A PANICKY FEELING

In the European Money Markets With Fears of Impending Trouble.

PORTUGAL SECURITIES GO DOWN.

Paris Financiers Suffer the Most in the Present Crisis.

LISBON BUSINESS AT A STANDSTILL BY THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE OF

[BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.] LONDON, May 12.—The money markets of Europe in general are undoubtedly in a panicky condition, and that of London in rticular, has been in a fit of terror for the ast few days while rumors have been rife of the weakness of several houses, and one of a big bank. The causes which have led up to this condition of affairs are particu-larly interesting at this time. To-day's news from Paris, which is the chief sufferer by the suspension in Portugal, created further alarm. The London market, however, has been a constant bear on Portuguese stocks for several months past, and had it not been for this fact these securities would have failen much more heavily than they have.

Paris is the chief sufferer in the matter as the Parisians have recently taken the finanubles of Portugal upon their own shoulders, with the most disastrous re ults. The keenest alarm has been created among the holders of all internations cks, and as heavy sales have resulted from hese growing fears, other markets have been more or less adversely affected. Loaded With Foreign Securities

It is generally recognized that one of the easons for the depression in our market has been the persistent selling through the crisis in London last autumn, and tring the later weakness in Berlin, Paris resented a bold front and bought stocks r, and this went on until quite recently, I not matter who was the seller of m securities, Paris was the buyer, and scalt is the operators of that city are d up with foreign securities of all de-tions including even South American Bourse may beable to right itself

The Bourse may be able to right itself ithout going through any great disaster, at it must be owned that the position must be owned that the position must be made to be are interested in the securifies of for an governments. It is well known that he or two large operators have had to be sisted recently, and it is believed that may more are cartying inconveniently say loads of stocks. South American isses fell in sympathy with the general mart today. It is now stated on good authory that the guaranteers of Baring Bres. will use to pay at least 10 to 15 per cent of the bilities, which were $22,00,000.

At a Standstill is Lisbon. At a Standstill ly Lisbon.

A dispatch from Lisbon says: Business is at a standstill in consequence of the financial crisis. In an interview the Finance Minister said, regarding the Portuguese loan, that alagh it has failed in Portural the whole unt had been taken in Paus. Up to this he had received 100,000 francs, of which unt 75,000 francs remained abroad to pay torcken holders of the floating debt. Been £5,000,000 and £6,000,000 in Inglish gold reency were at present looked up in al. It would no doubt be better to have uses gold and currency issend of english sovereigns, but Portigal pos-no gold mines, and to expert gold mail was not desirable. The governcould therefore be compelled to use gold and currency. It was intended, er, to issue silver coins superior in to those now in circulation. the conse now in circumation. True that the Government is passing in a serious financial crisis, but hippes ertained that all difficulties will be ally overcome. It is reported that it of Portugal has authorized the lenotes of the face value of dollars if dollars.

VERNEY FORMALLY EXPELLED. The Motion Made by William Henry Smith

and Seconded by a Liberal. ONDON, May 12.-William Henry Smith mons to-day, in moving to expel Captain Edmund H. Verney, member for North Buckinghamshire, from the House, in consequence of his being sentenced to one year's imprisonment for immoral conduct, asked the Speaker of the House, Right Honorable y Peel, whether Captain Verney would follow the usual course and attend, on a special order, and answer the charges brought against him. The Speaker, charges trought against him. The Speaker, in reply, said that Captain Verney had been convicted on his own confession, and that the House should take this into consideration and come to the agreement that the presence of Captain Verney was not necessary in order to formally expel him from the Mause of Captain Verney was not necessary in order to formally expel him from the

THE PRINCE OF WALES' DEBTS.

Victoria Is to Pay Them but the Notorlety Is Offensive.

BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY, LONDON, May 12.—Edmund Yates, the editor of the society paper the World, apologizes in the columns of his journal to-day for an article which appeared in it last week stating that the Queen was going to pay the debts of the Prince of Wales. The story which is current of His Royal Highness nancial difficulties is perfectly true, but Mr. Yates has incurred the royal displeasure Mr. Yates has incurred the royal displeasure by publishing it. The Prince threatened that he would never know Mr. Yates again and demanded an apology for its publication. The credit of the younger members of the royal family is not, seemingly, quite first-class. His Royal Highness recently wanted to berrow £5.60, and applied to Mr. Sam Jewis, the great money lender, to see if he would oblige him. Mr. Lewis, however, refused the request, and said when spoken to in reference to it: "It would be too long to walt until he came to the throne, and besides it was too risky."

