SPEEDY DECISIONS PROBABLE.

A Preacher Asks for a License and Is Closely Questioned.

FORTY-EIGHT PETITIONERS HEARD

Forty-eight applicants for retail liquor licenses in the townships were heard by Judges Magee and White. This leaves 67 of the township applicants to finish the county on the retail side, and the work is likely to be finished to-morrow.

It is very probable that Judges White and Magee will, on the completion of the retail hearing, announce their list before proceeding with the wholesalers. This was Judge White's opinion yesterday, but the matter had not been definitely settled upon. There only remains about 67 more cases to be heard, and they can easily be finished up in two days, so that the wholesale list may be taken up on Friday if the Judges do not gahela, and left his wife and their family of want to take that day for consultation, in which case the wholesale list will not be taken up before Monday.

Jacob Arand, Lower St. Clair township, was the first applicant of the day. He has been refused twice, and has been running a restaurant. John Franz, Brownsville road, has a license now and was quickly disposed of. John Forum, Ormsby avenue, and Catherine G. Goldbach, Brownsville road, both have had licenses and obeyed the law. Three Times and Out.

W. Hoffman is a coal hauler. Fred. Hampe was refused for three years. Peter Karenbauer, Spring street, never had a license. Margret McGutre, Pittsburg and Elizabeth road, did have a license and owned considerable property. The Court thought she was old enough to take a rest. William Prim, Ormsby avenue, is a cripple and has a license.

John Rothman, Spring avenue, is a new applicant with a new house. John Schirra, Arlingn avenue, was refused twice, and denied that his adopted daughter was a fortune teller. eter Schmitt, Arlington avenue and Spring reet, admitted to running a speak-easy, but aphatically dealed that he sold any on Sun-Christian Wagner, Arlington avenue, had defective petition.
Fredrick Riley was the only applicant from

Charles Adametz was the first Mifflin county Charles Adametz was the first Mifflin county applicant. He is a grocery keeper, and new to the liquor business. Jacob Altmyer, Township road, is a steel roller. James Bain, Railroad street, was refused a wholesale license last year. James Briggs, Township road, has a license, and denied holding public balls during the year. A number of witnesses were called in this case, but nothing damaging proven.

Moses Dean, whose case was heard on Monday, was called up again and a number of boys called, who testified to having obtained liquor at Dean's house. The testimony, however, was not of a very damaging character.

The Afternoon Session. George Baalt and William Coates were the first applicants of the afternoon, and they got through without any trouble. William Curry was on Mr. Christy's black list, but the latter made very little out of the applicant.

James Donahoe was refused three years in succession, and has been running a restaurant. Charles Downey, of Duquesne, had a license niring the past year. He admitted having old to minors and that he was guilty, but the rand jury ignored the bill. The applicant was innest and straightforward in his answers, and houest and straightforward in his answers, and notwithstanding his admissions seemed to please the Court, Attorney Castle got after the applicant, but made very little out of him.

Seward Oliver was called and testified that a man named Neal got drinks in Downey's har until he had to be carried home. David Barker testified to having seem Downey selling to minors. Mary Daly testified as to Mr. Downey's making an indécent proposition to her. David Barker said he hadn't taken half a dozen drinks during the past year.

Mr. Downey-Ot course not tecause I wouldn't sell it to you, and put you out of my saloce.

Thomas D. Davis, Railroad street, Duquesne, has had a license for the past three years. This just had built.

William J. Dorsey, Middle Pittsburg road, and a wholesale license during the past year. He admitted to having sold in jugs, but quit it some time ago. Mr. Dorsey denied that there had been any drinking on his premises.

Attorney Castle called John Graff, a boy, who denied getting drink from the applicant. H. King, a boy, got some beer on an order from H. Haupt. Martin Nee got some beer in the same way. David Barker testified to drinking beer in the applicant's back yard. drinking beer in the applicant's back yard.

The applicant denied these charges in toto.

Wanted License Another Year. James Evans, Pittsburg and McKeesport road, has had a license and thought be obeyed the law. Hurles Fichter, corner of Priscilla and Seventh street Duquespe, is a butcher, Conrad Goldstrom had no attorney to represent him and was a new applicant, Mr. Christy intimated that there had been a speak-easy in this house which was not denied. Charles F. Goldstrom is a son of the former applicant and is a butcher. He never applied for a license before and his house is a new one. Judge White-I am not disposed to grant any more than two licenses in Dravosburg. John W. Graff, Railroad street, Duquesne, informed the Court that since the filing of his application his house had burned down, but it was being rebuilt. The house contained 28 Christy intimated that there had been a speakwas being rebuilt. The house contained 2 rooms, and was used as a hotel. Mr. Morris-That was two years ago.

