REIGN OF ECONOMY.

The New Management of the Union Switch and Signal Company Will Reduce the Force.

ONE OF THE NEW BOARD TO RESIGN

In Order to Allow a Man Representing Mr. Westinghouse's Interests to Be Elected Instead.

THE TROUBLE BETWEEN EAST AND WEST

Foreign Capitalists Say the Affairs Were Not Run o Business Principles.

The trouble in the Union Switch and Signal Company has apparently narrowed down to a division between the local and Eastern stockholders, and the latter at present are in the ascendency. Mr. Westinghouse arrived home from the East yesterday, but as usual was unapproachable, and no interview could be secured. As a result, the public must remain ignorant of the probable action to be taken by him, though it may be fully informed as to the other side of the affair.

A type-written statement was given out on behalf of Mr. Westinghouse, in which he said that he was not prepared to say more than that the protection of the property and business of the company and the other interests of the stockholders are more to himself and associates than any personal consideration. He would say nothing more concerning the trouble in connection with the Union Switch and Signal Company, but regarding the Electric Company matters said have progressed to his entire satisfaction and in a very short time everything will be fixed up. He asks a little patience on the part of those interested in the company.

Opinions of Local Stockholders. The trouble in the uffairs of the Union Switch and Signal Company furnishes a fruitful theme for conversation in business circles and the local stockholders almost unanimously condemn the action of Mr. Roward at the meeting, Brokers and stockholders, as a rule, are wary of discussing the matter too publicly as they say it will do no good and may do considerable harm.

William I. Mustin, of George B. Hill & Co., brokers, however, stated that that firm is a heavy stockholder in the company, and he has come in contact with other stockholders since the trouble, all of whom roundly condemn the action taken by Mr. Rowand. They consider it unfair, inasmuch as Mr. Westinghouse has built up the business of the company, and has made it what it is. He has put up his own personal securities to furnish money with which to run the business, and has in every way worked for the best interests of the stockholders, both local and foreign.

Under such circumstances, it is argued that it is not fair to strike a man a Toul blow, and it may result in damaging the prospects of the company. So far the stock has not been depressed, but stands quite steady. Yesterday it opened at 9 and closed of them.

Of them.

Altogether the story is so odd and unlikely that the Inspector is anxious to hear from the girl's parents, from whom he believes she has run away. She will be held at Central station for a few days.

Eastern Men Justify Themselves.

The Eastern stockholders justify themselves by saying that it was for the best interests of the company that the move was taken. Extravagance in the affairs Va. returned home yesterday morning in Gen-of the company is alleged, and it is eral Superintendent Shephord's private car, taken. Extravagance in the affairs at Swissvale for doing nothing whatever. They say that the Union Switch and Works are run as a sort of a vide ssue to the other Westinghouse interests, and issue to the other Westinghouse interests, and are kept down in consequence thereof. They further say that several attempts have been made to learn something of the condition of the affairs of the company, but all to no avail, and they took the action at the stockholders' meeting to protect themselves.

Sol Schoyer, Jr., attorney for the Boston capitalists, is authority for the statement that the heavy end of the stock is owned in the East, and that the move was made in self-protection. He says that great injustice is done Mr. Rowand. That gentleman owns a large block of stock, and a great majority of the proxies voted by him were from Eastern capitalists, who intended that he should vote them just as he did. It is not explained, however, why Mr. Rowand voted the stock which was intended for Mr. Westinghouse's interests as he did. One of the men at the head of the movement to change the management is John Q. Adams, a brother of Charles Francis Adams, who recently purchased 1,000 shares of Westinghouse Electric preferred stock.

Deny the Charge of Extravagance.

Deny the Charge of Extravagance. The supporters of Mr. Westinghouse deny in toto the charges of extravagance, and declare that the expenses have been greatly reduced all around. Salaries in the offices have been cut, and the works were removed to Swissvale especially to keep down the running expenses. Mr. Westinghouse has never drawn a cent as President of the Union Switch and Signal Com-pany, and yet he has given its affairs valuable time and attention. This, it is argued, shows that he has done everything in his power to make the business a success, and it was just getting on a good financial basis when the iness was revolutionized by the action Because of these facts Mr. Westingbouse's friends are very bitterly opposed to the new state of affairs, and they threaten to drag the state of affairs, and they threaten to drag the matter into court and have the election declared illegal. It has been placed in the hands of Dalzeil, Scott & Gordon, Mr. Westinghouse's attorneys, to fully investigate it. Mr. Schoyer says that the election was thoroughly legal, and nothing can be done to overthrow the new board. He says he don't think the attorneys will try it, as they are fully acquainted with the law in that particular.

