FINANCE AND TRADE. Italians Looking for a Tract of Land on Which to Colonize.

HILL SIDE AND HILL TOP VALUES.

Comparison Between Real Estate in Pittsburg and the Booming West.

The Italians of this city are looking about for 25 to 30 acres of cheap ground as a site for a colony. Their idea is to become citizens and get their own homes in some part of the city where they can build together and be strong enough to acquire influence and command respect. Two or three locations are under consideration. Fortunes in Hillside Lots. Forty years ago the late James McGinness began, upon very small means, the purchase of exceedingly cheap property along the valleys and hillsides of Soho. No other person wanted it, and he bought it at a cost of about $40 to $100 per lot. Many years ago it was said that he would not buy anything in the shape of ground that could not shed water as fast as it would fall, except the site upon which he lived and died. He broke stone for a living on the Pitt township roads in early days, and finally became supervisor for the Mechanics' Turnpike Company, where he relieved the monotonous peregrina-tions over township roads, by looking after hillside lots that in after years brought him a

He was a long-headed man. He foresaw the occupation of the lowlands and valleys by industrial plants, whose employes must have homes, and he had satisfied himself that the level lands through Oakland and about Scho held by Craft, Breed, Zug, Gazsam, Tustin, held by Craft, Breed, Zug, Garram, Tustin, Wilkins and others would not be broken in upon by tempting offers for at least a quarter of a century. When he got his price for a lot he sold it, but he never sold unless he got $5 or $10 for every dollar that he invested, and he would just as soon take a flat mortgage with 6 per cent interest as the cash. He wanted his interest promptly and he got it, and the interest for one and a half years pretty generally equaled the original investment. He very rarely put a "for sale" on anything ke had, but the people out in that section knew when they the people out in that section knew when they could see a goat making its way along intricate paths, or 45° slopes, that the property belonged either to James McGinness or Senator Gazzam, and that anyone that would pay the price could have it.

and that anyone that would pay the price could have it.

He loaded up with the cheapest and most worthless stuff that nature ever produced, and totally unworthy the name of real estate. He sold it, however, and at big prices, for at the time of his death he left an estate valued at $500,000, after having taken life easy in a very pretty home, for 25 years. The ordinary dealer would not look at land of this character now, and one could hardly run fast enough, after most of them, to give it away, and yet there is no class of property that brings greater returns to the fellow that waits.

Puor people always have been and always will be in the majority. They are the purchasers and the consumers, and along these hill sides you will sooner or later find their arbors and trailing vines, safely anchored by natures tendrils. The Southside Germans would not buy anything for a bome that did not have a fall of at least 40 feet to the 100, and it is well-known among real estate men on that side of the river that level hill top lots bear no comparison in price to the shagey, craggy, rock-tibbed lors along the always inversements.

parison in price to the shaggy, craggy, rock-ribbed lots along the almost insurmountable and overhanging hill sides.

Fleeing to the Hill Tops. Frank Kohne sold a ten-acre tract at the read of Hazelwood avenue to John Larkin for $15,000, in April, 1890. There was some dispute about the details in closing up the sale, and it was declared off. Bix months later Mr. Kohne sold the same ground to the Schenley Park Land Company for $18,000. Mr. Rohne would like to get it back again at $20,000, and thinks he could cut it into 100 lots and sell it out at $35,000. The entire absorption of everything on the lower level of Glenwood and Hazelwood for manufacturing purposes is driving every-body to the billtops, where nine-tenths of the Real Estate Out West.

Mr. J. C. Alles, of Alles & Bailey, has just returned from a six-weeks' trip through the Western States, Southern California and Mexico, and in an interview yesterday gave his impression and views on real estate in those parts, and especially in regard to valuation as compared with Pittsburg. Mr. Alles said; "In Chicago real estate has quite a boom, the World's Fair being the augmenting factor. For 20 miles around the city they are selling what they call town lots and building houses on stilts in the swamps. In my opinion the bulge will not last, and after the Fair real estate will be a drag on the market." From Chicago Mr. Alles went to Hot Springs. Ark., and thence to El Paso, Tex., which is a flourishing little city. Del Norte, a Mexican town, was next visited. It contains the oldest town, was next visited. It contains the oldest church in America. Los Angeles was the next stopping place, of which he said:

"It is the worst place in regard to real estate that I struck during my trip. It is in a chaotic condition. Hotels, opera houses and street car lines are in an unfluished condition. People who went there and invested thousands of delars in real estate were glad to realize one-third of their ontlay. The great trouble there is lack of money. Southern California was badly lack of money. Southern California was badly crippled by the land boom of a few years ago. Costly buildings were started in many places and left half finished. A hotel to cost a quarter of a million dollars was built up to the second story and abandoned. In one case a street can line had been built out ten miles without a line had been built out ten mines while a house on the route."

