Cattle-The supply in this line was larger at Herr's Island than the late average, but still was not equal to demand. The larger needs of buyers and increased cost at sources of sunnly had the effect of advancing prices from 15c to 25c per cwt on the range of last week. Fewer primes were on sale this morning, and there was a larger proportion of merior stock than for some weeks past. A Receiver Wanted for Jones, Cavitt & Co Limited-Statement Made by A. M. Cavitt and Others-Trial Lists for To-Day-

Notes From the Courts. A bill in equity was filed yesterday by A. M. Cavitt and others against Jones, Cavitt & Co. Limited, and others, members of the partnership association. It is asked that the association be dissolved and a receiver appointed to dispose of its assets. The plaintiffs claim to own over one-third of the capital stock of the company, $47,000, and representatives have been excluded from all share in the management of the concern. The defendants have so managed it that in the last two years the loss exceeds $25,000. The property of the company is almost all real estate, and is covered by a mortgage for $11,000. It also owes other debts, and is insolvent and unable to pay its debts.

Notwithstanding the insolvency the defendants passed a resolution to wind up the affairs of the company, and against protests have elected as liquidating trustees the representatives of those who involved the concern. They are Jenkin Jones, Chair-mar; John A. Wilson, Treasurer, and George W. Jones, son of the Chairman. The Court is asked to restrain the trustees from acting and appoint a receiver.

A BRADDOCK MAN ON ANNEXATION.

The Week Starts Out With Every Indication of a Bulge in Business.

OFFICE AND STREET NEWS AND GOSSIP

Pittsburg is making a gallant fight against adverse influences to recover business prestige, and with a good measure of success. Last week she moved up to seventh place in the list of Clearing House cities, while local exchanges were $1,000,000 in round numbers greater than those for the previous week. Spring trade is opening up slowly, but it is marching on. There is no evidence of commercial unsoundness or of lack of financial integrity, Wouldn't Hold Water. The report, although coming from a good source, that what is known as the Gregg property, on the corner of Wood and Diamond streets, had been sold was found upon inquiry to be incorrect. Mr. John R. Gregg, son of David Gregg, said he had heard nothing

We are deeply in debt, and have very little to show for it. As an integral part of Pittsburg we could rely upon necessary improvements which it seems impossible to obtain under the borough system. Whenever the question of annexation shall be put to a vote it will be carried by a large majority, unless I am much mistakes."

An Attractive Locality. The bill top district of the Northside is being populated with a rapidity scarcely dreamed of by outsiders. The schools are crowded and will soon have to be enlarged or more buildings erected. With improved neans of locomotion there is every reason for believing that the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-second wards will be built up compactly within the next few years. There is considerable cheap property in these wards, and, as they are only 25 to 30 minutes from the business and manufacturing centers, the rea-son of the high esteem in which this locality is held by home seekers is apparent.

Business News and Gossip. One of the artificial ice companies in Alle-

J. F. Pittsburg bankers and merchants, who, finding they can't grow cabbage for less than about 50

should stick to his trade.

An Early Bulge in Electric Checked in the Afternoon-No New Company Developments-Thomson-Houston Report-Phil adelphia Gas and Luster Move Up.

Yesterday was Monday, but there was noth ing blue about it. The warm sunshine made people feel cheerful and more disposed to take hold of business. Wall street was strong and active, and London made quite a bulge. Sales of stocks here aggregated 414 shares and some Electric scrip. Nearly all the business was transacted at the last call. In most cases final prices were the best of the day. There were more buyers than sallers.

sellers. Electric hardened a little early on receipt o buying orders from the East, but the most of these were subsequently canceled and the these were subsequently canceled and the bulge was lost. At one time it was up to 14 on the street, but there were no sales at that figure. The highest sale on 'Change was 13½, the close was steady at 13½ bid, half a point better than the opening. There was nothing new on the street in regard to Mr. Westinghouse's movements or intentions. It was generally believed that another extension of time had been taken, but as to details everybody sppeared to be in the dark. A gentleman having semi-official relations with the company said yesterday evening: "Look out for something in a very short time." This may mean something or nothing, and it is given as an item of current gossip.

property had not been sold. It appears that the story was started Friday last by a gentleman who owns considerable property in that locality, with a view to putting money in his purse.