A New Man to Be Put on the Board. The Eastern gentlemen are disposed to slightly compromise the matter, and a proposi-tion will be made to have a Westinghouse man elected on the board to take the place of one of the Eastern men who will resign at the next neeting in order to fix things up. The idea is to allow the opposition know how the affairs of the company are going, so that there can be no trouble raised on that score. The Eastern men say that they are willing to do everything in their power to promote harmony, but are bound to control affairs.

The local people have so far had nothing to bound to control affairs.

The local people have so far had nothing to say regarding the proposed compromise, but it will conditions not be accepted until an attempt is made to secure a firm hold on the board. Mr. Westinghold on the board. Mr. Westing-house is, of course, very anxious because he now stands responsible for all the liabilities of the company. The Electric Company is a debter to the Switch and Signal Company to the extent of $80,000, and it is charged that a part of Mr. Rowand's scheme is to get control of the other company by pushing that debt. That, however, is such a small amount that will not not be hard to find, and would doubtless be subscribed by the deposed directors in order to block any further work of Mr. Rowand.

Changes to Be Made at Once.

There will be a number of changes made in the management of the company's affairs at Swissvale, and it is expected that the office word of the new management will be economy, and they declare that the company will be made to pay what it should.

to pay what it should.

The old management does not see how the new one can economize on office people. Hereufter the President will draw a salary, and an assistant treasurer will be needed. It is also asserted that the new board will not be as successful in a business way as the old one on account of the influence of such men as Messrs. Westinghouse and Pitcaire.

ceasful in a business way as the old one on account of the influence of such men as Messrs.

Westinghouse and Pitcairn.

Thus the matter stands, and it is very difficult to tell how it will turn out. It is discussed at all times in financial circles, and nearly every Pittsburger is in sympathy with the deposed board, no matter whether connected with the company or not. There seems to be a pride in Pittsburg for these immense interests, and there is an objection to foreign capital controlling anything in which an almost equal amount of Pittsburg capital is interested. Mr. Westinghouse held a consultation with a number of his business associates pesterday, but if he came to any conclusions regarding the trouble he kept very quiet about it.

Bound to the Company's Interests.

Mr. Rowand is not so deserving of the re-proaches which have been cast at him as some people would make it appear. The case is a very simple one. Both Mr. Westinghouse and very simple one. Both Mr. Westinchouse and Mr. Rowand were the salaried officers of the company, and as such were both equally bound to the interests of the shareholders, in whose service they were. The shareholders—many of whom never saw either of them, and knew nothing of any personal differences that might exist botween Mr. Westinghouse and Mr. Rowan—sent in their proxies to their representatives to be used in their best interests. I believe that the proxies have been so used, and in a manner that is perfectly legal and proper. "I look upon the result of the election as being very favorable to the business of the company. Mr. Westinghouse's attention and time being withdrawn from the Signal Company's affairs will give him a better opportunity to look after his other interests, while Mr. Rowand can give undivided attention to the company. The proper course was pursued at the election, and, in my opinion, the stock is to-day $10 better for the result."

Fluctuations of the Stock. While the last trouble has apparently had no ill effects on the stock markets, very little of the Union Signal and Switch Company or Westinghouse Electric has changed hands hately. The former is very steady, however, and yesterday it opened at 9 and closed at 9½. None of the stock was sold at that price.

The Westinghouse Electric was somewhat weaker. Wednesday it closed at 11½, yesterday it opened at 11%, and at the noon call it had dropped to 10%. It closed at 10%. There seems to be no very great desire to in-vest in stock of the Westinghouse interests at present. Mr. Westinghouse says his Eastern present. Mr. Westinghouse says his Lastern negotiations are moving on very satisfactorily, and in a few days he will be ready to settle up the difficulties into which the Westinghouse Electric Company has been plunged by the stringency of the money market. Under these circumstances the stock market is liable to be stimulated somewhat within a few days.

A LITTLE MAIDEN'S STORY.

Inspector McAleese Hears the Foundat for a Good Dime Novel-An Orphaned Girl Turned From Her Home by a Stony-

Inspector McAleese has a young girl on his hands about whom he is in considerable doubt. She gives her name as Annette Lee, aged 13, of Butler, says she is an orphan and has no relatives in this part of the country.

The attention of the Inspector was attracted to the young girl through a gentleman who saw her in the waiting room of the Allegheny and Manchester street car line, at Market and Sixth streets, yesterday and to whom she related the toss of her pocketbook. Detective Coulson went to the waiting room and talked to the girl, who told him she was a stranger in the city and had no money. She was taken to Contral station, where she told her story to the Inspector. He nestified the officers of the Allegheny and Manchester line. and soon afterward the pocketbook, containing several dollars, was turned in by Conductor Holmes, who had found it lying on the floor of Holmes, who had found it lying on the floor of his car.

