Well, the boys scored their first victory and scored it by banging the ball all over the park. When 21 hits are made with a total of 33 bases, it needs no detailed argument to show that the ball was fiving about beyond the reach of the fielders. The big hitters let themselves lorse for once, and old "Line-'em-out" Brown-ing and Fred Carroll each made a home run

And Maul Was Thumped. But while Gumbert was a good thing for the local fellows Albert Maul was almost a "cinch". for Auson and his team. Albert was touched up in a way that would under ordinary circumstances make local partisans feel very tired, indeed. His pitching did no: by any means win the game, and he was so much of a mark that his colleagues at stages must have had very clear glimpses of their defeat this week. He was well supported, and that combined by the heavy slugging of his team saved the day. That Anson has a good team there is no boubt. If he had not the local players might have been scoring yet considering the heavy hitring that was going on. Amid all the sluging, and it was slugging, Anson's players sided admirably, and at one stage of the came, and that a very late stage, looked like thining. They fought like demons under such s that might have disheartened many he contest was free from any scenes between the players and the umpire. It seemed as if there was a better understanding between parties vesterday, and it is to be hoped that it will continue. There was a little exchange of words between Maul and Powers, but it did not amount to much.

It may be stated that Berger did very well, indeed. He spramed his ankle in the eighth inning and retired, Fields taking his place. They Scored First.

The visitors were first to score, and they talhed in the second inning. Cliff Carroll was hit by a pitched bail and went to first. Then an error by Rierbauer allowed Pfeffer to reach first, and a sacrifice hit sent the runners to third and second. Kittridge's single scored Carroll and Pfeffer was retired at third. Foster retiring the side. After Ryan was out in the third Cooney made a single and scored on an third Cooney made a single and scored on an error by Reilly, a single by Dahlen and Ansend's sacrifice. In the sixth inning Dahlen led off with a single over third base and scored on Ansen's two-larger to left field.

Foster began the vistors' half of the seventh maing and was out for coming in contact with the bail after he had bunted it in front of him. Rvan came next and thumped out a double to left and scored on the triple of that little singger, Cooney. The latter scored on the throw-in of a foul fly by Dahlen to left. In the eighth, after Frederick Pfeffer had been retired, Gumbert and Kittridge each made singles, and on a bert and Kittridge each made singics, and on a fumble by Miller and mother two-barger by Ryan they both crossed the plate. Two singles by Gumbert and Kittridge and a fumble by Bierbager netted the visitors their last run.

Some Great Slugging.

The local players began to pile their winning score up in the third inning. Maul made a single, went to second on a passed ball and scated on Miller's single to center. Beckley and Carroll both flew out, and Browning, after making a safe hit, was nabbed trying to steal second. In the fourth inning Bierbauer commenced with a double to left, and scored on Hanlon's single. After two men were out in the sixth Reilly banged out a triple to left, and acored on Maul's single to right field. Fred Carroll opened the seventh inning, and cracked out a trible beyond the reach of the fleet-footed Foster. Pete Browning followed with a single, Carroll scoring; and a serrifice by Bierbauer and a single by Haulon sent Brown-to the office of Secretary. The resignation of the Oakland club was tendered, owing to the Saland had struck and Miller had kocked a fly into Foster's hands, Beckley made a single to left. Fred Carroll next loomed up, and wiped out past injuries by ihun-ping out a home ran toward the right center feace. This was, inteed, joyful to the crowd. Old Kentucky was next heard from, and Browning swiped out another home run to left field. This was certainly glorious, and the crowd cheered, and Gumbert looked sad. Bierbauer went out at first, and that ended the inning. In the last inning Hanlow commenced with a double to center, got to third on a wild pitch and scored on Reilly's single to left field. There were about 1,200 people present. Score:

ATHLETICS AT PRINCETON.

The Management of the Grounds Have De cided to Make Great Improvements. PRINCETON, N. J., April 24,-The manage ment of the athletic grounds to-day decided to widen the entire athletic track three feet. The 220-yards' distance will be widened six feet, This change became an evident necessity, so large are the entries for the May 8 games, in order to prevent fouling and accidents. This change will be most important to bicycle contestants as it will do away with one sharp corner opposite the grand stand. Jack Mc-Master has a rather poor opinion of the ability of some who had charge of making the track

White, of the Chair of Geology of the State University, arrived home from Washington with an offer from the National Geological Survey to bear a portion of the expense of sinking the well on Boggs run to the depth of one mile. It has already been sunk to the depth of 4,100 feet, and the only deeper well is 4,600 feet. To reach the depth of a mile it will be necessary to sink the well 180 feet deeper, which would then make it by far the deepest in the world. In order to do this work at the present price of drilling-$3 per toot-it will take $3,540, and it is thought this can now be raised without any

It is hardly thought likely other gas or oil veins will be struck, but it is deemed best to sink the well as deep as science desires. An accurate record will be kept of the podoubt many nuknown strata which the drill will pass through, and these will be placed in crystal cases of the exact proportion of thickness of the strata. These glass tubes will be taken to Chicago for exhibition at the World's Fair, and will be afterward taken to Washington, where a close record will also be kept of the deepest well in the world, the information to be used for the benefit of all nations.

When the well is down below any other, records will be kept by a self-registering thermometer of the varying degrees of heat, and in addition minute observations will be made of a magnetic nature. The Government officers will attend the drilling of the well in order to take these observations. The casing will not be pulled when the well has reached a depth of a mile, but the well will be left intact, so that at any time an appropriation can be made and the well sunk as far as buman ingenuity and mech-anism can put it. It is thought some strange facts will be brought out in fegard to the very ower formations of the earth, and, as drillin on that particular tract is rather easy, it is thought no trouble will be experienced in drill-ing as far as desired.
