by the aspirant pennant winners. The contest was somewhat of a curious one and was witnessed by 2,300 people. The private boxes were well filled and the grand stand seats had nearly 50 per cent of the audience. Titls tickled both Messrs. Mutrie and O'Neil. The weather was excellent, and although the very unsatisfactory defeat of the Giauts had a ing effect on Mutric, the paying attendan

Palmer take water in the way of ing a $5 hat on the issue. But almost at the wagering a $5 hat on the issue. But almost at the very start the ardor of James was awfully dampened as the score stood 5 to 0 in the fourth inning in favor of the home players. At this stage of the proceedings the contest looked very one-sided indeed, but in a very short time matters were so much evened up that Mutric was trotting from one private box to another confidentially telling everybody what tremendous finishers his men were. vas not a brilliant one by any mean m played as they can play. Each it mistakes, but those of the visitors her team played as they can pay, de great mistakes, but those of the visitors inched to such an extent in the second inhat four unearded rains were made. But es are all counsed in the game and it is only the Glants, like other people, can make hat often sankes matters interesting. Sharrott very well indeed, but his shortcomings be clearly seen in the second inning two sails were recorded that would have sails were recorded that would have sails were recorded that would have sailed pitches had they not been the third. On both occasions the batters had two called and the hall was pitched so while that the struck at them and reached first base as a A similar occurrence happened in the inning, with King at hat. This accounts for rike's three passed balls. But the home ers couldn't do much with Sharrott. The Giant is quite a tough citizen, and if his rival iterday, Mr. King, had not touched him up three-bagger at a very opportune stage our night have been left to blie the dust. here might have been left to hife the dust.

King pitched a fairly good game and only in one inning were liberties freely taken with his delivery. That was in the sixth, and the inning ought to have ended with only two hits against him had the fielding been good. The silver haired young man gave onlookers and the Gianus to piahily understand that he can pitch ball yet, and in the early part of the game, when he was in something like his wonted form, the big people had little use for him. He not only pitched well, but he did good basiness with the sitck, as he knocked out a triple and made two sacrifices that contributed toward run-getting.

They Fielded Very Well.

They Fielded Very Well.

He was also fairly well supported. Beckley, Bierbauer and Reilly each fielded very well. Bierbauer and Reilly each fielded very well. Bierbauer made a remarkable one-handed catch of a terrific liner from Connor's bat.

Mutric after the game had much fault to find with the umpire's decisions and doubtless there were stages where the judgment of Mr. Hurst seemed considerably astray, but his errors. If errors they were, were impartially made. He treated both sides alike.

The home players were the first to commence run getting and they did it in a way that looked as if there would never be the least doubt about the result of the contest. In the second inning Bierbauer led off with a single to center field and reached second on a passed bail. Hanlom followed and sent out a fly to Whistler and the latter numfed it, Bierbauer going to third and Hanlom to second on the error. Mack's sacrifice scored Rierbauer and then Reilly struck out but reached first on a passed third strike, Hanlom scoring. King now appeared and banged out a corker down right field for three bases, seering Beilly, Miller's secrifice scored King. Beckley got his base on balls and Browning made a single to right, but Carroll ended the inning by going out at first.

The next run was made in the fourth inning, Reilly reached first on a fumble by Sharrott, and King's sacrifice sent him to second. Miller's fly was campht by Whistler, and then Reilly scored on Beckley's single. Where the Visitors Scored.

The visitors got down to work in the fifth. After O'Rourke was out Bassett made a single to center and reached second on Hanlon's fumble. Whistle's sacrifice sent Bassett to third and he scored on a single by Sharrott.

