Retail Applicants for Licenses Soon to Be Out of Suspense.

ONLY A FEW DAYS YET TO WAIT.

Mckeesport's Petitioners Are All to Be Heard by Neon To-Day.

SOME OF THEM ARE GETTING ROASTED

Judge White yesterday announced that when the McKeesport list of applicants for liquor licenses had been heard the court will take a couple of days for consultation, during which no session of court will be held, and then the judges will make out their list for the cities, Pittsburg, Allegheny and McKeesport, and announce the successful applicants. This will be about gheny and McKeesport, and announce the Friday or Saturday. It is expected that the McKeesport list will be heard before noon It's an old saying that many a good man doesn't know how to run a hotel, but if one spends a day in the License Court he will gheny City Hall yesterday. Chief Murphy had find out how to do it a la Judges White and Magee. The Hibernian who thought charneter immaterial, so far as whisky selling is concerned, would find the scales drep from his eyes suddenly were he to go through the ordeal. It might be stated just here that quite a number of prohibitionists have somewhat modified their views, and would rather see more saloons run under the terrors of the law than so many speak easies as at present. It is said that if all the communications received by the Court were published it would show an actoushing revolution of opinion on the actoushing revolution of opinion on the part of some people who a few years are regarded any concessions to the item of the it things. The interruptions serve to caven the proceedings, but they are some times very aunoying to applicants whose fingers ours to clinich some people by the throat. The first move in the court was the request Atterney Rowand to have the case of H. J. Alt, of the Thirty-first ward, taken up, as Mr. Alt had been sick with the grip. them such temporary relief as was possible The shock of the explosion and the falling rafters aroused the sleepers, nearly 40 of them, and they started frantically for the open air and safety, tramping upon each other in their mad endeavors to escape Three-fourths of them reached the street with view of the fate of their companions, they bore without a murmur and even complacently.

One of them. Frank Descer, was even more unfortunate than his ten fellow-sufferers. A beam fell across his chest as he was lying in bed and pinioned him to the bedstead. There he lay, with the hot flames surging around him, with which they severed the heavy log which

Two Young Ladies Who Met at the Depot Two young ladies who met at the depot last evening for the first time started on a Euro-pean trip. The meeting was effected through pean trip. The meeting was effected through a mutual friend, who thought it would be pleasant for both to travel together.

Annie Stevenson, of Fostoria, arrived here on the express. Miss Annie Grimes, of Pittsburg, had a slight description of her, and she was fortunate in picking the young lady out of the crowd of passengers. The hand shake was rather formal, each being most intent on sixing up the other.