The story of the young girl, who is delicate in appearance, though bright, pretty, and intelligent, is that her parents died when she was a babe, since which time she has been living with her Aunt Sadie Lee, a maiden lady of 60, who died last week and was buried in the Hempfield Cemetery. After the burial of the aunt she was put out of the house by some man whose name the girl cannot remember, who told her that the house and its contents were taken for payment of some debts the deceased had left. She came to Pittsburg on Wednesday evening, having only $10, which she said her aunt had given her before she died, and put up at Boley's Hotel in Diamond Square. Yesterday morning she went to Allegheny and had her bangs trimmed, and on her return on the street car she lost her pocket-book.

The weak part of the girl's story is that she cannot remember the names of anyone either in Butler or in Springdale where she went to school. She said her aunt had been a recluse and never received visitors or had anything to do with her neighbors, and that, she said, was the reason she could not give the names of any of them.

Chief Brown yesterday received a circular from the Funeral Directors' Association of Pennsylvania, which is addressed to the mempers of the Legislature, asking their support for House bill No. 204. The object of this measure is to compel all persons desiring to embark in the undertaking business to first secure a diploma, as in the professions of the law, medicine and dentistry. Allegheny's Appropriation Bill Fails to Pass Common Council.

CHOKED ON THE HOSPITAL GIFT.

Ghosts of Past Efforts Haunt the Last Regular Session.

REPORTS THAT CLAIMED ATTENTION

The last regular session of the present Allegheny Councils was held last night, but another meeting will have to be held to act on the appropriation ordinance. It was called up last night and all swallowed but the clause donating $10,000 to the Allegheny General Hospital, and in order to reduce this amount the bill went back to the committee. It will be at least a week before the city employes will receive any money. Controller Brown says he may make arrangements to borrow the money be fore that time. In addition to this the session was also after the nature of a spiritualistic seauce, from the fact that the ghosts of the commit tee on the extension of the water works and the division of wards were presented in the shape of reports and unanimously pigeonholed for the perusal of generations yet un-

The Work of Common Council.

At the opening of the session in Common Council Thomas A. Parke took the chair n the absence of President Hunter, and most of the Councils seemed to be with the President, for most of the time business President, for most of the time business was transacted with only 28 members. On the call of wards, a number of minor petitions were presented. Then the resolution awarding the contract for the purchase of a Silsby Bre engine was called up, and, after it had been discussed for 15 minutes, Mr. Rudolph raised the point of order that the Fire Committee had not been properly called. His point was sustained and the resolution sent back to the committee.

Resolutions awarding the contracts for printing the annual report to C. F. Peck & Son, and for printing the city stationery to John Ogden were passed finally.

The appropriation ordinance was called up, and Mr. Stauffer moved to amend by making the appropriation to the Allegheny General Hospital $5,000 instead of $10,000. He urged that the hospital was not entitled to the increase while homeopathic physicians were not allowed in the building and the city physicians were not given power to place patients in the hospital. It was argued that this would keep the mer

It was argued that this would keep the men from getting their money, which is now three weeks overdue. The amendment, however, carried by a vote of 14 to 12, and the bill was sent back. The special ordinance directing the payment of the $10,000 was also sent back.

Mr. Kennedy's resolution fixing the limits within which the new Government building should be placed was also voted down. A large number of ordinances were then passed finally, among which were the issue of $75,000 street improvement bonds, and exempting the Allegheity Athletic Association from the payment of license fees, and fixing the number of newspapers for the official printing.

death rate, exclusive of still births, was 1,854, a death rate of 18.6 per thousand.

The Committee on City Property expended $15,635 34, transferred $10,000 to the library and had a deficit of $3,135 34.

The Committee on Wharves and Landings spent $1,937 73. The receipts were $3,496 47, about $800 less than 1889.

The Committee on Roads reported that the roads cost the city $21,500 67, while $77 was received for permits to open the roads.

The Market Committee expended $1,141 27 and collected, in rents and fees, $16,284 81, an increase of $351 20 over 1889.

Superintendent David Hunter, of the Gas Department, made an elaborate report on the building of the electric light system. The fighting of the city cost $41,236. There are now 219 lamps on towers and 203 on mast arms 2,075 incandescent lamps are used in the city buildings. The Oil Well Supply Company has about closed negotiations for the purchase of the Elba Iron Works and the Continental Tube Works, both located on Second avenue, at Soho. The papers have not yet been signed, but the terms have been agreed upon, and Superintendent Stevenson, of the library, reported that since September 21, 23,335 persons have visited the library, 436 en October 25, being the largest daily attendance. Forty-four thousand, three hundred and eighty-six periodicals have been issued.

