Annie Hamon is at Central station without home or friends to go to. She is 20 years of age, and has with her a baby 114 years old. She came to Pittsburg Saturday evening, and applied to several charitable institutions, where she was recused admission on account of the child. Miss Hamon is a bright, fairly intelligent young woman. She was left an orphan several years ago, and soon afterward lost her brother, her last relative. She lived at Montour station, on the Lake Eric Railroad, and after her brother's death, carned a living by sewing and as a domestic. She ran away with a railroader, who afterward deserted her and went West.

She has for some time had a home with a farmer, Vance Hays, near Montour, but says she had to milk seven cows twice a day in addition to the housework, and could not stand it any longer. When she came to town Saturday night she went to the Chrictian Women's Home, the Bethesda, and one or two other institutions, but they would not admit her with the child. Agent O'Brien, of the Humane Society, sent her to the Central station, and vesterday Inspector McAleese, after investigating the ease, turned it over to Agent Dean.

The girl is quiet, honest looking, and spent the entire day yesterday reading a little pocket Bible, which she says her mother left her, and which she always carries. She is anxious to find work in a family where her child will be tolerated, for she says she will not give it up to any in-stitution while she has strength to work

CROWNED THEIR MAY QUEEN.

Beautiful Ceremony Observed at St Malachi's Church, Southside.

Yesterday afternoon, midst a wealth of flowers and with joyous hymns, the children of St. Malachi's Church, Southside, crowned their May Queen in a most appropriate manner, the Queen of Earth offering tribute to the Queen of Heaven. About 400 children shouted a welcome to the queen, attired in beautiful costumes of dazzling white, leading the way through the spacious school yard, and then perting to either side permitted their queen, Miss Annie Adams, to pass to the nitar and receive from the hands of the pastor, Rev. J. J. McTighe, a heautiful crown blessed for the purpose. She then was escorted by her maids of honor, Misses Johanna Buckley, Jennie Connelly, Alice Bridge, Katie Diskin, Annie Smyth, Maggie Swit, May and Ella Nagle, to the ett of the Virgin's altar, and there remained on her throne while Miss Rosetta O'Maliy pecited "'Tis the Month of May," in a has failed to understand him, Under proper praiseworthy manner.

The May Oueen then placed a beautiful erown on the head of the Virgin, and Father McTighe closed the day's exercises with a benediction. The Sisters of Charity who got up the celebration deserve great credit for the manner in which it was carried out.

This year they seem to be more numerous than ever they seem to be more numerous than ever they seem to be more numerous than ever before. I think it is the duty of every fisherman to carry a club or a small revolver and kill every one of these snakes he sees. Their numbers could be greatly thinned out in that way. In sending a letter to East Liberty now it is handled three times, and is taken to and from the depots at both ends in wagons. As a rule it requires almost a half day to transmit the letter, which is a great deal of time lost." Both parties to the tussle between capital and labor took a rest yesterday, and themselves and their belongings to the fields and nillsides for a change of air and association. It is too early yet to make predictions regarding the duration of the fight. If both sides are to be believed it will last till doomsday. and afterward continue in the nebular ex istence. There is, however, a strong proba bility that whichever side weakens will be licked. The Brotherhood officials report a conces sion to the new working rules on Saturday of 48 carpenter contractors and the Swift Company. In this number was one who had paid his fee for mempership in the Builders' Exchange. The men claim over 200 ceders of the new rules. One thousand three hundred and fifty-six members in 14 ocals were reported as being on strike on Friday. Saturday's report shows that this number had diminished.

Present Claims of the Strikers. The Press Committee of the carpenters called at THE DISPATCH office last evening and made the following statement regarding the present conditions of the strike:

The adoption of the present working rules of the District Council was in strict comformity with the present and past rules of the United Brotherhood and of the district constitution, which has been in force for over two years, and has never been questioned as to italegality and cannot now be declared other than legal and in comformity with the laws of the Brotherhood. The council is composed of representatives from the various local unions of the district, who are generally intelligent and fully competent to interpret the laws of the Brotherhood, and any reflection as to the honesty of the District Council is straply a reflection upon the locals and the entire membership of the district; hence any statements of unworthy members are the utterances of traitors to the organization. The reported decision of the General Executive Board can have no bearing upon the present strike or demands, because if The adoption of the present working rules of General Executive Board can have no bearing upon the present strike or demands, because it such decision was given the District Council would immediately appeal the same to a special or their next general convention, and still continue the enforcement of the demands of the present strike to the etd. The members of the district are determined that nothing shall deter them in their efforts to enforce the same, and the decision which is reported to have been given by the General Executive Board at this late date would only be the means of uniting the members more closely together in their efforts.

