MISSED A FORTUNE.

A Coke Operator Who Had an Opportunity to Make Several Millions in a Short Time, but

HE COULDN'T FURNISH THE COKE.

An Investment of a Quarter Enables a Drummer to Learn How to Surely Become a Rich Man.

LITTLE EVIDENCE OF RUINED CROPS.

Interesting Conversations Gathered by Reporters in Their Walks.

Mr. Sherrick, of Pennsville, an individual operator who has been producing coke since the business started, was at the Central Hotel yesterday. He was lucky enough to make a dicker with his men, and his plant has not been idle during the strike. It was a case of make or break with him, and he made. He broke away from Frick and took contracts for himself, which he had to fulfill in a certain time or lose them. He had some trouble with the lubor leaders, but an agreement was soon patched up.

On the strike Mr. Sherrick said: "The men are sure to lose the fight. If Frick & Co. give in this time it means they are besten in the future, and they will have to listen to the dictation of their men. The fact is, just enough coke is being made now to supply the market, and as long as the present conditions exist the men must surely lose. When the strike first commenced I received a cartload of letters for coke, but with my 90 ovens I couldn't begin to fill the orders. If I had had the coke I could have made a fortune. Now I don't get as many letters, and the orders

"The furnaces are still shut down, but a few would start if they had a chance and could get the coke. In this strike the man who has the money will win. The bread and butter is sure to play out first. I think the coke operators have made a reasonable offer to labor, and I believe the men want to go to work. The leaders also are to bound to lose heavily in the end.
"With business so dull, when it revives it will come with a rush. The present de-pression makes it very favorable for a good trade in the future. These strikes can't continue forever, and with each one capital and labor get to understand each other bet-

NOT A GREAT DEAL OF PAIN.

Mr. Breck Has a Few Things to Say About Broken Legs.

E. Y. Breck broke his leg several months ago. He is now limping around on crutches, which he expects to throw away in a short time. The limb suffered two tractures and they were peculiar breaks.

"Did I suffer much pain?" he said yesterday, taking up the reporter's question. "Well, no, a broken bone is not painful. It is annoying. It confines you to your home, and the limb grows tired of being confined in a box. I suffered the most pain when the coverings were taken off. The muscles were cramped and stiff, and in getting back to their former position they caused me considerable suffering. As for the bone, it didn't bother me much when it was knitting, and at this time it is supposed to be most painful."

This only demonstrates what doctors frequently preach, but which suffering humanity is loth to believe, that the most humanity is loth to believe, that the most seasitive nerves are on the surface of the body, and in surgical operations there is less pain after the external covering is cut through an the heavy muscles and bones are encountered.

Fifth avenue, nearly opposite Newell's, also did a land office business, especially in the evening. It is also handsomely fitted up. The "Normandie," Arnold & Munn proprietors, Second avenue and Smithfield street, was largely patronized. The first

WHAT MAKES AN ACTOR

The Great Ones Are Blessed With a Strong Personality.

"I find," said a theatrical critic yesterday, "that great actors, whether tragedians or comedians, are simply themselves in any part they play. They have a certain individuality that is marked and is easily recognized under any guise. It is the flavor of their personality which is so fascinating. Jefferson has no preconceived ideal of Bob Acres which he tries to imitate, but he is

Now I have been listening to Barrymore and Stoddart this afternoon. Barrymore is an imitator of ideals. He figures out in his nd what a certain character should be, and then he tries to twist himself into that shape. Stoddart is himself. He is a great old man. He is gifted with an individuality, and he exerts it in any part he plays That is the difference between the two men.

CAUGHT BY AN OLD TRICK.

A Drummer Gives a Quarter for a Piece of Stock Advice.

"I'm a sure bloke," said an angry drummer at the Anderson yesterday. He is one of the young fellows who are governed by nigns, believe in luck and are easily duped. "Read that," he shouted to Clerk Wells, as he threw a crumpled piece of paper on the counter. It was an answer to an advertisement about how to get wealthy by "sending us a quarter." This is the answer the drummer received, and was the cause of his wrath: "Work hard, save every dol-lar, and never spend a cent. If you follow this rule, young man, you are sure to be-The adviser evidently had printed this reply on slips of paper, which he sent to all his dupes. It is an old game, but certainly not yet worked out.

HOPEFUL OF THE CROP.

Mr. Smith Thinks the Fruit Hasn't Been Hurt Very Much.

"I have been examining the buds since the cold snap," remarked Percy F. Smith, yesterday, "and I dont believe the frost has hurt the fruit trees very much. Garden stuff is away back while the trees were far advanced in their budding. If the weather hasn't hurt my orchards I will have to prop up the limbs of my apple and quince trees. The crop promised to be the largest in the history of Chartiers township The country is looking very pretty at present. The quince trees look like big bo-

AMERICAN LABOR AND MATERIAL.

A TIN PLATE PLANT

No Foreigners Will Be Allowed to Own Any Stock in the Concern.

AN ESTABLISHMENT OF MUCH PROMISE

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 .- The McKinley bill in its relation to the manufacture of tin plate in this country is striking very close to Philadelphia. A great company, most of the incorporators of which are Philadelphians, has been organized, and will soon be incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania for the purpose of the manufacture of tin and terne plates, black plate, taggers and sheet steel, with a capital of $1,000,000, with the power to increase this.