Superintendent Hamilton, of the parks, reported the expenditure of $19,983, of which $13,291 66 went for labor. Besides this $14,891 92 was spent in improveing Monument Hill and $10,368 08 is left in the special appropriation for this purpose. the contracts are in the course of preparation by competent attorneys. The price to be paid is in the neighborhood of $550,000. The purchase was made for the purpose of manufacturing tubing to supply the

As soon as the deal is closed, work will be commenced immediately on improvements which are to cost $50,000 in order to put both plants in good shape before beginning operations. A new iron building will be added to the Eiba plant and a new storage building will be built for the tube works.

Plans are being prepared for operating the plants on a larger scale. The Continental Tube Works have not been in operation for over two years until last October, when both plants were leased and started up by T. B. Everson, who was backed by the Oil Well Supply Company, as an experiment.

City Engineer Ehlers reported that five miles of streets has been graded and paved at a cost of $154,228 52, making 93.83 miles of paved streets in the city, which cost $2,437,295 32; 1.167 miles of sewers were built at a cost of $15,859 40, making 38,955 miles in the city worth $1,071,080 85. who was backed by the Oil Well Supply Company, as an experiment.

Under the new management Mr. Everson will continue to full charge of both plants, which will give employment to about 1.100 men and will have a daily capacity of 150 tons each. Skelp, from which wrought from pipe is made, will be made at the Elba plant, and from there it will be taken to the tube works, where it will be converted into tubes of all sizes.

No time will be lost in getting started and even then the firm will not be able to supply more than half their spring trade. They still hold the local agency for the Reading Iron Company and precure through tidat a large amount of material.

J. B. Eaton, President of the Oil Well Supply Company, was seen yesterday and corroborated the above facts concerning the purchase of the plants, but said he had been trying to keep the matter quiet. It is of particular interest to the firm alone, which has very profitably adopted the policy of manufacturing all its own goods so far as possible.

"The effect of the Brooks law in this city has been to greatly increase the dignity and respectability of the saloon business. The character of the men engaged in the business is much better than under the old law. In time, possibly, the saloon keeper, as a class, may have the same standing as in some parts of Europe, where they are men of property and influence, which is due there, also, to the strictness of the license laws.
"In the cities of Pennsylvania, and more especially in Pittsburg, the success of the Brooks law is largely due to the close and complete police surveillance over saloons and places where it is suspected that liquor is illegally sold. Any infraction of the law is promptly reported, and as promptly punished. Trouble With Jug Houses.

"The great trouble in this city is with the wholesalers and the bottlers. The jug business is demoralizing in the extreme, and one place doing a trade of that character causes more drunkenness and disorder than half a dozen reputable saloons. There are entirely too many of these saloons and they should be reputable salcons. Inser are entirely too many of these salcons and they should be weeded out.

"Nearly all the salcons obey the police order to close at midnight and remain closed until 5 A. M. The majority of them open between 5 and 8, while some keep their doors closed until 7 o'clock. According to reports furnished me, many of the salcons close between 11 and 11.50 o'clock. In the mill districts, where the men change turns at 3 o'clock in the morning, we allow a few salcons to open at that hour as an accommodation to the workmen, many of whom get their breakfasts at these places.

"Taken as a whole, I am very much pleased with the manner in which the liquor law is obeyed in Pittsburg, and I am happy to say the speak-easy is almost completely weeded out. Nevertheless we do not propose to relax our virilance and these reports will 'continue to form an important part of our police system." Charles Lipskow, felonious assault and battery:

Phases of Life Seen at the Union Depot-A West Virginia Mountaineer Who Got Mixed Up in His Baggage-He Goes for &

The Union depot presents more varied types of humanity, conditions of life and humorous incidents than perhaps any other section of this cosmopolitan city. There was a party of four there last evening who furnished cause for much speculation as to whence they came, whither bound and what they would do when they got there. The group consisted of a man, his wife, and a son and daughter. The former was attired in an oil coat, concealing home-made clothes and a slouch hat, and wore boots, a chin heard, real conventionalness. He also carried 6 feet 4 inches of bone, and sinew and a stoop.

Mrs. Jacob Reamer was dressed in good country garments and a poke bonnet, while her daughter duplicated her on a smaller scale, excepting that she was protter than her mother, a matter which would be stright in the course of time. Young Reamer resembled his parent, but outdid him in the matter of mud, because, whereas Reamer pere wore his mud not higher than his coat-tails, Reamer fils supply extended to his hat. They might have all just dropped in casually from the wilds of Pennsylvania, and were resting before dropping out again. They had no bargage, not even a bag of peanuts, and the four sat on the bench as stolidly as if their existence depended on keeping milence and a look of stolicism. of stoicism.
