THE PARKS SOON TO BE PRETTIER.

Preparations For Their Adornment Are Already Under Way.

THE SOCIAL CHATTER OF YESTERDAY

The Phipps conservatories held a reception yesterday afternoon. It was an entirely impromptu affair. This statement is made that the many friends of the family who were not present will understand the matter, and not imagine that the visiting list of the conservatories has been cut down. The delightfulness of the day was directly responsible for the affair and for the unusually large number of guests, including ladies, babies and dogs, and a few accidentals in masculine attire. Fortunately for the conservatories, they were in regular Sundaygo-to-meeting garb, and were in no wise disconcerted by the influx of visitors. The receiving party consisted of many floral favorites. The Azaleas were especially radiant, and challenged criticism in any form. Their coloring, beyond description, was excelled only by their daintiness of outline and delicacy of perfume. They certainly presented a dazzling vision, and were the recipients of marked attention and admiration that excited no little jealousy in the minds of the orchids.

Orchids Not The First of All. Seldom it is that anything floral takes precedence of the orchids, but in this instance such was the case, and warmed-over adjectives were the only ones bestowed upon the orchids, beautiful as they were, until the Nepenthes was reached. It permitted the use of a different class of ad-jectives, for it is such a lovely little cannibal, Pitcher-like in shape, delicately tinted and wax-like, it is never-"will-you-walk-into-my-parlor sort of blossom, for it is possessed of a double row of teeth, which mean death to any insect that enters the pitcher, unless it can fly. The Nepenthean liquor with which these blossoms are filled is also cannibalistic in its tendencies, and in lieu of mesets or flies, will thoroughly digest beefsteak in small pieces as served by Superintendent Hamilton, the strength of which is diffused throughout the entire body of the plant. Among the orchids who reand fragile beauty was not sufficiently strong to support the lengthy names of their family, and little pieces of board were called into requisition for that purpose. The lilles and the hypeinths did notelaim any particular attention, they having retired

The Victoria Regia, an Amazon guest in the aquarium, was the youngest of the recep- at 10 o'clock A. M. tion committee, it being in fact almost an infant. Its little round face, about the size o) a breakfast plate, however, did much to entertain as it lay smiling on the face of the water. Later in the season at some of the subsequent receptions the Regia will make a more commanding appearance and will be able inside of four months to hold some of the baby guests, not exceeding 60 pounds, upon its then attained eight-foot face.

The gold fish were delightful acquisitions to the receiving party, and charmingly en-tertained, as only goldfish can. They have not in four months had the water of their equarium changed, yet they were enjoying the best of health and their toilets were imneaculate. Superintendent Hamilton says that even for the series of imprompta receptions to be given by the conservatories season, the gold fish will be permitted a change of aqua, will as fish extract oxygen from the water and exhale carbonic acid gas; while plants, when growing, give off oxygen and inhale carnic soid gas, hence the water is purified. Extensive preparations are being made by Superintendent Hamilton and his assistants for the coming entertainments, and April 20 will find the parks undergoing their annual beautifying. Nothing new or novel is contemplated in the arrangement, and it is not even known whether George Washington or Lincoln will smile a welcome with a hen and chicken attach-

AN APPROACHING WEDDING.

Major McKee Soon to Become the Husband

An event of great importance in the social world, hitherto unannounced, will take place within the walls of the Chalfant residence, on North avenue, Allegheny, as soon as the work of remodeling it is completed, and though depriving the home of one of its lovely daughters, will be the signal for the establishment of a new home, within the city, over which Miss Birdie Chalfant, as of Miss Birdie Chalfant.

Mrs. Major McKee, will preside. Major McKee is Commandant at the United States Arsenal, a centleman well known and universally respected, while Miss Chaltant is a great social favorite.

An American Mechanics' Celebration,

Washington Commandery No. 1, United American Mechanics, celebrated the fourth anniversary of the foundation of the organization last night, at their ball Market street and Fifth avenue. An address of welcome was made by Past Supreme Commander Harry R. Peck. A banquet was later tendered to all those present.

Resuming Their French.

French, for a time, was compelled to relinquish its hold upon the Pittsburg public in favor of the grip, but it is now once more assuming its accustomed position, 27 pupils of Professor Fayes having recovered and resumed their lessons this week.

A MUSICAL and literary entertainment will be given this evening at the Denny M. E. Church. A lecture will also be delivered by Rev. D. H. McKee on the subject, "All Sorts of Tailand 2".

THE Waverly Literary Society, of the Allegheny High School, notorious for its clever entertainments, will give the annual one next Friday evening, with a programme replete with novel and interesting numbers. ONE of the prettiest annual events that occurs within the city is the entertainment given by Miss Agnes Hamilton's dancing classes. This year it will be given Tuesday evening. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FIGHT IS STILL ON.

Our claim is to sell better goods for the money or the same goods for less money than others. And we'll do it, come what may. We challenge our competitors in the words of the immortal Shakespeare, "Lay, on, Macduff, and damned be he who first cries hold, enough."

COMPETITORS SAY "THAT'S TOUGH."

On Saturday last a certain concern advertised the "Celebrated Star Shirt" at 35 cents, and the "finer grade" of Star Shirt at 85 cents. It may interest their customers to know that in each case they got .

Interesting to the 35-cent ones for they certainly got value for their money, but what of those who paid double and more for the same thing.

the same brand of shirts.

And say, what becomes of the pretense of the said concern to be a strictly one price house? Two prices on the same article on the same day.

What they termed the finer grade they claimed to be the same shirt that we are selling at 99 cents.

We claim that this is false and that they know it to be false and we mean the public to know it also. All anyone has to do to prove what we state is to examine the underside of the tab at end of bosom on shirt and they will find that whether they paid 35 cents or 85 cents, the number is 2 G.

The number of our 99-cent shirt is 1465, a brand of shirt made especially for us under contract and never sold to any other dealer. These shirts have an intrinsic value, and if it be a fact that our neighbors have sold or are selling this brand of shirt at 35 cents each, then we'll offer the people a chance to make a little money. For every Star Shirt of this 1465 brand brought to our store we stand ready to pay 99 cents each. One shirt, a dozen or a thousand. Every hundred of these you can secure will net you $64. Remember the brand, 1465. Our neighbors claim the shirts they sell are the same. Put it to the test. There's money in it if it's true. If they can't furnish them at 35 cents try them at 85 cents, for even at that figure there's still a good margin. But insist upon getting our brand and number. Now we assert with confidence that they never sold this brand of shirt at any price, and if it isn't false pretense to make people believe they did, what is it? Now, as to the shirt which they did actually sell, the 2 G brand. If you want these shirts you have no need to pay them 85 cents for them for you can get them at Gusky's at just 19 cents each.

Our price on the 99-cent shirt first advertised still remains 99 cents. They are worth every cent of it. And we stand ready to buy them from anybody who can procure them elsewhere and pay 99 cents each for

This sale is for to-day only, and begins at 10 o'clock.
