HUSTON WILL SERVE

As U. S. Treasurer Until He Again Offers His Resignation.

NO PRESENT CHANGE IS EXPECTED.

A Republican Ex-Congressman Who Sees a Bright Ohio Outlook.

M'KINLEY TO BE THE PARTY NOMINEE

IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. WASHINGTON, March 17 .- The eccentric Mr. Huston, who is the champion resigner of this administration, has furnished auother amusing turn in his official career. It seems that his last resignation, like his several others, has been withdrawn, and that the genial champion resigner will continue Though his resignation was accepted before the adjournment of Congress, and State Treasurer Lemeke, of Indiana, called back from New York to be offered the appointment, Mr. Huston seems now to be no nearer being relieved from the custody of the Government's millions than he was many months ago, when the curious little comedy of retirement was began.

When Mr. Harrison talked with Mr. Lemeke about taking the office to relieve his brother Indianian, Mr. Lemcke had been about to start on a trip to Europe for his health. There was some doubt about his being strong enough to undertake the responsibilities of the office without first having some opever, that the matter could be arranged. Mr. Lemcke went to New York again, taking the matter under advisement, and it is now under-stood that he will soon sail for Europe, and that Mr. Huston will retain, for awhile at least, the office of United States Treasurer. The outlook to-day is that there will not be a change made in the office, but of course the President can't tell at what moment Mr. Huston may send in another resignation with a re-quest for prompt action. Ex-Representative Thompson Confident of the Major Carrying the State Against Campbell-The Tariff Bill to Be the Main Issue Before the People

"Politically," he said to-day, "things in Ohio are in good shape from a Republican point of view. We are going to make one of the most thorough canvasses of the State this year that was ever made at any time. The Republican convention will probably The Republican convention will probably be held early in June, and the campaign will be one with the convention. McKiniey will be out nominee for Governor. There is no other man in the field. The Democrats will nominate campbell and the fight will be made in earness from the start. We shall make it a hot campaign, and that means that we shall carry the start, as we always do when we make the right sort of fight. We feel that we rather neglected things before, taking too much for granted.

This time we shall make an active campaign "This time we shall make an active campaign in every township of the State. McKinley can do a great deal for himself. He will speak in every county, and the effect of that sort of a campaign will be felt. There will be a number of local issues growing out of the city governments, the action of the Democratic Legislature, and the like, but national issues will enter into the contest also. The Democratic lies about the tariff bill will be answered. The Democratic have been talking a great deal about that measure, and their talk has been in a measure quite effective, because there has been no carnest effort of defense, the idea being that no defense was necessary. The tariff and the work of this Congress generally will be made ork of this Congress generally will be made to issues of the campaign, and McKinley will

It seems that Chief Meredith and Commander of Internal Revenue Mason were the prime movers in the scheme to get in the steam presses. Representations were made to Assistant Secretary Nettleton, who knew nothing of the fight against the steam presses, which led him to coincide with Mercelith and Mason. When Secretary Foster was appointed, he also was brought round and the order was issued.

Floating out the new tide of affairs, the printers sent one of their representatives to Philadelphia to the beadquarters of the Knights of Labor and had their cause before the chiefs of that order, who wrote a statement of the matter to Secretary Foster. When Mr. Foster received this information of the true condition of affairs he resembled the order in regard to the steam presses, and acted favorably on the suggestion of the Knights, and the printers to put on a night force of printers. presentations were made to Assistant

SAILORS FOR THE NAVY.

The Complement Is Full and Enlistments Have Been Stopped. WASHINGTON, March 17 .- Orders have been tent to the various receiving ships of the navy to discontinue all enlistments for the present. This is because the legal limit of 8,250 men and boys has been nearly reached. It was discovered last week that the number in the service was within 42 of the limit, and in order to provide for the continuous service men, whom it is always desirable to re-enlist, it was deemed advisable to call a half before there was no solvisable to call a halt before there was no room left for these men.

In order to make more room it was decided to discharge a number of men whose terms of enlistment had nearly expired. The crew of the Galeria, about 50 men, were to have been discharged upon the arrival of the slip at Portsin outh, but it is probable that they will be retained now until the end of their journey, as they have lost their clothing. It is expected that if there should be no relief afforded by legislation during the next Congress, it will be impossible to man the vessels that have been ordered to participate in grand naval review of 1878, in connection with the World's Fair.

