A STRANDED STEAMER

In the Caribbean Sea With Warner Miller and Party Aboard.

THEIR FATE IS YET UNKNOWN.

thing Serious. TWO STEAMERS GONE TO THE RESCUE

SPECIAL TREEGRAN TO THE DISPATCEL! NEW YORK, April 2.-The steamship Aguan, of the Honduras and Central American line, on which Warner Miller and his party left New York to examine the work of the Nicaragua Canal, was stranded on March 26 on Roncador reef in the Caribbean Sea, 250 miles northeast of Greytown, while on her way to Greytown from Kingston, Jamaica. The news came by cable to the Niesragua Canal Company from Chief Engineer A. C. Menocal at Greytown. The Aguan sailed from here on March 14, with Warner Miller, the President of the Canal Construction Company, on board, He was accompanied by G. Hilton Scribner, Charles Watrous, C. L. Merriam, C. L. Me Arthur, William J. Marvin, Major C. E. Dutton, Lieutenant Guy Howard, U. S. A .; Civil Engineer S. F. Donaldson, H. F. Gooch, D. McN. Stauffer, Major, Joseph Kirkland, of Chicago; Kember Bocock, John R. Spears, Elbert Rappelye and W. E. Simmons. James Rankine, the New York representative of the steamship company, and his daughter, Miss Rankine, Miss Scribner and Miss Clark were also of the party. No Fear of Loss. Captain George W. Davis, the general manager of the canal company, said to-day that he was completely in the dark as to the real condition of affairs, but he felt confident from the wording of the cablegram that the Aguan had not been lost. The Carazo, which had gone to her rescue, is a small steamer of the Morgan line, which the Petrel is undoubtedly the United States gunboat of that name, which was due in Greytown about March 26. Captain Davis said that there was a British war vessel of the same name on that station, and it might be she that had gone to the rescue. Captain Davis figured out that the Aguan had arrived at Kingston on Saturday, March 26, and that she must have remained there until Tuesday afternoon, the 24th. El Roncador, which is Spanish for "The Snorer," lies divertly in the path of steamers sailing from Kingston to Greytown. Its name probably comes from the noise of the surf. Captain Adair, the present post captain of the Honduras and Central American Steamship Company, who, until last year, commanded the Aguan, gave this as the most probable explanation of the mushap to the vessel.

Not a Plegsant Spot. real condition of affairs, but he felt confi-Not a Pleasant Spot.

The Rongador reef is 16 to 17 miles long and runs northeast and southwest. All but a small portion at the northeast end is several feet under water, and the color of the water and the surf is all that tells of the existence of the reef. The portion above water is covered with a few cocoanut palms and low shrubs and is shout ten acres in extent. It is not inhabited about sen acres in extent. It is not inhabited and is visited only by turtle hunters once or twice a year. There is a well of fresh water apon it, due by these hunters.

The reef under water is covered with sandy shouls, and it is probably upon one of these that the Aguan stranded. A short distance from the reef there is deep water. If the Aguan left Kingston on Tuesday atternoon, the 24th, she would pass the reef just before day-break of the following Thursday. In the slight hare and darkness which is over the water at that time the Aguan must have run on the reef.

I think myself that the steamship is safe," said Captain Adait, "but if she is breaking up it would have been very easy for the passenger and crew to reach the land. There are no hurricanes or evelones in that region at this time of the year, and strong trade winds are all that would disturb them.

Ample Lifeboat Accommodations. There were two staunch lifeboats aboard which could have taken off every one. Captai K. Baillie, the present commander, is careful man. He salled as chief officer unde me and understands the neighborhood well le had a crew of 38 men. A lifeboat was prob ably despatched from the steamship to th island of Old Providence, which is about So island of Old Providence, which is about 80 miles to the southwest of the reed. From there a cocoanut schooter must have carried the news of the disaster to the Corn Islands, where the Carazo left for the secone at once.

"At the latest she must have arrived at the real two days after the Aguan stranded. If the passengers had to abandon the stoamship and take to the bit of reef above water they must have not up with some discomforts, for there is no shelter but a small but used by the tratte hunters. Mr. Menocal's despatch was not dated, but was probably sent on March 31. Word should be received within the next 24 hours that the passengers were all at Greytown, as the round trip could easily be covered by the Carazo in three days."

HE MARRIED FOR WEALTH.

Strolling Baker Marries His Employer Then Leaves With Her Cash.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW CASTLE, April 2-New Castle is in a state of excitement over the disappearance of J. T. Myland, a prominent business man. About two years ago Myland came to this city from Cleveland to work as a boss haker for a widow named Mrs. M. A. Wright, who by hard work had saved about $7,000. He was a fineiooking man about 31 years of age. He had a sine gold watch, on which was engraved the fact that it had been presented to J. L. Myland, superintendent of a Sunday school in Canada. He had also letters from his brother, a minister of the Gospel, at Berlin Heights, near Cleveland. Although no Fears are Entertained of Any-

Cleveland.

After working for Mrs. Wright for some time, the two fell in love, and Myland married his employer. He at once took charge of the business. Mrs. Myland put her money in her husband's name, and all went well until last Tuesday afternoon, when Mr. Myland said that he was going to Cleveland to look for a baker. His wife did not think anything was warmen with the experience when baker. His wife did not think anything was wrong until the evening of his departure, when she had occasion to go to the private drawer where the private papers were kept. Here she found the valuable papers were gone. An inquiry at the National Bank revealed the fact that Mr. Myland had drawn $4.625. She believes that her husband has deserted her and stolen her money, as it was in his name. It will be a hard matter to force Myland to return, even if he is captured. He left about $200 in the bank.

RECKLESS OF HUMAN LIFE.

Two Attempts Made to Destroy B. & O. Passenger Trains. ISPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCE. FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 8.-There have been two dastardly attempts to wreck passen ger trains between this point and Graftor within the past 48 hours. While Hon, Samuel Gramm, a member of the Legislature, was walking up the Haltimore and Ohio Railroad near Grafton, he noticed some pieces of iron wedged in a frog near Fetterman station. The Wheeling accommodation, loaded with passengers, was nearly due, and there was just time to remove the obstructions before the train whirled by.

Last night a similar obstruction was discovered a few minutes before the Chicago vestibule train was due. They were in the same place, and apparently placed there by the same persons. To-day and to-night a gang of watchmen have been located all along the track in that vicinity. It is supposed the fiends who are thus careless of human life are a gang of trainps who have been in that vicinity for some time. whirled by.

A YOUNG WIFE'S SUICIDE.

Ill Health and the Loss of a Young Child

Distracted the Woman. SEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. 1 LEWISBERRY, PA., April 2.-This county is in a great state of excitement over the suicide of Mrs. Logan Reif, of this place. Mrs. Reif, about 28 years of age, has been in ill health and almost distracted over the recent death of a young babe.

Yesterday she managed to get out of her bedroom, and to an old loft where an old shotgun was hidden. She loaded the gun with a very heavy charge and took it to her room. Shortly after a shot was heard and on going to her room it was found that she had killed herself. She leaves a husband, but no children,
