number of prison.