Braddock is Willing

While Allegheny City shows a disposition to maintain her autonomy, Braddock, it appears, would like nothing better than to be absorbed by Pittsburg. Said a prominent citizen of that place yesterday: "The territory between Pittsburg and Braddock is being built up and settled so fast that in a few years there will be an unbroken line of houses connecting the two places. There is but one break now that amounts to anything—between Swissvale and Copeland—and this link will soon be supplied. The fact that Braddock is expanding westwardly to meet Pittsburg's easterly development along the railroads and river points to consolidation as not only possible, but probable.

although those in which the short interest was largest, including St. Paul, Burlington and Chicago Gas, felt the movement more than the rest. London was also a buyer in the early trading, while the West took the Grangers agam, and many specialities scored handsome gains, the Wabashs being very prominent. The gold which was left in London, however, was taken from here, and the announcement of this factagain gave the reactionists a chance to hammer the list, and the temper of the dealings underwent a change, the builts evidently holding off for developments, while the bears were inclined to press their advantage, and the activity, such as it was, of the afternoon, was always accompanied by declining figures.

All the early advances of note were winded out and the sluggish stocks, such as the Northern Pacific and C., C. & St. L. with some others, scored material losses before the downward movement was checked, when dullness became the leading feature of the market. The bears, however, continued to hammer the market throughout the session, and the activity was not what it had been in the early trading until just before the close, when the downward movement was greatest. The weakness was most apparent in Northern Pacific preferred, Missouri Pacific and the Grangers, though the industrials and specialties were not far behind, and not only were the morning's gain lost but fractions in addition all along the line. The close was active and weak at the lowest points in everything almost traded in. The final changes are irregular and in all cases for fractional amounts, except in Northern Pacific preferred, which is down 1½ per cent, though the losses are by far the morning's gain lost but fractional amounts, except in Northern Pacific preferred, which is down 1½ per cent, though the losses are by far the morning the flow of the bends of the morning to do the total of $1,341,000 for the day, but a few marked movements enlivened the monotony, the most important being the south of corthants in the series of the foreign mark lngs in Wheat Futures. CHICAGO—The wheat market was strong corn was even stronger, and the other speculative markets took their tone from those first named. weather in some sections of the Northwest was reported to be still further delaying the seeding of the spring wheat. Cables came stronger, and the winter's damage to the European crop is having its effect on those markets. The French farmers, with the loss of their crop staring them in the face, are evidently disposed to keep what they still have of the previous crop, and are compelling the millers to fill the void so caused by importations from this and other countries. May wheat opened at about 1/20 over Saturday's closing quotations, while July made a jump of 1/20 /20. May sold from $1.03/2 to $1.05 when trauting commenced, and July at from $1.03/2 to $1.03/2.

Strong Wheat and Corn Market, Follower by the Same Feeling in Similar Lines-Requirements of Europe Lead the Deal

The July future lost some of its infitial strength at once and touched $1.03 for a moment shortly after the opening, but May was held above $1.05 and advanced later to $1.05/2. July also received an accession of strength, and when the former sold at the price last named it touched $1.04. Good takings and desirable rates were reported at primary points, and there were rather free export clearances at New York and New Orleans. This, of course, strengthened the market, but May wheat, which had sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/2, and closed at $1.05/2, and July sold as high as $1.04/markets. The market closed firm, with May 3/6c higher and July lc. The heavy advance noticeable in the latter future was caused by the shorts, who forced the price up.

The opening of the provision market was rather tame and at lower prices for pork and lard, but ribs met with a fair inquiry and a good demand sprung up for the other speculative articles also, resulting in considerable advances being established over Saturday's closing quotations.

Six steam-ships landed 3,334 immigrants, 600 of whom were Italians, who came on the Anglia. As the survivors of the wreck of the Utopia passed the registry clerks each received from passed the registry cieras each received from Captain Marr, of the Anglia, $15, his share of the subscription raised at Gibraltar. Most of the Italians were sturdy looking and better dressed men than the usual run of their countrymen who land here. Their subscription money made them financially better off than more than half the horde of homeoff than more than half the horde of home-seekers who have come here since the Govern-ment assumed control of immigration. The youngest of the shipwrecked passengers of the Anglia was a little Neapolitan 9 years old. His father, mother and all his relatives perished. He was permitted to land, as the Italian Home promised to take care of him. Two of the Anglia's passengers who had served terms in Italian prisons were debarred and returned to the shim.