The chairman of the Board of Directors of the new company is F. R. Phillips, who said last night that the mills will be located in the neighborhood of this city on one of the main lines. Four mills will be erected at first with a product of 2,000 boxes of finished plates per week, and it is proposed as soon as possible to increase the plant to 20 mills with a product of 10,000 boxes per week, or a total yearly product of 500,000 boxes.

His Poor Farm Ordinance Is Affirmatively Foreigners Are Not Wanted. It is declared that the company will be thoroughly American, and that no Welsh-man, unless he has become a naturalized American, will ever be allowed to be a stockholder. Neither will any Welsh, or other the purchase of a new poor farm. After the alien employes be engaged, unless they are citizens, or have declared their intention of ordinance had been read Mr. McEidowney becoming citizens. It is also proposed to give skilled workmen a pro rata percentage front, as it made the ordinance too restrictive. Chief Elliot explained that a river of the profits.

The promoters of the enterprise are among the largest business men of this city, and they are going shead in a systematic way to build and operate their plants on the same lines as those followed in the great mills of South Wales, and the product of the Pennsylvania mills will also be the same as those of South Wales. The development of the tin mines of this country does not enter into this enterprise, although the promoters will probably become interested in the de-velopment of the mines in Virginia and the

The bulk of the mines in virginia and the Black Hills as individuals.

The bulk of the pig tin that will be used in the making of the tin plates will be imported from the mines of Australia and the was also opposed to a river front. He amended that the Committee on Charities, in conjunction with the Chief, look over the sites offered. This was lost, as was also an Straits of Malacca. Mr. Phillips says that the reports from the tin mines of Virginia and Dakota for the supply of pig tin for all the new mills that are springing up in the country since the passage of the McKinley bill are favorable. The mines, he declares, show pienty of metal, and all they need is

NEW RESTAURANTS OPENED.

Mr. Phillips corrected the false and general impression that most of the tin used in plating steel came from England. As a matter of fact not an ounce of tin comes from England. It all comes from Australia and the Straits of Malacca. An analysis shows that the tiu of this country is of a finer quality than that of Cornwall.

Where Tin Comes From.

The tin from the East Indies that will first be used in the Pennsylvania mills can be brought to this country cheaper than to the mills in South Wales. "The plant that will be erected near Philadelphia," said Mr. Philips, "will be big enough to successfully compete with the biggest in South Wales. There is a great rush of capital into the tin plate business since the passage of the McKiniey hill, and more especially since the Republican victories in the recent election. A large number of ness-almost enough, in fact, to make up for the Saturday they missed. The streets were thronged with people during the day and evening, and it seemed as if it was by prearrangement that so many flocked to the newly opened places. Newell's restaurant, in its new location on Fifth avenue, in the old DISPATCH building, was crowded throughout the day and evening. The beauty and elaborateness of the fixtures attracted a great deal of admiration. Plus Keller's new restaurant, on Fifth the recent election. A large number of smaller tin plate mills will soon be in operation in the South. Refineries are also going up for treating the tin eres of Dakota."

My little grandson having been cured of an eosema by the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I was prevailed upon by my wife and daughters to try it myself for a distressing skin malady that has been the bane of my life for twenty years.

It required a good deal of persuasion to get me to try it, for I arrued that a man seventy years of age could not be cured by the same remedy that a two-year-old child was. I was perfectly astonished at the result, however. In one week my eruption had nearly disappeared and in two weeks there was not a vestige of it left. A transformation took place from a leprous to a fine, healthy skin. My head, before I commenced the use of the CUTICURA HEMEDIE. was covered with scales and patches of dead skin, which I could pull off in pleces the size of a dime, while from my elbows, knees, and other parts of my body. I could detach strips the size of a half dollar. My head had such an appearance that I avoided society, but now, thanks to the CUTICURA REMEDIE., lean once more go out with comfort, and enjoy all she pleasure of society with a satisfaction I was long a stranger to.

Many people were no doubt surprised that Dr. Byers let so good an opportunity as the "La Grippe" afforded to advertise himself and his practice go by, when the papers were full of advertisements of empirical treatments and patent medicine cure-alls. But his time to speak had not yet arrived. He goes on the principle never to advertise treatment for any disease unless he is sure he can do some good, and all nose and throat specialists know that during the acute inflammatory stages of la grippe local treatment was worse than useless. Nearly one-half of all Dr. Byers' catarrhal patients suspended treatment by his advice during the epidemic, as he considered it imperative for them to stay closely indoors. This honest stand on his part has won him the confidence of all right. hinking patients.

Wm, C. Byers, M. D., No. 421 Penn Aven

Dr. Byers and his associates have employed electricity in the treatment of suitable cases continuously during the past six years with considerable benefit. When carefully and scientifically applied there is no doubt of its great therapeutic value in certain chronic allments, such as muscular rheumalism, neuralgia, partial paralysis and nervous affectious. This branch of Dr. Byers' practice is in charge of an experienced specialist, a graduate of the