Of San Francisco, Mr. Alles said: "This is the great real estate city of the West. Transfers are important in number and value, and prices are very firm. The only drawbacks are prices are very firm. The only drawbacks are the rapid growth and prosperity of the cities of

Of Denver he said: "Real estate here is at a

Pueblo has to a great extent taken the place of Denver as a mining center. Most of the large smelting works are located there."

In conclusion, Mr. Alles paid a high tribute smelting works are located there."
In conclusion, Mr. Alles paid a high tribute

Business News and Gossip. Electric weakened still further after call yes

The volume of local business last week was an improvement on that of the previous week. There was a better demand for money and stock trading was more active. The locating of the Carnegio Library building at Schenley Park entrance on Forbes street, will increase the value of Oakland property 25 per cent, at any point between Mey-ran avenue and Roup street, now Negley ave-

Good Week in Financial Circles-Clearings 'how a Big Gain. The week in local financial circles was characterized by a liberal movement and improving tone. Bank clearings show a gain of nearly $1,000,000 over the previous week, and there was an increase in calls for loans, indicating an expanding tendency of trade. Depositing was a feature showing large cash sales. The Clearing House report brings out all this in cold fig-ures, which are said to never lie. Philadelphia and Erie ....

THE WEEK IN OIL.

Change of System Falls to Bring Grist to the Mill. The event of the week in oil circles was the changing the manner of trading on 'Change, by which the old system of cash first and options secondary was restored. The market, however, moved along in the old rut, there being no improvement in outside interest. The change, it is believed, will in time help business, especially if the visible stock continues to increase.

There was no market yesterday so far as sales went. The only bid during the session was 72%c. At the finish oil was offered at 72%c. Outside exchanges were weak and dull. The highest point touched during the week was 73%c and the lowest 72c. The final quotation, therefore, shows a fractional gain.

Bradford, April 11.—National Transit cer-tificates opened at 72½c; closed at 72½c; highest, 73c; lowest, 72½c; clearances, 262,600 barrels. OIL CITY, April 11.—National Transit certificates opened at 73c; highest, 73c; lowest, 72%c; closed, 72%c; sales, 38,000 barrels; clearances, 170,000 barrels; ahipments, 45,509 barrels; runs, 76,776 barrels. NEW YORK, April 11.-Petroleum was neglected all day, no sales of either cash or option of any kind being made. The only quo-tation was a bid of 72% for May option National pipe lines.

The Quiet Ending of an Active Week-The Market Bearish in the Morning, but the Losses Nearly Recovered-

Bonds Again Dull. NEW YORK, April 11.-The stock market today was nothing more than the closing up of an active week, and the trading was comparatively small, while a drooping tendency marked active and aggressive against the few stocks only $700,000, when twice that amount had been which they found vulnerable. There was a expected. The market had the benefit of the lack of interest in the dealings on the part of the bulls, and for the time being the market which, as we said yesterday it would be, was and with its issue was developed a desire to re-coup the sales of the early dealings, which re-sulted in a partial recovery of the former losses. The general list presented no feature of inter-est throughout the entire session, and the inacest throughout the entire session, and the inactive stocks were comparatively neglected. The market finally closed quiet and firm at the recovery. The final changes show losses of fractional amounts in general, Chicago Gas being the only exception, with a loss of 1 per cent.

Railroad bonds were quife dull, the trading in all issues only reaching $471,000, out of which the Atchison incomes furnished $101,000. The market sympathized to a limited extent with the heaviness in stocks, but no material movement took place, and the final quotations show. ment took place, and the final quotations show, as a rule, only slight differences from last previous sales.

look Is Brighter-Why Speculative Se curities Should Improve-Signs That the best symptom connected with the revival is hat it has come not so much from mere "room" influences as from an important accession of influences as from an important accession of outside buying orders. The stimulus is not of the artificial kind that is sometimes manufactured by professional traders or capitalists associated with large corporations; it is mainly due to a simultaneous and natural demand coming from the public at large, and alike for transient and permanent investment. This welcome change is due to several causes. It is the first clear and decided evidence that public confidence has recovered from the shock imparted by the crisis of last fall. And in that sense it means what many have suspected, that imparted by the crisis of last fall. And in that sense it means what many have suspected, that the damage inflicted by the panic was due more to fright than to positive injury or widespread disaster. The mischief was more in the nature of a derangement of the machinery of finance than in any general unsoundness of business at large or any such extensive insolvency as the Barings' suspension revealed among the European credit establishments associated with South American interests. The whole trouble lay in a comparatively temporary over-creation

