AT LINCOLN'S TOMB

President Harrison Greeted at the Illinois State Capital.

HIS RECEPTION AT INDIANAPOLIS

Moved to Tears at the Welcome of His Fellow Townsmen.

RUSHING THROUGH TO WASHINGTON

Indianapolis, May 14.—The President and his party are rapidly nearing the end of their trip. They were enthusiastically re-ceived at all points where stops were made, and the President made a number of speeches. The train left Omaha at 6 o'clock last night and reached Hannibal, Mo., this morning amid the blowing of whistles, music of bands and shouts of thousands. The President's speech was brief. Leaving Hannibal at 5:0 the party was greeted at every subsequent station by enthusiastic crowds. Short stops were made at Berry, Bailey and Griggsville, reaching Jackson-ville at 8 o'clock, where the school children and hosts of citizens crowded around the

The next stop of the party was at Spring-field, Ill. Their arrival was heralded by the firing of the National salute and the cheering of an immense crowd. Governor Fifer, Mayor Lawrence, Senators Cullom and Palmer, Representatives Springer and Henderson, Collector John M. Clark, of Chicago, ex-Governor Oglesby and Col. E. D. Swain were among the first to greet the visitors and bid them welcome to the capital of the State. The city was handsomely decorated, and the arragements were so perfect that, although the visit lasted only one hour, nearly ever, resident of the city was given a chance to see the Chief Magistrate of the country and the members of his party. The ocal militia, Grand Army men and civic organizations were drawn up in line at the station and escorted the party through gayly decorated streets, past the State Capi-tol to the Lincoln movument in Oakland Ridge Cemetery, were the ceremonies took place. Mayor Lawrence presided, and Gov-ernor Fifer delivered an eloquent address of welcome, to which the President made a most fitting response,

The President's Address,

In the course of his address the President

"The interest of this journey culminates to-day as we rest here for a few moments about the tomb of Lincoln. As I passed about the tomb of Lincoin. As I passed through the Southern States and noted those busy centers of industry which have been built since the war, as I saw how the fires of furnaces had been kindled where there was once solitude, I could not but think and say that it was the hand that now lies beneath these stones that kindled and inspired that we behold. All these fires of industry were lighted at the funeral pyre of slavery. The proclamation of President Lincoln can be read on all those mountain sides where freemen are now bending their energies to the development of the States that had been long under the paralysis of human slavery. I come to-day to this consecrated spot with a heart filled with emotions of gratitude that God, who wisely turned to our Lastern shores a body of god-fearing and liberty-loving men to found this Republic, did not fail to find for us in the hour of extremity one who was competent to lead the hearts and sympathies and hold up the courage of our people in the time of our recauses mational perfit. The life of Abraham Incoln teaches more useful lessons than at the funeral pyre of slavery, proclamation of President Lincoln incoln teaches more useful lessons than my other character in American history, the asperities and hardships of his early ife did not dull, but broadened and en-

The Keeping of a Precious Trust. That sense of justice, that love of human iberty that dominated all his life is another characteristic that our people will always love. You have here in keeping a most everent patriots of the years to come will end their steps. As the story of Lincoln's ife is read his virtues will mold and inspire many lives. I have studied it and been filled many lives. I have studied it and been filled with wonder and admiration. His life was an American product; no other soil could have produced it. The greatness of it has not yet been fully discovered or measured. And now, my friends, I most cordially thank you for these kind words of welcome. I shall go from this tomb with new thoughts as to the responsibilities of those who bear them, though in less troublesome times than those of that man to whose memory my soul bows this morning." some times than those of that man to whose memory my soul bows this morning."

When the President closed he was presented by Governor Fifer on behalf of citizens of Petersburg, Ill., with a gold-headed cane, made from the Lincoln store building at Kew Salem. Speeches were made by Postmaster Gen ral Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk, during which the President and Governor Fifer proceeded to the State House, where a large crowd was collected.

At His Home in Indianapolis.