THAT INDIAN APPROPRIATION.

Secretary Noble to Oppose Payment to Choctaws and Chickasaws.

WASHINGTON, March 17 .- The act making appropriations for the Indian service passed at the last session of Congress contained a clause appropriacing $2,991,000 for payment to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians for the relinquishment of an interest alleged to have been held by them in the Cheyenne and Arrapahoe held by them in the Cheyenne and Arrapahoe Indian Reservation. There was some opposition to it in the House, and during the progress of the deleate Mr. Cannon read a telegram from Secretary Noble, in which he said he thought the claim was not well founded.

In speaking of the matter yesterday Secretary Noble said that he had no power to control the appropriation, but that when the matter came before the President for settlement it would in the ordinary course be referred to him. In that case he would, be said, certainly make a thorough investigation of the matter, and it might take considerably longer to reach a conclusion than the men who were after the money thought absolutely necessary.

PATRICK'S DAY PARADERS

reland's Patron Saint Honored by a Public Demonstration of Her Sons in the New Land-Not Many Men in Line, and the

St. Patrick's Day yesterday was observed by the customary parade of Irish-American societies. The number taking part in the procession was not so numerous as the strength of the Irish element in this section would lead one to expect, but if the paraders were few their wives, sisters, cousins and sweethearts were many, and occupied the sidewalks for the whole afternoon. The day passed away without disturbance of any kind.

There were two parades, the larger being the demonstration of the Board of Erin Irishmen, and the other that of the American wing of the demonstration of the Board of Erin Irishmen, and the other that of the American wing of the same body. The most ardent of patriots could not have complained at any feature of the parade. It was orderly; sincere in emphasizing by a public display the devotion which Irishmen in every land have always had for their patron saint, and though Irish flags and Irishmen in every land have always had for their patron saint, and though Irish flags and Irishmen in every land have always had for their patron saint, and though Irish flags and Irishmen in every land have always had for their patron saint, and though Irish flags and Irishmen in every land saint and the flag which, through many years of bondage at home, always sheltered the son of Erin who sought refuge under its shanow.

The paraders assembled at the Cathedral at 230 o'clock and marched down Fifth avenue to Smithfield street, to West Carson, Point bridge, Penn avenue to Seventeenth, and back by Liberty street to the Cathedral, where an inspection by companies of the Rifles took place. The order was as follows: Squad of police; Cathedral Band; Chief Marshal, W. D. McAuliffe; Chief of Staff, John Giroy; Adjutant, General, Thomas Burke; Chief of Line Aldes, P. B. A TEACHER ON TRIAL.

Principal Inman, of West Bellevue, Accuse of Calling Pupils Unpleasant Names-Some of Them Denominated Brass

Monkeys and Catamounts. Some West Bellevue school pupils strongly object to pet names, especially to those of catamount and "brass monkey," and Principal Inman's examination before the School Board, on the charge of incompetency preferred against him by Attorney Noah W. Shafer, is growing in interest on account of the unique features developed.

Prof. Inman was defended by Judge Fetternan, and the hearing verged on the spicy. The man, and the hearing verged on the spicy. The charge of incompetency does not relate to Prof. Imman's capacity in the line of scholarship, but in the allegation that he is unable to interest and govern the school. Mr. Shafer charged that he had depleted the A class so that of an original muster of 12 but two pupils remained in it, though some of a lower class had been promoted to it. Mr. Shafer also charged that the principal had no power to dismiss pupils or order their parents to take them out of school, but in cases requiring action, the board should be consulted, and its action govern.

The prosecutor says he only wants to clarify the atmosphere in the schoolhouse, and says if a teacher has a right to call pupils idiots, blockheads, catamounts, brass monkeys, etc., blockheads, catamounts, brass monkeys, etc., be (Shafer) wants the matter to go on record, in an authorized manner.

The board has not rendered a decision, so far. The prosecutor says that if affairs are allowed to run much longer in the present groove the school will become very small.

A legal cross-questioner is apt to spoil a juvenile witness' story. One little girl testified strongly in favor of the principal, but when asked by Mr. Shafer if the principal had not been much better to the pupils for two or three weeks past than previously, replied with animation, "On, yes, very much better." charge of incompetency does not relate to
