GRAND SPRING OPENING OF BEAUTI-FUL MILLINERY.

High Novelties in Sliks and Dress Goods and In Jackets and Suits-Prominent Feature of the Occasion-Paris Millinery at Its THE PITTSBURG DISPATCH Finest-The Handsomest Silk Fabrics.

At Jos. Horne & Co.'s Retail Stores The interior of this enormous establishment vesterday rivaled in brilliancy and richoesa of coloring the bright sunshine of this perfect March day.

Of course, the prominent feature of this special spring opening in the eyes of the ndies was the magnificent show in the mil-inery department, where are to be seen all that is chic and novel, secured by one of Jos. Horne & Co.'s foreign buyers in a month's search through the leading mil-linery houses of Paris and London. Crestions, the French called these dainty com-binations of taste worked out in velvet, gauze silk ribban and flowers, known to us by the vulgar term of "Bonnet" or "Hat." Murvels they are, each one, and there are hundreds of them.

Round hats, toques, bonnets, garden hats, street hats, traveling hats; in fact, a world of millinery is here.

Paris millimery, recollect, at its best and at its freshest.

In addition to these novelties there are shown several hundred artistic produc-tions in the way of bonnets and hats, the product of the firm's own millinery workrooms, which hold their own with the choicest creations of the Paris and London modistes. There is an immense display of untrimmed hats and bonnets, in the latest most fashionable shapes, and a large and complete stock of newest novelties n trimmings, gauzes, velvets, flowers, eathers and fancy ornaments direct from the center of fashion, so that with the resources of the firm's workrooms, greater than ever before, their patrous have the advantage of every facility to secure prompt and satisfactory making of special orders. But this is opening day all over this immense house. Next to an Easter bonnet in every lady's wardrobe, comes an Easter costume, and surely such bewildering and comprehensive exhibit of diess fabrics has never before in this so that the surely such bear gathered to-Scotch, English, German, French, Ameri-can-every weave, fabric and texture, reprecenting the individual and collective efforts best manufactures of world-wide reputation all centered here in this leading dress goods department. A variety, not only in thric and colors, but also of price, so that y the loom are shown here for the benefit

As is generally known, it is the policy of this house, in all cases, to buy and import direct from manufacturers, thus securing for their pations the advantage of exclusive styles, largest assortments and lowest prices. All that experience and care and an infi-mate knowledge and large acquaintance with the dictates of tashion and wants of the scople can avail have been employed months in advance for the bringing together of the esent stock of goods now to be seen in this argest and most complete dress goods de-

All that has already been said applies with equal force to the grand and gorgeous display made in the silk department. Thousands of pieces of silks-think of it! Vhat a selection and choice are offered in variety of style and design, of weave and of color, included in a stock of such magnitude. Printed India silks, printed crepes, printed surals, brocaded effects without end, plain silks in every known shade and hue, in bengalines and fallles; surah silks in every conceivable coloring; wash silks in new formous varieties in white Japanese silk. The richest, most lustrous and best wear ne makes of black dress silks always found sere, including high qualities not usually sarried in stock in retail silk departments, Grenndines, which fashion says must be worn this season, are shown here in all the richest designs, in colored figures and satur stripes, open mesh and floriated patterns. As is fitting, a word must be said con-certaing the richest and handsomest silk bries, in cream white for bridal costumes, satia duchesse, failles, moire, moire anioue, bengalines and peau de soie, in the finest and handsomest qualities made. These are always to be found in this silk Time will not allow mention of the countess bargains always found in this silk de-partment, which has made it the best place a buy siiks in the United States.

Next in order in the Easter outfit and very important, too, at that, is the part taken by ar ladies' suit and wrap department Here, too, is found a display, such us the adies of these cities have never before had the good fortune to behold, Jackets, from the stylish and modest cost blazer to the ultra models, most recently evolved by the most noted modistes of Paris and London. Do not waste time looking for those goods eisewhere. They are found only in this department, and here is the place, and the only place, to secure whatever is newest, most stylish and most fetching in the way of your Easter jacket.

There are thousands of them here, so it will be strange if the most fastidious taste cannot be suited in a jacket. Next, it may be a surprise to some of the ladies who read this that in the matter of suits and costumes the display here is second to none, whether it be a good knock-about suit at $10 to the latest Parisian novelty at several hundreds. Just at present the majority of costumes exhibited are instylish tabries, suitable for early spring wear, aithough advance styles are shown in materials adapted for summer weather, such as printed India silks, cotton crepes and or effects. Costumes for housewear, street and full dress occasions are exhibited. Ladies will be pleased to note that a large variety of the medium-priced suits displayed are exact copies of the Paris models, and while they get in them the same stylish effect the prices are very low as compared with the prices of the original. Any alterations necessary are made promptly and skillfully by thoroughly competent and proficient work people. In this suit department are also to be seen wrappers, tea gowns, matines, all new, stylish and desirable. While a trifle premature, there is quite a pleasing exhibit here of advance styles in ladies' blonse waists, in surah and stripe silks, in a large variety of colorings. One of the bright particular gems of this grand spring opening is the children's suit and jacket department.

Without a doubt visitors will find here

the most complete assortment and largest variety of pretty things for the little folks and young girls ever brought to Pitts-

Complete outfits for infants, from good plain work to the daintiest that can be made. It is only a question of what you

Receirs, jackets and blazers for small children. Long coats for children from 2 to 16 Dresses for misses, in one and two piece garments, from 4 to 16 years. While at all times the stock in this department is kept full and complete, it is also the rule to have special facilities for taking special orders to suit any peculiarity of size, and in all cases the results are satis-It would be wearisome, though interesting, to speak further of the special spring preparations in the many other departments of the establishment. It is enough to say variety of assortment, and for standard qualities, is fully carried out. That it will be a delight to the ladies of these cities and vicinity to make a special tour of inspection through the entire store goes without saying.

This week and the week following is the
