THE KAISER'S LORDLY SPEECHES

IBY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY. BERLIN, May 10 .- The report which the Freisinnige party circulated that the Emperor had personally written to Prince Bismarck, accusing him of closing his eyes to the Guelph fund speculations, is said to be untrue. But the Emperor did express himself in very severe terms on the subject at a dinner party given at the royal castle and also on a similar occasion at the house of Minister Boetticher. That gentleman, by the way, was also the recipient of an autograph letter from the Kasser, in which the distinguished correspondent handled Bis-marck's financial administration without gloves. It is understood that Herr von Boetticher has permission to lose this precious letter one of these fine days in the presence of somebody who will be unscrupulous enough to make use of it.

This would seem to indicate that the Kaiser is not above taking his cue from Bismarck. The latter has threatened to publish the Emperor's correspondence during the illness of Frederick II. The letter to Herr Boetticher is a kind of Damocles' aword suspended over the head of the ex-Chancellor. It is a case of mine and coun-

I tolerate no other will." The kinglets are reminded that on another occasion William II. said: "The Brandenburgers must follow their margrave through thick and thin." The Kaiar's haughty "sic volc sic jubeo" has also been revived in the memory of his vassals, and his threat, "I will crush whomsoever dares to oppose sill rings in their ears.

When in Bonn recently, the Kaiser denied his Borussea student's uniform of white leather breeches, Wellington boots, black velvet jacket and little round cap, and unexpectedly made his appearance at the "commers" of his "corps brethren," as they are called. He participated in the beer-drinking, as of old, and smoked the huge pipe, in conformity with time-honored burge pipe, in conformity with time-honored custom, though he doubtless knew and dreaded the after effects. The Cologne festivities have not been entirely free from unpleasantness. It appears that the managers of the Curzenich banquet contracted with a firm of French champagne growers for the supply of that particular wine which the firm agreed not to charge for, on condition that no other brand of champage was to be drunk on that festive occasion. The Kaiser heard of the arrange-ment, which was in entire disregard of his own incredible passion for the villainous German fizz, and at the last moment ordered that only Rhine wine should appear at the banquet. The French firm has threatened to sue the committee for breach of contract, and the progress of the action is being eager-

The New Rifle Adopted for the Germa Army Is a Terrible One. [BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.]

BERLIN, May 10 .- A party of infantry reserves at the Friedrichstrasse railway station yesterday was waiting for a train to take them back to their home. One of their number, an elderly man, was indignant with the newspapers for talking so glibly about the "coming war" and the aggressive policy which it was Germany's duty to "I have fought at Koenigsgratz and Sedan," he said, "but that was mere child's play to what the next war will be. That new rifle which we have just been testing is almost too horrible a weapon to use against any enemy.

The old man was questioned about the new rifle, and it was learned that the bullet, which is scarcely an inch long and about as thick as a good-sized cigarette, will pierce earthworks of 70 centimeters thickness at a distance of 150 meters. At 170 meters distance it made a passage through five full knapsacks placed in echelon. Fired from a distance of 2,050 meters, the bullet will penetrate a human body.

CONVENTION WITH SPAIN. ne of the Provisions of the Agreeme Negotiated by Mr. Fost

MADRID, May 10 .- General John W. Foster, the American reciprocity envoy, having failed in his negotiations for a general treaty between Spain and the United States, suggested a secret treaty, which also failed to meet the approval of the Spanish Ministry. He therefore agreed to conclude a simple convention on the basis O'Donell proposed for a treaty. This convention necessarily comprises a double tariff—the first commencing on July 1, and enduring till the Spanish treaties with other powers are annulled in July, 1892, when the second comes into operation. The convention provides for the free entry into the United States of sugar, honey, cocoa, coffee and skins from the Spanish West Indies; tobacco and iron ore paying the duty ex-acted by the new United States tariff. In exchange Spain's colonies in the West Indies are to receive American coal, ice, wood, boots, shoes, fresh and salt meats and fish, either free or under small duty, while butter and drippings are entirely exempt, and the duty on flour is reduced from $3 50 to $1 per daty on flour is reduced from $3.50 to $1 per barrel with the same reduction on corn.

The tariff on drygoods and husbandry machinery will afford the United States no material advantage till 1892, because any privileges accorded will be reaped by Great Britain, France, Germany and Belgium under "favored nation" treaties, thus injuring America's future interests. Competent authorities calculate that Cuba will suffer a reduction in customs receipts of suffer a reduction in customs receipts of $500,000 monthly under the convention.

PARNELL'S SPEECH

THY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY. DUBLIN, May 10 .- Mr. Parnell addressed a large meeting to-day at Mullingar, West-meath. At the masses in the various churches in the district the priests warned the people not to listen to the words of Parneil, and even went so far as to beg them to stay in their houses, so as to keep out of hearing of the procedings. In some cases the warnings had the desired effect, but for all that Parnell had a large audience. He dealt with the land bill of Balfour, which, he declared, deserved the most lavorable consideration of the people, as it was one of the most important which had ever been produced into Parliament for the benefit of the Irish tenants, and simed at a final settlement of the land difficulty.

The bill, he said, was modeled on proposals he had made a year ago, which were not adopted by Mr. Balfour. Mr. Bexton

Attempted Arson Is Pollowed by Murder in West Virginia.