A Word About the Funds. As to the payment of strike benefits, we have ample funds for the emergency and can provide for the members to the extent of $19,000 o $12,000 per week if necessary. The reserve or protective fund, referred to as having been called for by the Grand Secretary, has been sent as usual to the officer of the Brotherhood whose duty it was to receive and afterward isburse it. Out of the entire membership of the district no one member has been legally reported as having returned to work under the reported as having returned to work under the old rules, while from positive information from the entire district 50 per cent more men have been granted the new rules than we counted upon or expected. As to the members of Local Union 230, so much spoken of, no one need imagine that they are dissatisfied or striving to evade the issue or demand, for they are determined almost to a man that the eight-hour rule shall prevail, and are working in harmony with the other members of the district. Any reports to the contrary are simply false. We expected that our General Secretary would have been here on last Tuesday, but he failed to be prescht. He will be here yery shortly, and the members will, no doubt, all be pleased to have him. He will be here, not to interfere with the demands, but to assist in putting them in force.

A member of the Builders' Exchange said yesterday that no change of sentiment ha occurred in that body. None of them had given in to the demands, nor would they.

MACHINISTS' CONVENTION,

The National Association of the Craft Opens Its Third Annual Gathering To-Day-Many Delegates Have Arrived-A Good Showing in Their Personnel.

The third annual convention of the National Association of Machinists will hold its opening session at 102 Fourth avenue this morning. Mayor Goorley will extend the open hand of friendship and welcome to the delegates, on behalf of the citizens, and Rev. E. R. Donehoo will offer a prayer for guidance from on high over the deliberations of the assembly. A majority of the delegates have arrived, and when the proceedings open there are expected to be between 170 and 200 representatives of the craft present. They are arriving from every end of the country, and there are also included delegates from Canada and Mexico. The appearance of these men, selected to meet in deliberation on measures for the advancement and general good of the trade is such as to indicate that the machinists' organization is composed of men second to none in point of physique, intelligent bearing, manner and speech, and as evidencing signs of prosperity for their craft in general and themselves in particular. The hundred or so who had arrived yesterday passed the day in roaming around the city and admiring nature as she appears in lovely, if limited extent, in the Allegheny parks and the entire absence of opportunity to pur-enase a cigar, or even a glass of lemonade in either city was, as usual, commented upon by the strangers with whom such every-day comforts are a matter of course in their own towns.

The National Association of Machinista has made rapid progress, both in numbers and standing as an organization, within the last few years. It is essentially an American organization of the craft, and is rapidly absorbing the members of the other society, which is governed from England, where it originated. The National Asso-ciation has now a membership of 22,000, a total it has renched since 1868, when it was first organized.

The business before the convention will be of a purely integral character. The craft is working under nine hour rules, remunerative pay, and the members are stated to be content. The name of the asso-ciation will be changed from National to International to cover the widening scope of its membership. The local committee of rangements has done some clever work i preparation, and yesterday the delegates vere not slow in expressing their appreciation of the efforts in this direction of President George W. Kirk, Mickael Blun-don and their aids. There will be a grand banquet on Friday night at the Central Hotel, which is the

Some time later five lots were bought where the present church now stands and a chapel was built at a cost of $1,500, which was dedicated on April 17, 1881, The congregation was organized on April 28 of the same year with 79 members. The lecture room of the church was dedicated on Thanksgiving Day, 1883, by Dr. Agnew, of Philadelphia. The main audience room was dedicated on September 7, 1884, by Dr. James Moffett. Since the

The list of successful applicants is now in the hands of the official stenographer, and will be handed down to-day.

