AN AFFECTING MEETING Between Mrs. Maybrick and Her Mother

IBY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.1 LONDON, March 8 .- The Baroness Von Roque has had another interview with her daughter, Mrs. Maybrick, whom, she describes, is much changed in appearance since she was seen in the dock, and looks wan and worn. She is engaged in the kitchen at the prison at cooking. During the whole of the hour they were together nothing was said in reference to the reopening of the case. The interview was a touching one, and the Baroness is convinced that if something is not done for her release her daughter will lose her reason, as the 18 months jimprisonment she has undergone has seriously told upon her mind. Fresh evidence will be presented in May, but the hope of effecting anything is a desperate one.

SCRANTON, March 8.-Rev. Henry C. Swentzel, named Bishop of Japan by the House of Bishops, in session in New York on February 4, read to his congregation today the letter which he has forwarded to the Presiding Bishop of the American Episcopal Church, declining the honor. Rev. Mr. Swentzel savs:

peal with an imperativeness to which insupera-ble obstacles may not yield, and when there is added the cheery fact that the Empire of Japan is to-day "an open door" for missionary en-deavor, the burden of proof is clearly upon him who would decline to obey such a com-mand. Ordinarily in cases of an election to the episcopate of a missionary jurisdiction, as to that of a diocese, the question of accept-ance or non-acceptance comes to the person elected unembarrassed by condition and cir-cumstances which attend this problem now confronting me. Since the meeting of the House of Bishops additional information concerning ecclesiasti-cal affairs in Japan has inspired a growing seb-timent that it may be unwise to proceed further until the report shall have been made by the Bishop of South Dakota, whose appointment as an envoy to visit that country is justified by his spiritual attainments and ripe experience, and whose temporary residence there, besides supplying the immediate needs of episcopal supervision, will enable the church to acquire more accurate knowledge of that interesting field.

A missionary Bishop with permanent juris-diction might easily hinder the possible out-come of the missionary conference soon to as-semble at Tokio for the purpose of deliberat-ing upon plans and principles for the formation of a national church. At all events, I cannot be indifferent to the doubts which are enter-taned at to the sinder of conding Bishop be indifferent to the doubts which are enter-tained as to the wisdom of sending a Bishop to Japan at this juncture; and in the face of issues which may arise to make the position of the Bishop both trying and anomalous, I am couff-dent that the dictates of prudence require me to write this note of decination. to write this note of declination attempt was made to "bunko" a prominent attorney by parties who represented themselves as wealthy Colorado mine owners. One of the men arrived and registered at one of the lead-ing hotels as J. W. Rich, of Deuver, and said with he wished to employ a first-class attorney, and he was referred to Mr. Jones, formerly City Solicitor. Mr. Rich went to his office, and stated that he owned the Axtell mine near Boulder City, and that adjoining his mine was the Governor Hill mine that was owned by a gentleman named Sanderson who would arrive here on the evening train. He wished Jones to see Sanderson and obtain an option on the mine. Sanderson came in from the north on the evening train and stopped at a hotel near the depot. Jones called and soon sent up his card. A special to THE DIS-PATCH late last night was to the effect that Mellon & Calley was six feet in the sand in the old Riddle well, with no show of oil. If this information is to be re-lied upon, it would seem that the chances of a well of any importance are not first class if the record of the other good wells here be taken as a criterion. However, deeper drilling may de-velop an entirely different state of affairs, and reveal the fact that the well is not as deep as the measurement makes it. Such things have occurred before. Of course, as in the last event, everything will in the proposed handicap be conducted in a gen-tlemanly and fair dealing way. I will insist on this, because I am interesting myself in it simply because of the pleasure it affords me." The entries will close on Wednesday, March 25, so as to allow time to handicap the contest-ants. Entries can be made at this office or at the club house, homewood Park. The full name and address of every person entering must be given, but any competitor can shoot under an assumed name. Certainly the indications are that there will be more shooting contests in and about Pitts-burg this year than there have been during any previous year. During this week there will be a three-day shoot at Exposition Park under the management of Messrs. E. E. Shaner and Grow. Only live pigeons will be used and the affair promises to be an interesting one. Ar-rangements are rapidly being completed for the great tournament which takes place here shorily. It is expected that all the best wing occurred before. With the exception of this well, there is nothing else here of importance to report to night. WILDWOOD-The Forest Oil Company and Queete & Guilfy are drilling on top the sand on the Kretzer farm and Duva & Beers are also several feet in the sand with their well on the August Kyle farm with some oil in the hole. In the latter well the sand is of good quality, and by to-right they expect to reach the first pay. Griffith, Miller & Co.'s No. 5, Ringheisen, has stopped flowing and will be set to pumping at once. Saturday the same company's No. 7 was drilling at 28 feet in the sand with no improvement from our last report. The koth Oil Company's Kyle heirs' farm well is said to be drilling near the bottom of the sand. During Satur-day the well made several small spurts. At Dublia to-day, in renly to addresses from 15 branches of the National League, councils and other organizations, Parnelt dwelt on the significance of the presence of deputations "from districts where every dastardly means had been employed to stiffe public opinion." Mr. Parnell said that owing to the comparative absence of adustries in Ireland, Irishmen were precluded from a part in the great labor move-ment, but could join hands with the British workmen to secure needed legislation, and thus show the "Brotherhood of Nations," as regarded the working classes.

The truth is that His Majesty was tot pleased at all, and that in his outspoken way he did not hesitate to say so. The officers were made to undergo all kinds of and white frontier posts. useless acrobatic tricks, which look very well in the circus ring, but would be of no practical use in warfare.

The Kaiser, in passing the critique, as it is called, demanded of the instructors if they really thought it likely that under any circumstances his soldiers might be com-pelled to walk on their heads, hands or eyebrows, or to turn contortionists, leaping through their own legs. The feacing exercises were likewise criticised, and the Kniser took up a foil himself to demonstrate how the thing should be done.

LONDON, March 8 .- There is at least a prospect that the long continued drought is about to be broken. This, of course, is hailed with delight by the farmers, for it is stated that the dry season has been un-precedented for the past century at this season of the year. The barometer, which has been seemingly stuck at set-fair, has at length begun to take a backward move, and at last the welcome rain has begun to fall in the west.
