

comments that are made on either side, the true condition of affairs seems to indicate that "bonors are easy."

Despite the bitterness, however, of the coptest, it would not be a true Irish broil if an occasional laughable incident did not occur, and one of these happened last evening in Sligo while Parnell was speaking from his window at the hotel.

An Incident of the Campaign

An inspiration seized the McCarthyites, and a number of them rang the fire bell violently while a number more rushed into the station and said there was a fire at the Im- | cigarettes. perial Hotel and they wanted the engine. By this means they obtained possession of the hook and ladder truck, which had among its other appliances an adjustable fire escape, and with a great shout they rat with it through the streets until they reached the botel where Parnell was speaking.

Here they quickly unlimbered the ms chine and ran the fire escape up to Mr Parnell's window. When this was done the chief offenders in the joke withdrew to the other side of the street and called the attention of the crowd to the fact that Parnell had another fire escape. They made hilarious reference to Mrs. O'Shes and altogether they turned the meeting into a roaring farce. The police finally saw the joke and captured the engine, which they dragged back to the station, followed by a crowd that let off enough witticisms on the trip to supply the O'Connor's new paper with all the jokes he will probably want for the next five years.

Will Not Stay in the Same Hotel.

As soon as Mr. Parnell arrived at the Imperial Hotel yesterday evening a number of McCarthvite members of Parliament, ineluding Mr. Sexton and Dr. Tanner, secretly left and went to another hotel, carrying their baggage with them. When Mr. Parnell and his friends were informed of the action of the McCarthyites at breakfast this morning they chuckled, and Mr. Parnell asked a waiter if the McCarthvites had paid their bills.

It is announced that Captain O'Shea has brought suit against the Catholic Bishop of the united diocescs of Galway and Kilmadusgh, the Most Rev. Francis J. MacCor mack, D. D., and against Canon John O'Mahony, of the Catholic Diocese of Cork. Captain O'Shea sues the two reverend gen tlemen mentioned for alleged libelous utter abces in regard to his relations with Mr. Parnell which have been attributed to the Bishop of Galway and to Canon O'Mahony in the public press.

Both Sides Want the Labor Vote.

The Parnellites got up a deputation of Sligo dock laborers in order to give their chief a chance to expatiate on his labor sympathies. Replying to the deputation's address, Mr. Parnell declared that ever since he was 21 years of age he had felt keenly for the cause of laborers; that he had encouraged his own employes to form unions; that he never had any workman in his mines who had struck, and that there had always been perfect aboord between him and his employes. In a subsequent free conversation, the members of the deputation were charmed by Mr. Parnell and left him yowing that his candidate should be theirs.