In the sixth the Giants began to make the local people tremble and J. Palmer turned a little pale. Richardson commenced with a two-bagger to left, and reached third on Tiernan's sacrifice. Glasscock then swiped out a double to left, scoring Richardson, "Honest" Jack got to third on Mack's wild throw to second. Connor's fly was caught by Beckley, and O'Bourke reached first on a wild throw by Reilly to first, Glasscock scoring, Bassett kept up the inerry war by cracking a single into center field. Then came Whistler with another two-bagger into Carroll's territory. O'Rourke scered, and Bassett tried to do the same, but was apabbed at the plate, retiring the side amid great excitement. Bassett claimed that Reilly interfered with him at third base, but Umpire Hurst would not allow the claim. Had Bassett's run counted the score would have been tied with Whistler on third.

In the mint Reilly led off with a hit, and scored.

New York at Pittsburg. Philadelphia at Clevelan Boston at Chicago. Brookiyn at Cincinnat

CHICAGO, May 12.—It is now almost assured that Elmer Foster will be a Cincinnati player before the week is out. John T. Brush and President Jim week is out. John T. Brush and President Jim Hart have been in active correspondence the last week relative to the matter, and everything is arranged. Foster was seen by President Hart and agreed to the transfer to the Queen City under certain conditions, all of which have been compiled with. A telegram is expected daily from Brush telling the local club to close the deal and sign Foster for Cincinnati. Edmer will probably play center field in place of Slattery, who has not made a favorable impression ou Queen City cranks.

AND still our bigs luggers don't slug. REILLY played a very good game yesterday.

BUCK EWING says that he expects to get into harness this week. OUR sluggers will be getting their eye on the ball one of these days. JIM MUTRIE'S big people can play a rocky game as well as other folks. THERE were big odds on the New York team in local betting circles yesterday. THE Boston management is trying to secure Pitcher Horner of the New Havens. WHEN King gets thoroughly settled down he will be in line with the best in the country. THE Central Board has discarded the scoring rule relating to the scoring of "runs batted in."

MANAGER CHAPMAN is making frantic efforts to BIERBAUER'S one-handed catch yesterday was one of the gilt-edged kind. There are no files on WILLIAM WRIGHT-The player you name never played for the Pittsburg club and he first played in Chicago in 1887. THE Philadeiphias gave up Vicker and Shriver and a bouns for Pitcher Thornton, and it turns out to have been a bad deal, as Thornton is, so far, a failure.

MANAGER HANLON may change the batting order to-day. He will probably lead off and Miller will be in eighth place. The proposed change seems to be a good one. THE James H. Portes would like to hear from all amateur clube "17 years of age," Crafton preferred. Send all challenges to W. J. Boyd, 21 Logan street, Pittsburg, Pa. "BIG BILL" BROWN says: "I thought last season that Busie did not amount to much as a pitcher, but I can tell you that I never in all my life stood up before such great pitching as he did in Philadelphia."

outputs. THE Oakland Athletics have organized with the following players: M. Coll, H. Weber, W. Bothwell, J. Dunlevy, L. Morrow, H. Trimbur, W. O'Donnel, C. Ewens and J. McGee. They would like to hear from any 14 or 15-year-olds. Address M. Coll, 406 Atwood street. "No, there will be no change made in the team for some time at least," said President Brush last night, "There is no one available that we can secure for any place that would not be an experiment. I feel that we have a good team. I think the fact that we hroke even with Chicago and Pittsburg proves this fact conclusively,"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

JOHN MONTGOMERY WARD, who sat on the bench during the game, let out an "awful holler" in the eighth inning. John was badly "skeered." It looked like the Reds had the Brooklyns little lead in their pocket. He protested that Latham was out, when it was clear that he had beaten out Burns' throw to first. The trouble lay in the fact that Burns didn't handle the ball quickly.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

that Burns didn't handle the ball quickly.—Cincenmeti Enquirer.