AVE NEWS FROM THE THREE STATES

SCOTTDALE, May 10.—To-day has been another quiet Sunday in the coke region. With the exception of two or three local meetings the region is resting in a peaceful mood. About the only hustling that is being done is by the bosses. A number are reported as out among the strikers trying to induce drivers to return to work. This kind of labor they are sorely in need of. Anyone known to be experienced with horses can command most any price he may demand. At the Leisenrings yester-day numbers of miners were refused em-ployment on account of not having haul-ers to take the coal from the mines. Adjutant General McClelland left the region Saturday evening after inspecting the Morewood and Central mines. It is reported he intended visiting several other mines Monday, but was given notice by the coke companies that his and the labor agitators' presence at the works as a "smelling committee" was not wanted and would not be tolerated. The courtey extended so far as permitting him to investigate the charges of cruel treatment at Morewood and Central was considered sufficient to convince him that the charges were false and made only to work upon the credulity of the Governor.

The general managers and works superintendents feel quite encouraged to-day. They say unless agitators get around a number of the men and do mischief there will be a great mob of strikers for work to-morrow morning. They claim numerous delegaticus visited the offices Saturday evening and made application for work. In every case they were employed except at places where work is crippled for the want of haulers. While these places are, of course, tew, it is a great drawback to the operators in their effort to break the strike. In citing evidence that the strike is going to places, and that it will be oversoon, an operator said:

"When you see men, during a strike, moving from one works to another, you can safely say the strike don't last and that there is a general disposition to give up the battle. Last week there were no less than 30 families moved from one works to another and went to work. The object is possibly to lose their identity and probably avoid the agitators in calling them lacklegs. But when they resort to this, you can always tell they have enough and want to go to work. That is the situation now, and the return to work would be general did not the leaders continue to keep up a feeling of fear."

They landed with the fixed determination of defying arrest. HARRISBURG, May 10 .- If the Legislature is to adjourn on May 28, as now appears to be the general impression, there are a number of things which must be gone about at once, and in earnest, if they are to be done at all. Not one of the pledges made to the people by both parties in the last campaign has as yet been fulfilled, and if they are to be carried out in the spirit, if not in the letter, of the promise, it is time an earnest effort was made in that direc-

The men gathered together in an irregular squad, expecting the officers of the Tiona and Lady Glover to make the first move, but the latter, having instructions of reinforcements by the steamer, Conscript remained passive. Amended to Death.

Ballot reform, after passing the House with a hurrah, is changed in the Senate Committee until it is practically unrecognizable, and even its friends repudiate it. The Taggart tax bill, prepared by a costly commission, while just and fair in its central idea and main provisions, is loaded down by two or three foolish and unnecessary requirements which lay it open to the charge of being "inquisitorial" and "impracticable," and such a storm has been raised on these inconsequential features as now seems likely to de cat the whole measure. It would have been infinitely better to have amended the bill in the House, and yielded on these points, than to lose it entirely. Even should the Boyer bill, increasing the State tax on capital stock, be substituted and passed, it will, while in a measure relieving the farming elements of their burden, never satisfy them, for it is simply adhering to the taxing of corporate property the clearing houses for the week ending adhering to the taxing of corporate property by the State authorities only, while the country demands that it be brought under the taxing power of the local authorities. The appropriation for roads has not yet passed, and even if the Governor signs the passed, and even if the Governor signs the road law it is a question whether the State should furnish money to be practically wasted under its loose and defective requirements. The free school book bill is not yet a law, nor is that providing for State support for the indigent insane, although its passage seems probable. The amount to be granted the public schools has not been fixed. The revision of the mining laws for both butuminous and anthracits regions has yet to be performed. The bills were prepared by commissions created at the cost of the State, and speedy action is necessary to secure their passage.

Will Soon Go Through. Will Soon Go Through.

Will Soon Go Through.

The apportionment bills are fairly well under way, and will likely all go through in the shape the majority wants them passed, unless the Senatorial bill strikes a anag in the Senate. Appropriation bills are in good shape, so far as the House is concerned, and as the Senate works more rapidly than the Lower House, they will soon be got out of the way. Scores of general bills on both calendars must of necessity iail. Nobody will be greatly disappointed, except those whose introduced them and their constituents at home who desire them, but the State won's suffer from their failure to become laws.

But upon the questions of ballot reform, But upon the questions of ballot reform, tax equalization, roads, schools, free text books and the various other measures which were promised the people, the Legislature has not yet sized up to the requirements of the hour, and unless it takes hold of its duty in earnest during the few days which yet remain in which it has to do its work, adjournment will find it with pledges unfulfilled and duties not performed. For this filled and duties not performed. For this there will be a responsibility which some one will have to bear. HENRY HALL.

NEW YORK, May 10.—A stabbing affray which bears a strong resemblance to the work of the Mafia occurred Friday night in the Italian quarier in West Hoboken. Almost the only things definitely known about the case are the names of the man who was stabbed and the probability that his wounds are fatal. The victim is Louis Persetti a silk water the house of the man who was a stabbed and the probability that his wounds are fatal. wounds are fatal. The victim is Louis Peretti, a silk weaver who boarded in Spring street. He had given up his employment and made arrangements to sail for Italy yesterday. Friday evening he was the center of a group of excited Italians at West and Hague streets. Suddenly two of the Italians seized him, one on each side, and a third plunged a stiletto into his breast and neck.
Some of the other Italians interfered and saved him from being murdered outright.
Peretti refuses to disclose the names of Peretti refuses to disclose the names of his assailants or make any complaint against them. A resident of the Italian quarter advanced the theory yesterday that Peretti was possessed of some secret that his assailants feared he might divulge when he reached Italy and they decided to kill him.
