Total receipts for the week so far have not been over a dozen double-deck car loads, against Is loads last week and 15 the week be fore. There was a good demand for all the good sheep offered at last week's prices, while lambs were fairly steady. The top price for sheep was $6 10, and for lambs $6 75. These prices are ob-30 III, and for lambs 30 II. These prices are obtained for only a few extra bunches. In a retail way some extra lambs were sold at 7c per pound. A bunch of 8 was sold at this figure. The prices given above for sheep and lambs were only reached by a few. The offerings were in the main of common and low grade, and fell far below the figures given. OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH. WEDNESDAY, March 18.

There have been about 68 carloads of cattle on the market this week at the East Liberty yards, against 60 loads last week and 90 the previous week. Sources of supply were Chicago, Indiana and Ohio. There were 26 loads from Chicago. The proportion of good and prime beeves was as it had been for several weeks past—small. All told, there were about seven carloads of prime beeves in the offerings, which were market weighed 1,500 pounds, and four loads were sold at $5.55, which was top price in a wholesale way. Smooth, tidy butcher beeves of light weight were in light supply and markets were strong at last week's prices. For some reason until the price in light supply and markets were strong at last week's prices. For some reason until the inquiry for stockers, and sellers were all sold and at a shade better prices than last week's but it is doubtful if the increase here was sufficient to cover the increase here as proof of the upward movement, dealers in Chicago dressed beef have been forced to advance their rates in the past week or two.

There was only a fair supply of fresh cows of the market is toward a higher level. As a proof of the upward movement dealers in Chicago dressed beef have been forced to advance their rates in the past week or two.

There was only a fair supply of fresh cows of the market for May especially was an unnatural ene. The attempts to sell had as much effect in making low quotations as the efforts to was small.

Oats were quiet and uninteresting. The trade was all of a scalping nature, and was pretty well scattered. The market was a sympathetic one, following core closely. May started at 53%c, seld to 53%c, off to 52%c, and up to 53%c. again.

The provision market was easier and dull. On the call there was a little more firmness, but although corn became very strong, pork didn't manage to get as high as yesterday's closing prices. May started at $11 46, sold off to $11 20, up to $11 37%, and off to $11 22%.

tidy butcher beeves of light weight were in light supply and markets were strong at last week's prices. For some reason unknown to dealers, and to this editor, there was little inquiry for stockers, and sellers were forced to go elsewhere for a market. A few were still unsold this morning. Fat cattle were all sold and at a shade better prices than last week, but it is doubtful if the increase here was sufficient to cover the increased cost at sources of supply. The whole tendency of cattle markets is toward a higher level. As a proof of the upward movement, dealers in Chicago dressed beef have been forced to advance their rates in the past week or two.

There was only a fair supply of fresh cows on sale this week, and old prices were fairly well maintained. Caives are in large supply and a shade lower. From 300 to 400 head were received on Tuesday, and range of markets was 5½ to 6½ per pound. This is ½c lower than prices of last week. As the season for weal calves has now opened, according to former precedents, markets will decline for the next few weeks. A big run of caives might any day knock the bottom out of markets. A drop of lc per pound might come any day on a large run.

INSIDE HISTORY OF A BIG DEAL.

A Northside Man Airs His Opinion of the Postoffice Site Conundrum.

TWO UPTOWN PROPERTIES PICKED UP

Sellers and buyers of real estate are again coming together. A piece of unimproved property on Ellsworth avenue, adjoining the residence of Josiah Stevenson, tronting 160 feet on Ellsworth and extending back

450 feet to the Pennsylvania Rathroad, was sold yesterday by Mrs. Mary R. Fox, of Foxburg, to a well-known business man, for $25,000. The purchaser will build a fine residence on the lot the coming summer.

The property 207 and 209 Wylie avenue, near Townsend street, Eighth ward, consisting of a lot #4x169, with a three-story brick and several and trame houses, changed ownership yes-terday for $10,000 cash, Mr. Robert McEldowney being the purchaser. This is a progressive dis-trict, and the price is considered very reason-

Stimulated by Good Weather.

The good weather that has prevailed so far this week has had a stimulating effect upon real estate, with the result of more inquiry and showing buyers around, and a number of deals were started, some of which will be consummated later on. The good demand and buoyant feeling show that there is nothing wrong with the market. All that it needs is a fair chance, pressed doubt as to his ability to market the property, and advised the owner to put it in the lands of the brokers first visited. This was done. As luck would have it Mr. Cole was at that very time looking for a property of this oescription, and dropping into the brokers' office a day or two after the order had been housed, and before any expense had been incurred, clinched the bargain at once by paying $1,000 hand money and the rest on Tuesday when the deed was delivered and the brokers pocketed $1,000 as commission. The other broker spent all of yesterday kicking himself. He declares he will never refuse another order.

ub. In trying to throw light on this subject esterday an Allegheny business man said: While either of the two sites would suit the Clearing House Figures Show Business Is people, my own opinion is that Stockton aveill be selected. New York, March 18.—The refusal of the Treasury Department to furnish gold bars, as has been the custom from time immemorial, failed to prevent the export of gold, as hoped by many, and the coin goes out to-day, with the possibility of being followed by further shipments in the near future. Commercial bills are scarce, and recent sales of securities for foreign account, together with the desire of European houses to strengthen themselves as much as nossible, render the outgo imperative, and the likelihood is that they would pay even more to get the metal at the present time.

The stock market, however, takes the shipment very unwillingly, and the direct effect has been to chill the bullish feeling that was developing, and to check operations in the stock line again. The apprehension of bad news from London at any time is a great factor in the making of bear opinion, and the check given to the broadening of the market which had made some progress during the last week, makes the bull side rather unpopular, at least for to-day. The bulls, however, bave not lost heart, and say that the exports of gold will have but a passing effect. For the time being, however, the traders who have principally the making of quotations are uneasy and inclined to go slow.

The market to-day was, therefore, dull and declining during most of the day, with little feature of special interest, though a few stocks made marked movements which, however, were