EUROPEAN POLICE METHODS.

They Try to Make Students Appear as Rev lutionists.

(BY DUNLAP'S CABLE COMPANY.) Wansaw, May 12 .- An extraordinary occur rence has just thrown a strong light upon Russian methods in Holland. General Brock, chief of the gendarmes here, ordered the secret police to visit the students' quarters, the General himself accompanying them to scarch certain designated houses. Having scarch certain designated houses. Having found nothing, he went back to his quarters, where he awaited the return of the police. Not being satisfied with the faith of the latter, tieneral Brock had them on their arrival scarched in turn with the astounding result that their pockets were found to be filled with the most seditious proclamations, revolutionary harrangues and other treason-

This the police evidently proposed to strew about the students' rooms, in order to have an excise for their subsequent arrest, but the presence of General Brock prevented them from carrying out the plan.

GRIP SPREADING IN ENGLAND.

Mr. Gladstone Still Feverish, but His Condition Is Favorable.

FINANCIAL PRINCES DUPED PINTER, THE AMERICAN.

How He Was Trapped by a Jeweler-Method Partly Exposed in Court—It In-cludes a Stench so Bad as to Drive Away the Curious.

Away the Curious.

Loxdon, May 12.—Edward Pinter, alias Sheeny Al, also said to be known in New York under the name of Sondheim, the American swindler who has been reaping gold in Europe by pretending to be possessed of the mythical stone, was again under examination to-day at the Marlborough Police Court, charged with attempting to obtain $40,000 by false pretenses from Edwin Streeter, the well-known Bond street

Streeter, the well-known Bond street jeweler.

Pinter, who was arrested May 4, had previously induced Streeter to go to his (Pinter's) bedroom at Storay's Hotel, where, so as to test the American's claim, Streeter handed Pinter a sovereign which the latter threw into a crucible, covered it with some kind of a powder, and after appearing to neel: it pulled out a lump of gold equal in weight to about three sovereigns. "Sheeny Al," as Pinter is known to Inspector Byrnes, of New York, then suggested that Streeter should furnish him with $000 sovereigns, which he would transform by the use of the philosopher's stone into gold weighing $1,000 sovereigns or equal to a sum of $20,000. Streeter appeared to agree to this, and asked that Pinter should go to his (Streeter's) jewelry works in order to further test the power of the wonderful stone. Pinter consented and appeared there May 4, placed 20 sovereigns in a crucible, covered them with the powder, and placed the crucible and its contents in a heated furnace. Streeter, however, became suspicious, and as the gold was simmering he gave a signal which brought two Scotland Yard detectives from their place of concealment in the workshop, and Pinter was placed under arrest.

In court the next morning, the presiding

ment in the workshop, and Pinter was placed under arrest.

In court the next morning, the presiding Magistrate said that it was just possible tha: Pinter might have discovered some method of increasing the weight of gold. Pinter, cheered by the Magistrate's remark, insisted that he could increase the weight of gold, and asked if it was just that he should be compelled to divulge his secret in court.

In the police court to day Mr. Avery, for the prosecution, stated that the tricks the prisoner used were of the most simple nature possible. He made it a condition of his "experiments" that the sovereigns were to remain in the composition which he used for a certain time. The prisoner, Mr. Avery said, would then use materials which produced such a horrible steuch that everybody present at the "experiment" was glad to rush away. When they returned to ascertain the result of the American's work they found the prisoner and the sovereigns gone. Seven years ago, Mr. Avery added, Pinter played this trick with sugess in Liverpool. He then managed to get hold of 500 sovereigns and vanished. Pinter, it seems, has also performed his tricks in other countries. The hearing was then again adjourned.

Among those who are said to have been the victims of Pinter's philosopher's stone, the names of a member of the firm of Baring Brothers are mentioned.