The old Detroit champion team is pretty well broken up. Weldman and Pete Conway, two of the greatest advance-money pitchers with no pitch to them, have dropped out of sight. Getzein, Bennett and Ganzel are with the Boston League club.
Thompson is with the Phillies; Twitchell is a waif somewhere in the West; "Lady" Baldwin and "Deacon" White have turned farmers; Brouthers is with the Boston Association team; Shindle is with the Phillies; Jack Rowe is playing with the Western Association; Briody has drifted out of baseball; Dunlap and Richardson are both nursing broken legs, and, oddily enough, both were victims of similar accidents in Detroit; Hanlon is in Pitsburg, and the much-abused Manager Watkins is running a team in the Far West.

The time of the Kentucky Derby winners has gravitated anywhere between the poorest, the 2:43 of Leonatus in 1882, and the best, the 2:345 of Leonatus in 1882, and the best, the 2:345 of Spokane in 1889. One of the first Derby record breakers was Day Star, 2:37/4, in 1878. The next year Lord Murphy reduced the record to 2:37, which he held for seven years. Then came Ben All, Haggin's famous Ben All, with 2:36/5 in 1886. For three years Ben All reigned supreme, until peerless Spokane astonished the talent by covering the one and a half infle course in 2:34/5. Last sea son's winner was Riiey, whose time was 2:45.

Mrs. Johnson was a hard drinker, and on this account her husband deserted her several years ago. Occasionally she got a little money by washing and ironing, but her dissipated habits made it almost im-possible to give her steady employment. Attempts were made to reform her, but they were all in yain, and she was permitted to her ugly temper when in her cups. She was a noisy neighbor, but charity prevented people from complaining of her. She was arrested and locked up for drunkenness on several occasions, and the boy lived atons in the house and begged from door to door for food.

A Squalid, Filthy Heme. The interior of Mrs. Johnson's house was squalid and filthy, and the boy was always dirty and ragged, except when some kind neighbor washed and clothed him in gar ments cast off by other children. Mrs ohnson frequently because so besotted that ained abed for three or four days she remained abed for three or four days, and then the bright youngster cooked his own food and said nothing to the neighbors. On Monday one of the neighbors remarked that nothing had been seen of Mrs. Johnson for more than a week, and when the little boy appeared several women asked him where his mother was. He answered that she was asleep and had been abed for more than a week. This statement aroused the curiosity of the neighbors and several of them went to the house together in the evening.

them went to the house together in the evening.

On opening the door they were overpowered with a stench which could not he mistaken. Lights were procured, and they saw the blackened and swollen body of the woman lying on the bed. The windows were thrown open, and an examination of the body showed that Mrs. Johnson had been dead many days. The police were informed, and they questioned the boy. He said he went to church with his mother on Sunday night, May 3, and that on the return they went to bed. His mother got up afterward to look at a mouse trap which snapped, and after she got back into bed she began to shake, and she shook the whole bed. Then she was still, and he thought that she had gone to sleep. He thought nothing of it when she did not awake in the morning, and he made a fire and cooked some pancakes.

He Knew Not What Death Was.

He did not know what death was, and thought she was in a stupor, as he had frequently seen her before. He played around until he got hungry again, and then begged some food from a neighbor, but said nothing about his mother. He slept beside her dead body on that and three following nights, and afterward he slept on the floor. He noticed the bad smell, but did not know what it was and didn't think that a bad odor in that house was anything unusual. County Physician Wightson made a post mortem examination of the body to-day and came to the conclusion that death resulted from convulsions brought on by dissipated habits, and that Mrs. Johnson died on Sunday night when the boy noticed the shaking of the bed.

The body was cared for by the township authorities. He is totally without schooling, but when cleaned up he is a good-looking child. Nobody in Montelair knows where his father is, but those who knew the couple ten years ago say that he was a steady and sober man, and that Mrs. Johnson thought she was in a stupor, as he had fre ten years ago say that he was a steady and sober man, and that Mrs. Johnson was an attractive woman with a handsome form and fine features. Her ill temper when drunk caused her husband to leave het, and she continued to go steadily down hill. The boy does not seem to understand his loss, as he had to depend almost entirely upon his own exertions for a year or more, during which time his mother has been helplessly drunk almost continuously.