Judge White-Have you any property of our own? Mr. Morris-No, sir.

Mr. Morris—No. 317.
Judge White—You made over your property to a Mr. Howard?
Mr. Morris—Yes, that's so.
Judge White—Is there a church near you?
Mr. Morris—Yes, there's a church in the third story of my building.

Judge White said that Mr. Mozris claimed in petition that he owned the property he applied for, when such was not the case, and they could not grant a license in such a case.
Charles McQuarde, Duquesne, is a new applicant with a defective petition. Abraham Neish, Railroad street, has a ten-roomed house and has been running a grocery store.

Mr. Christy-You formerly kept the "Grey Grosse" in Forward township?

Mr. McQuarde-Yes, sir, I did.

Mr. Christy-It was a pretty tough place, possibility.

Mr. Wake—Yes, I preached occasionally.
Judge White—And you attended prize fights?

Mr. Wake—No, sir.
Judge White—And foot races?
Mr. Wake—Not for 20 years.
Judge White—What church do you belong to?

Mr. Wake—The Christian Church.
Judge White—You used to belong to another church?
Mr. Wake—Yes, sir: the Methodist Church, but I withdrew from it when I applied for license.
Judge White—This bouse is known as the Red Onion speak-casy.
Mr. Wake—Yes, sir; I heard that it was called Mr. Christy wanted to know if Mr. Wake hadn't put up money on a prize fighter named Jack Hays, and Hammond, a foot racer, but this was denied. After all this the Court dis-covered that the applicant's petition was fatally defective, as he did not state when he was defective, as he did not stated naturalized.

Philip Newman, Perrysville plank road, was the only applicant from McCandless township. He has a transfer license, and claimed to have obeyed the law. Joseph Conroy, Township road, has been refused for two years, and there was a remonstrance against him.

More Testimony in the Neel Divorce Case-What Members of the Family Say-Why Mrs. Neel Refused to Remove to Coal Center.

The Neel divorce case was continued before Judge Siagle, yesterday. The testi-mony yesterday went to show that some years ago Jordan S. Neel, the defendant, went to live at Coal Center, on the Mononsix children at their former home in Beaver. He secured a niece, Mrs. Clark, who is the mother of several children, to go with him to mother of several children, to go with him to keep house, as his wife refused to live there. The wife, Mrs. Catherine Neel, who is about 60 years of age, is the plaintiff in the suit and asks a divorce from bed and board and alimony on the ground of intdelity.

The first witness called for in the morning was Miss Lovey Phillips, of Menongahela City, but as she did not respond Mr. Marshall, for the plaintiff, asked for an attachment. Objection was made to that proceeding on account of the sickness of the witness, but it was alleged the lady had made a statement that she would go to Europe before she would appear. This statement, however, was disproved by the lady by whom it was alleged to have been made. Frank White, of West Brownsville, was called and took the stand. He testified to seeing Mr. Neel and Mrs. Clark together at Atlantic City last summer.

Mr. Neel and Mrs. Clark together at Atlantic City last summer.

Harry Neel, son of the litigant, was called next. He is a locomotive engineer and married. He was engaged by his father in 1885 to superintend his coal mines at Coal Center. His father then lives in the house occupied by Mrs. Clark and called it home. He at one time took his father home when he was sick with a cramp, and Mrs. Clark took care of him and administered a poultice. His father at times went hunting and organized parties for that purpose, when Mrs. Clark would be one of them.

Mrs. Ella Neel, a daughter-in-law, testified to being at the house over night many times, but being at the house over night many times, but she had never seen any act at all suspicious be-tween the defendant and Mrs. Clark. In auswer to Mr. Marshall she said she believed answer to 32. Marshall she said she believed she was just as sospicious as most women. She had also been one of a party who had entered into the sport of Mr. Neel's hunting expedi-tion. She had never seen any conduct between Mr. Neel and Mrs. Clark that was in any way

Mr. Neel and Mrs. Clark that was in any way unbecoming.

Mr. Neel, the defendant, was then put on the stand, but only replied to two questions. Mr. Moore asked him if he ever asked his wife to accompany him to his home in Coal Center. He answered: "I have coaxed her many times, and promised to build her a large house if she would go."

Mr. Moore—And what did she say."

Mr. Neel—She said she wouldn't go there and live with 'them coal diegers.'

At this point occused for both sides began an argument as to the manner of testimony to be produced, and Judge Slagle said he would consent only to that which would show desertion on the part of defendant. Court was here adjourned for the day.
