TESTERDAY IN THE COUNTY COURTS

There was considerable excitement at the Court House yesterday when it was announced that Adam Michael, of the Fourth ward, Allegheny, and H. J. Haller, of the Sixth ward of the same city, had been given their licenses, although they had originally been given out as refused. It was reported that Leon Long, one of the clerks of the License Court, had used his influence in one man's favor, but when seen he said: "There is nothing irregular about this proceeding. The names were left out of the list by a clerical error, and as the mistake was discovered it was rectified."

Judge White was questioned on the same matter and replied: "It was simply a case of doing justice. In the hurry of going over the list they were overlooked. Our attention was called to them, and we found them deserving and granted the licenses. It was not a rehearing."

Judge Magee said: "I don't know much about the cases, but if Judge White said they had been overlooked through a mistake it was all right. I know big efforts have been made to have licenses granted, but I do not know whether it was on these particular cases."

At the clerk's office they did not have the list as originally made out, and could not tell whether the names had been on the first list handed down on April 13.

Wholesalers Must Close Up. When License Court opened yesterday Judge White said that it would be impossible to finish the list by the 1st of May, and that all wholesale houses would have to close until Judge Magee stated that he thought the applicant's only reason for consideration was that he had such a large stock of liquors on hand. Judge White said he did not see that that should have any influence; that Mr. Filman was a rich man and would not lose much. Judge Magee then assented, and said that it would be newise and unjust to make the ex-ception and decline to hear others in similar cases.

Attorneys Geyer and J. S. Robb, Sr., made pleas for Mr. Filman. Mr. Robb said: "I was requested by many prominen: people in Alleghony to come and say something for Mr. Fil-