Special Officer Kelly, of the Southside district, made a raid on the speak-easy run by Mrs. Ellen Monahan at 2832 Cary alley about 1 o'clock yesterday, and Mrs. Monahan and seven visitors were captured. After the prisoners had been loaded in the patrol wagon, in turning the vehicle, one rear wheels caught in the gutter, breaking the wheel and compelling the officers to walk the prisoners to the station house When the procession reached Twenty-third street one of the prisoners named Jenkins took a fit. His partner, who was hand-cuffed with him, assisted the officer o carry him to the station. On their arrival Inspector McKelvey released Daily for giving his assistance at a time when he could have caused considerable trouble. This is the second raid made on Mrs. Monahan's place within five weeks. She is under bail for court on the first raid, and will be given a hearing to-day on the second charge.

The police raided two alleged Hungarian "speak-easies" at Soho yesterday. The first one was that of Steve Karris, at the corner of Second avenue and Canton street where the proprietor and ten Hungarians were arrested. The other house was on Lawn street, Fourteenth ward, where John Norrisky, the proprietor, and six men were captured.

ACCUSES HIS COUSIN.

Frank Perrino's House Broken Open an His Money Gone.

Frank Perrino, who lives at 1213 Liberty street, was robbed of about $300 last evening, and Antonio Perrino, his consin, is in Central station charged with the theft. Frank Perrino and his wife went out walking about 6 o'clock, locking up the house. They returned in about an hour and found the rear door had been pried open with a hatchet, and a trunk on the second floor has been broken into. The trunk had contained Perino's money, but the money was gone.

Antonio had been boarding with his cousin, who alleges that he was the only person who knew where the money was kept. Antonio only had $5 on him when d about 9 o'clock by Detective Dem mil and Officer Oliver Peoples. He denies the theft and the police are investigating the case.

Trunks Filled With Sliver Still selling. More and more this gift is being left to the immediate family, and what could be more sensible than a noble trunk filled with silver of heavy and handsome silver spoons and forks? An heirloom for future generations. This is an "old English idea," and it is one that abounds in the hard common sense of our ancestors. We can handsomely furnish a trunk at any price up to $1,000. one-fourth the resistance of a common iron wire, and, electrically speaking, only one-fourth as long. The work on the copper wire was excellent, remains to be seen if would be as well on the common telegraph wire. The first few moments were spent in a conversation between the operators, firing little pleasantries at each other at a good safe distance. The messages are instantan-

In conversation, a New York politician who has just returned from Albany, says that Governor Hill will undoubtedly be a candidate for re-election to the Governorship. This movem is considered necessary by the friends of Hill in order to keep him in the line of promotion to the Presidency. The Governor begins to realize that he has made a mistake in accept-ing the Senatorship; and that unless he can make a successful race for the Governorship he will be out of the Presidental field entirely. This co pinion that Hill's strength lies in the por sion of the Executive chair of New York. His friends have no doubt of his carrying New York in another Gubernatorial contest against CHARLES T. MURRAY. NEW YORK, May 3.

How the Machines Work. The writing telegraph machines have peretofore been used in delivering baseball cores to various places, here and in othe cities, and by many it is thought that these scores have come direct from the cities in which the games were being played. That s a mistake. The scores are received via the Postal Telegraph, and an operator in each city sent the results around the circuit on the writing telegraph machines, 13 of which have been in use in Pittsburg and Allegheny. Chief Operator Hughes, of the Postal Telegraph Company here, was asked what effect the writing telegraph would nave in general telegraph business, to which he replied:

"It will have no effect except some slight difference in a commercial way, Business houses can be connected with branches or other business houses with which they have considerable business. It has its advantages in that a record can b kept of everything, and two men can hold a conversation which will be accurate. Of course, for regular business I don't think it will have any effect. Communication can be established in smaller towns than now reached by the telegraph companies because of the slight expense. It works very well on a copper wire, but it has never been tried on the iron wires."

Obstacles in the Way of Success. There are numerous obstacles in the way of the success of the writing telegraph. The machine must be stationed on a good solid foundation, and the least jar bothers its workings. On a windy day there would b even more trouble than in ordinary tele-graphy. The company hopes to get its ma-chine into even better working condition than at present.

It requires about one hour's practice to become an operator of the writing telegraph machine. It is ordinary long-hand writing, but each letter must be made in exactly the same place. The narrow paper tape on which the message is recorded moves along for each letter. The pen is not lifted from the paper, but between the words is a hair-
