There's nothing like big hitting.

If there had been a little more of it in yesterday's ball game between the home players and the Clevelands, victory would again have perched itself on the local banner.

But the big hitters, alleged and real, could not hit, and the troublesome little people from Cleveland scored a victory. To be sure, they earned it because they knocked the ball out at times when knocking out was needed.

The home fellows were not able to do that, and it was only because of the mistakes of the visitors that they scored at all.

It is not ungenerous to say that the home team played a very poor game. It may not be necessary to use the term "yellow" in connection with it, but to say the least they ought to have won had they been in anything like reasonable form. Miller and Reilly were very defective at short and third. Their playing was not up to the mark by any means, but it may be too soon to find much fault yet. With a few more games they may be able to get thoroughly settled down, but it is a fact that they must do better.

Those Wild Throws.

The grounds are in a wretched condition no doubt, and the best of players are always liable to make a blunder in handling a grounder in consequence. But the grounds had nothing to do with the very bad throws that Reilly and Miller made to first base.

Galvin pitched an excellent game, but while the visitors were touching him up now and again, the home talent could do nothing at all with Mr. Gruber. That was the greatest defect of all, and very emphatically reminded everybody concerned how useful base hits are. They are always lamentably apparent when we are not getting any at all. This was the case yesterday.

Gruber not only pitched in very effective form, but he received very good support. Childs' playing yesterday was a very great improvement on his work of Monday and Tuesday. Davis still kept up his batting reputation, and judging from his work here he is, indeed, an exceedingly useful man for the Cleveland team. In the seventh inning Captain Tebeau injured his ankle badly in running to first base. He had to be carried from the field and Doyle replaced him at third. Altogether the game was tolerably interesting and generally speaking indicated an improvement on the previous games.

The visitors commenced run-getting in the first inning and earned two in a very lucky manner. McAleer led off and bunted the ball toward third base. It was very slow and had every appearance of rolling outside the foul line. But it took a turn and kept in the diamond, and when Reilly picked it up McAleer was at first base. McKean knocked a fly out to Browning, and then Slagger Davis cracked out a long single to left. Childs followed with one of the luckiest kinds of scratch hits, scoring McAleer and sending Davis to third. Childs stole second, and when Mack threw the ball to try and nab him Davis ran home.

Made More Runs.

It was the sixth inning before the visitors scored again, so well did Galvin pitch. Johnson commenced the inning and reached first and second on a very wild throw by Reilly. Sacrifice hits by Tebeau and Virtue scored Johnson.

In the seventh inning McAleer led off and made a scratch single. McKean flew out to Carroll, and once more Davis thumped out the ball to right field for a long single, McAleer going to third. Childs' sacrifice hit scored McAleer, and a three-bagger to the right field fence by Johnson scored Davis. Miller made a wild throw of Tebeau's grounder, and this allowed Johnson to score. It was here where Tebeau injured his ankle when running to first. That ended the visitors' run getting.

For five innings the home players did not make off Gunter's delivery. In the sixth Galvin led off and reached first on a fumble by Tebeau. The ball was a hot one and the error was excusable. A wild pitch sent Jeems to second, and Miller sent out a single to second, Galvin going to third. Beckley knocked out a long fly to Davis, and Galvin scored on the throw in. Carroll's grounder to Childs resulted in Carroll and Miller being doubled up.

There were some hopes of victory in the eighth inning. Miller was first man at bat and was hit by a pitched ball. Then Beckley knocked out a two-bagger to right and Carroll got his base on balls, filling the bases. Browning also got to first on balls forcing Miller home. The cheering from the bleacheries was now great. Bierbauer sent a lively grounder to Doyle who threw Browning out at second, but Beckley scored. Hanlon made another sacrifice hit and Carroll scored. A good solid hit was wanted but it did not come. Mack was retired at first and that ended all hope of victory. Score:

BAD COACHING DID IT.

Mistakes Allowed the Reds to Score a Victory Against the Chicagos.

CINCINNATI, April 29.—Bad coaching allowed Cincinnati to win to-day. In the third Marr hit a high fly, which either Gumbert or Nagle could easily have taken, but neither went after it, and Marr reached his base. After this the Cincinnatis added two more runs. The playing throughout was good, that of McPhee and Cooney being especially worthy of note. Attendance, 1,300. Score:

THEIR CHICAGO TRIP.

Players That Manager Hanlon Intends to Take West on the Team.

The local team will leave for Chicago this evening to open the season at that city to-morrow. Manager Hanlon intends to take only 12 players on the trip, viz.: Beckley, Bierbauer, Miller, Reilly, Browning, Hanlon, Carroll, Staley, Galvin, King, Baldwin, Mack, Berger or Fields. It is likely that when the team returns it will be determined what players are to be released.

President O'Neil and Secretary Scandrett will accompany the team to Chicago. The President thinks that the opening day in the Windy City will be such a big affair that there will be plenty of work for Secretary Scandrett to do in the interest of the club.

Means to Stop It.

CINCINNATI, April 29.—Mayor Mosby is reported to-day as saying: "Professional Sunday baseball must be stopped in this city. If there is an attempt at playing a game at the Association grounds next Sunday, officers will arrest all concerned on the spot. They will not wait until after the game, but will arrest as soon as the players demonstrate an intention of playing." If this policy is adhered to, the Association will probably play its Sunday games in Covington.

Stratton Expected To-Morrow.

Scott Stratton is expected to arrive in the city to-morrow or Saturday. At least that is what President O'Neil said yesterday. Referring to the matter Mr. O'Neil said: "I have not heard from Stratton since he wrote me to the effect that he would be here on May 1. If he comes I will have a catcher here for him, as it will not pay to take him on a trip for only eight games. He will get plenty of practice."

King Will Pitch To-Day.

An interesting feature in to-day's game at Exposition Park will be the appearance of "Silver" King in the box for the local team. He stated to Manager Hanlon yesterday that he thought himself in good enough condition to pitch and he will be given a try. Either Seward or Young will pitch for the visitors, probably the latter. Manager Leadley is anxious to win to-day's game.

A ROW STOPPED IT.

The Seconds of Curran and Dowdy Come to Blows and Stop the Fight.

CINCINNATI, April 29.—An Anderson, Ind., dispatch says: The Curran-Dowdy mill that was to have been fought here last night broke up in a row before the fight began. Lon Reed, Curran's second, got into a dispute with Tommy Miller, Dowdy's second, over the gate receipts.

Reed, who is a large, powerful man, struck Miller, who weighs but 125 pounds, a powerful blow and knocked him across the stage. This precipitated a general row, in which Jack Hanley and others engaged. The police, with much difficulty, managed to suppress the riot. The fight was declared off, and 200 spectators, who had paid their $2 to see the fight, went away much disgusted.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—The California Athletic Club gave its monthly entertainment last night when Abe Willis, the Australian feather-weight pugilist, and Dan Mahoney, of San Francisco, met in an eight-round contest. Willis weighed 118 pounds and Mahoney 113. The latter was nearly knocked out in the third round, but managed to stay through eight rounds. Willis was awarded the contest as he had much the best of it throughout.
