HOW SHE WAS CURED.

Mrs. Ladley, a Sufferer From Rheumatism Scared Into Health

BY AN ENORMOUS HOUSE SNAKE.

The Peculiar Manner in Which an Chio Man Killed Himself.

TO DRILL FOR OIL IN SOUTH AMERICA

REPECIAL TRLEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR. BEAVER FALLS, April 19 .- George Bailey, a respectable farmer of Pulaski township, was in this city to-day, and tells of a remarkable cure that occurred in his neighborhood. For many years past Mrs. Sarah Ladley, aged 79 years, has been afficted with rheumatism. At times she was confined to her bed and unable to be up at all. She was bent nearly double with the disease and hobbled around with a cane. The other morning the old lady, who is a confirmed smoker, knocked the ashes out of her pipe before a wide open old-fashioned

In striking the chimney a stone was dislodged and the frightened woman saw protruding from the hole the head of an enormous house snake. She gave a piercing scream, and in spite of her long infirmity sprang nimbly to her feet and ran to the center of the room. The snake, hissing loudly, threw itself from the hole, and when on the floor started for Mrs. Ladley. She sprang with one bound to the top of a high table, and when there commenced to dance in terror, uttering the most fearful screams.

Aid soon came and the snake was killed, and the old lady hopped from her elevated position and fainted in a chair. She was placed in bed, as her relatives feared, to die, but after several hours refreshing sleep stepped from her bed and walked to the center of the room, as erect as a woman of 20.

All her aches and pains of years standing had left her. Since then she has been as lively as a cricket and helps with the housework, and takes a walk daily. She cannot bear the sight of a pipe, and, though a smoker for 40 years, says she will never use tobacco again. The cure has created a great deal of attention in her neighborhood, and hundreds of her old rigneds are calling to see her and are amazed. cure has created a great deal of attention in ber neighborhood, and hundreds of her old friends are calling to see her, and are amazed to find "Old Granny Ladley" a bright, lively the rig. Officers are in hot pursuit.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. NEWARK, April 19.-A shocking suicide was committed in Granville, this county, to-day. George Ross, a married man, aged about 30 years, waited until all his people except his other had gone to church, and then went to the barn, tied a rope to a beam, placed the the barn, tied a rope to a beam, placed the other end about his body at the waist and jumped from the beam. He fell about ten feet, was not killed at once and began yelling for assistance. His mother heard his cries and hastened to the barn, but could not reach him on account of her crippled condition.

The man was suspended in this terrible position for about two hours, head downward. He was dead when found by Albert Linnell and Hermann Sanford, who were attracted by the cries of the distracted mother. No cause whatever was assigned for the deed, as he had no had habits, was not financially embarrassed and lived a pleasant domestic life. It is hardly thought he intended suicide, owing to the peculiar manner in which the rope was fastened. If suicide was intended, the man was certainly insanc, as no other possible cause is given.

The men at that place have worked but two weeks since the first of the year, and the effect on other branches of business is more noticeable than even during the great strike of 1857-1858, when the men wore receiving their weekly allowances from the Knights of Labor, and as a result were not so pluched as they are now.