South American interests. The whole trouble lay in a comparatively temporary over-creation of railroad issues and a violent hitch in our currency arrangements, while the general trade of the country was in a sound and wholesome condition. Careful observers have all along felt that, when the public at large came to understand these actual limitations of the bearings of the crisis, there would be a prompt and effective recovery of confidence and a general return to normal conditions. All symptoms unite to indicate that we have now reached that turning point. The danger of monetary stringency has been greatly mitigated; for, on the one hand, the largely increased disbursements of the Govern-ment will necessitate a distribution of the im-mense cash balance hitherto held by the Treas-ment will necessitate a distribution of the immense cash balance hitherto held by the Treasury, and, on the other, the operation of the silver law will add $80,000,000 per year to the active circulation, in audition to the increase arising from our regular production of gold. It is also a factor of no small importance that, in the Western States generally, the Granger hostility to the railroads shows a marked abatement of its reckless hostility, and in almost every case bills of that character have been defeated. A still more direct stimulant comes from the hopeful agricultural prospects. The winter wheat crop is unusually promising while the weather is favorable to the getting in of the Spring crops; and the fact that the outlook for the European wheat crop is discouraging suggests the probability of a good year for the American farmer.

While the concurrence of the foregoing favorable conditions is calculated to develop a much more confident feeling as to the future of business, it is beyond question that the current market value of securities is much below the average. It is true that the present gross earnings of the railroads show but moderate gains on those of last year; yet it is to be remembered that the traffic of 1890 was unusually large. It argues well for the general trade of 1890. It seems therefore to be a reasonable assumption that the current business of the roads would warrant about an average range of assumption that the current business of the roads would warrant about an average range of prices for railroad securities; and yet their present value falls very much below the average. In view of the factors above reviewed, there appears to be a solid basis for an appreciation in the value of securities from this time for-ward; and the probabilities of the situation favor a steady buying movement extending up to the fall months; especially should the crop prospects continue to develop as satisfactorily as hitherto.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

The Alton Boycott, Crops, Gold Shipment and the Money Market. Watson & Gibson wired the following to John M. Oakley & Co. after the close of business yesterday:

There was enough momentum to the bull market to run into open dealing this morning, but not enough to prevent a little reaction later. The last prices were firm under the in-the bulls, and for the time being the market seemed to have gone back to its former condition; but the opinions of bearish contingent gave it tone and character.

The opening was steady and quiet, but the trading element was disposed to discount an unfavorable bank statement, relying on the heavy exports of gold, and the estimated loss by the interior movement, which should have been in the neighborhood of $700,000. The pressure to sell, however, was confined almost exclusively to the Industrials and the Grangers, and Chicago Gas, Sugar, Burlington, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific in particular. The first two stocks were rattled off rapidly in the early dealings, Chicago Gas, losing 1½ and Sugar 1½ per cent, while Rock Island, with a loss of 1½, was the only other stock which declined more than 1 per cent.

The bank statement was considered rather favorable, with its insignificant loss in reserve, and with its issue was developed a desire to refar Western extensions of the Chicago Mississippi roads to deliver to it a fair amount of tonnage. If these roads combine against it, it can attract as much of that tonnage as it can carry if it can inflict such a blow to these large Western interests as to compel them to recognize it. Then again there is the question of lake rates, which are in danger of collapse owing to light freight offerings and an exceptionally large fleet of steamers. The Kanawha Dispatch last freight line, operating over the Chesapeake and Ohio, have cut seaboard rates. The large gold shipments this week are not reflected in the bank statement to-day, and more gold is likely to go hence this week. Money cannot be borrowed now upon high class dividend paying stocks for six months better than 5 per ceut, and bankers are appre-class dividend paying stocks for six months better than 5 per cent, and bankers are apprehensive of a loss of their entire surplus reserves. We can hardly think that money will be dear this summer though it may work closer for a few weeks.

The first preferred stockholders of the St. Louis and San Francisco are not inclined to accept the Atchison 4 per cent bonds. The Atchison appear to confess that it got a "pig-in-a-poke" when it traded off $22,000 of its own stock for which there was a wide market for what would seem to be a worthless lot of common and second preferred stocks on the St. Louis and San Francisco. An ordinary business man would have waited for the road to go into the hands of a receiver before buying its control. The Atchison was the only buyer for the stocks and a capital trade its holders made when they found a customer for it.
