of the church. In testimony whereof we have hereunto caused our Episcopal seal to be affixed, and do subscribe our hand, this 18th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hun-dred and ninety-one, in the Trinity Cathedral Church, at Cleveland, O., being the second year of any conservation.

WILLIAM A. LEONARD, Bishop of Ohio. The Rev. Howard MacQueary to-day received above official holification from Bisbop nard, of Cieveland, that he had been found guilty of heresy, and in consequence was sus-pended for six months. The minister was not at all backward in expressing his opinion of the verdict.

MacQueary's Opinion of It. "What is your opinion of the verdict?" was asked him.

"i think it both unreasonable and uninst Tr is unreasonable, because it rests on the absurd supposition that a may who has devoted years of earnest, prayerful study to theological problems may alter his opinion in six months at the dictation of coelesiastical power, in some 20 yards this side of where the stage was robbed a week ago Saturday night. It is presumed to be the same man. The rob-ber stepped out from behind a tree disguised with a barley sack over his head, pointing a pistol at the driver, Ed Brackett, be ordered him to throw out the box. Brackett threw out the Shasta Wells-Fargo & Ca's box when the robber told him to throw out the Weaverville box. The driver then threw out the Weaverville box. A lady passenger on the box with the driver and a order to retain a position in a church which to retain a position in a church which not want him. It should have been a -cut disposition, or acquittal. For this nucl is simply an expedient, adopted to ex-te the church from a differmut, and in to win for the church a reputation for me and charity; but every one who is iar with ecclesiastical proceedings, and ing the last year, can see the hol-Whyshould I? What has done to convert me from my 7 I have been demonreed and d condemned. That method of retics has proved fotile for centhrees. It is an a achievents, a contradiction of the great principles of the Reformation of the sixteents century, which established the right of private indement in religious matters, and it is a return to the darkness of the Middle Ages.

Cannot Believe Old Doctrines.

"The old doctrines lack facts to support them and therefore I can never believe them. The verdict is unjust for several reasons First-lt volates the fundamental doctrine of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which teaches that the creeds must be interpreted by the Se pure, not the Scripture by the creeds. This contention of mine was admitted by the prosecutor during the trial, but the court has tor during the trial, but the court has repreted the creads by the Scriptures, and they could not have found me since the presentor did not impugn the sof Scripture 1 dited in support of my etailou of the cread, mally, if this verific? be correct, the the presentar, the indexs and all the ion, the prosecutor, the indges and all the gy in the church are hereits. None of m believes in the literal meaning of the cle in the creed on the resurrection of the The prosecutor admitted this contention also. No intelligent person believes that a man's body, which has lost a leg or an arm, for instance, will at the last day be resurrected without its arm or leg. Yet if the creed be literally construed we must believe that the very body that was buried will be resurrected.

It Will Foster Hypocrisy.

"If this verdict is correct, the church should set up an inquisition to bunt out the heretics and bring them to justice. The woods are full of them, including the bishops and other ecclesiastical diguitaries who reject our material ecclesization dignitaties who reject our material resurrection. This verdict condemns honesty and candid speech and will foster hypotrisy. And why have been condemned? Not because I denied the truth. The prosecutor took par-ticular pains to impress upon the court that its duty was not to consider the truth of my views, but simply their conformity to dogmas formu-inted in an age of superstition and ignorance. The prosecutor knew well enough that it was much easier to show their non-conformity to the letter of the creds than it would be to refuse other their truth or their Scripture-lessness. "At any rate it should be distinctly under stood and remembered that the truth of my opticions remains untouched by this verdict. I am glad that two members of the court had the sourage to vote for acquittal. I am personally grateful to them. This action shows that there graterial is them. This action shows that there is room for difference of opinion even on the legal aspect of this question. There were men who actually wanted the Bishop to depose me without trial. This verdict, adopted by a bare majority, and even partially against that will, should be a severe rebuke to such bigotry. Other Hersties Will Follow

"If there were an appellate court in the church I should appeal the case, and believe I could win it. But unfortunately there is no such court. I hope that one result of this trial will be the establishment of such a court. especially if the church intends to deal with "heretics' in the future with the strong arm of bales.