LAID TO THE IRON MARKET.

Lansing, Mich., May 12.—The embarrass-ment of James M. Turner, who was the Re-publican candidate for Governor last fall, is attributed by some to the depressed condition of the iron market. He is one of the chief stockholders in the Great Western Mining Company, of the Upper Peninsula, and has heavily indorsed that company's paper.

Iron is down, and the creditors, refusing to carry the paper, demanded better security, and this brought the crisis. The Lansing banks are involved only slightly, and they have ample security.

Man Is President and Many Topics Will Be Considered. Sr. Louis, May 12.-The fourth annual con vention of the American Boiler Manufacturers' Association of the United States and Canada met in this city this morning at the Lindell Hotel, 200 delegates being present. The convention was called to order by Pres-Lindell Hotel, 200 delegates being present. The convention was called to order by President James Lappan, of Pittsburg, after which Mayor Noonan made an address of welcome. The reports of the officers were then read and a special committee was appointed to which all subjects to come before the convention will be submitted.

This is one of the most important industrial associations in the country. Its object is to secure uniformity among manufacturers, adjust State inspection laws and to raise the standard of boilers by adopting a standard of boilers for everything, as for instance as has already been done in the matter of boiler steel. The principal subject to be discussed will be "The Labor Question," "Reports on Materials and Tests," "Safety Valves and Horse Power" and "Proper Rules for Tube Spacing." The apprentice question will also be discussed at length, and will involve the time and age at which apprentices may be accepted. This matter was brought up last year, but was laid over until until this convention. Besides, the delegates will hear from the Committee on Legislation. What the members are carnestly working for now is a uniform inspection law. Many of the States have very fair inspection laws, but they vary so materially that it causes confusion. A committee is at work on an inspection law that will be presented to Congress, and if successful the Association will then work individually in the respective States to have a similar law emeted.

THE MYSTERY DEEPENED.

ets Brought to Light in the Cas Tobin, of Franklin. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] FRANKLIN, May 12 .- The theory that N. P. Tobin met his death by strangulation is los ing ground here, and statements are made by a young man, who was the first at the fire, that serve to make the mystery deeper than ever. He said he had placed a ladder outside, and entering the second story window, threw out several smaller articles. This explains their presence on the ground, which had puzzled the authorities.

It is also a fact that the things in the famous trunk were placed there vice versathat is, the upstairs things were on top and the downstairs things were underneath. The facts are being put together by detectives and those quietly working on the case here, and it is believed that they deatroy the last vestige of belief that Tobin's death was an accident. Mrs. Tobin is still in town and advances the theory that her husband tipped over a lighted lamp while sleeping, and dozed while the house was burning, then rushed down stairs to pack the trunk. She says she will offer a large reward provided the county will join her. fire, that serve to make the mystery deeper

A TARDY REPARATION.

Gassaway, of Steubenville, was in Cleve land and called at the residence of land and called at the residence of Mr. Conger, the contractor, who had built the First Presbyterian Church in this city and with whom Gassaway was acquainted. While Gassaway, who was a young man about 22 years of age, was at the house of Mr. Conger a gold watch belonging to the latter disappeared, and Gassaway was shortly afterward convicted in the courts of Cleveland and sent to the penitentiary for two years.

Last night Postmaster Sarratt received a letter from a woman signing herself Mrs. Margaret Lane, in which she confessed that she visited the Conger residence, saw the gold watch lying on the mantel while no one was about and that she took it and went away. Afterward she went west to Nebraska and married a man of fortune.

She is convinced she can live but a short time, and is at Youngstown. Gassaway keeps a drug store at the corner of North avenue and Federal streets, Allegheny, and resides with his family on Washington street in the same city.

John Keller, of Etna, was at the Union station last evening looking for Paul Marn-hart, alias Mike Brose. He claims Marnhart, who boarded with him, broke open his trunk