At His Home in Indianapolis A large delegation of Indiana friends met the Presidental party at Montezuma and made themselves hourse cheering the President. He was overcome by the greeting, and for the first time since he started from Washington was unable to respond to the demand for a speech at any length.

The train arrived in this city promptly on The train arrived in this city promptly on schedule time—4.55 this afternoon—and its approach was heraided by a salute fired by Battery A. Light Artillery. The preparations for the President's reception were magnificent considering the limited length of his stay. From every window and house top on the principal downtown streets the stars and Stripes were unfurled to the breeze and large-sized pictures of the President were conspicuous everywhere. Especially was this so along the line of march. In Jackson Place, near the Union station, a speaker's stand was erected, but the rough hewn planks were concealed from view by a perfect mass of bunting and Stars and Stripes. The effect was very beautiful. In the center was hung a large likeness of the President. It was to this stand the members of the Presidental party were escorted immediately upon the arrival of the train, through an immeuse crowd, which througed every available point of standing room.

The crowd, in cheer after cheer, gave the or standing room.

The crowd, in cheer after cheer, gave the President a genuine Hoosier welcome to his old home. Arrived at the stand, Governor Housy addressed the multitude, and Mayor Sallivan, in a neat speech, welcomed the President home. President Harrison responded as follows:

The Response to His Neighbors, "I do not think I can speak much to-day. The strain of the long journey and frequent calls made on me to speak from Washington to the Golden Gate, and from the far Northest back to Indianapolis, have somewhat exhausted me, body and mind, and have made my beart so open to these impressions is I greet my old friends that I cannot, I fear, command myself. Our pathway has been marked by the plaudits of the multitude; our way strewn with flowers. We have journeyed through the orchards of California laden with fruit; we have climbed the saminits of great mountains from which rich me his laye been extracted; then we have exhausted me, body and mind, and have been extracted; then we have saminits of great mountains from which rich metals have been extracted; then we have dropped into fruitful valleys, and our whole sathway has been made giad by the friendly acclaim of our fellow American citizens without regard to party. But all the sweetness of these flowers, all the beauty of these almost tropical landscapes, all the richness of their precious mines sink into forgetfulness as I receive to-day this welcome from my old friends.

"Ny manhood has known no other home but this, It was the scene of my early strengtles. It has been the scene and the instrument in support of my early success in life. I come to lay down before you to day my offering of thankfulness for friendly helpfulness in boyhood and in all hours down to this, I left you two years ago to take up the work of the most responsible edice in the world. I went to these mutried duties sustained by your helpful friendliness, I come, after two years, to confess many errors, but to say to you that I have one thought in my mind, to use whatever influence I have for the general good of all the people."

As President Harrison remained but 45 min-lent Harrison remained but 45 min-As President Harrison remained but 45 min-utes in the city, the entire program of the line of march was not carried out. Owing to this fact, a large number of people who did not go to the Union station, but were scattered along the line of march, were disappointed in not seeing the President. A hurried em-larication, and the party was on the home stretch for Washington.

THE BABY'S SIRE IN TOWN.

J. R. McKen Arrives to Join His Fathe

Law's Party This Morning. A licelithy-complexioned, dark-eyed young ness suit, and wearing dark brown mustache and side whiskers, entered the Sixth street entrance of the Anderson yesterday after noon. He carried a value in one hand and an overcent thrown over the other arm.

Evading the boy who sprang forward in answer to the call of "front," he advanced to the desk and registered as "J. R. McKee, Boston."

Mr. McKee is an extensive wholesale boot and shoe dealer in Indianapolis, and is prominently identified with the Thomson-Houston interests. He has obtained greatest notoriety, perhaps, as the father of "Baby McKee," whose name has been chronicled almost as frequently as that of his grandfather, President Harrison. Mr. McKee retired early, to obtain rest before joining the President's party to-day. The special carrying the Presidental party is expected to pass through at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

SWITCHMEN KNOCKED OUT.

THE CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN DISCHARGES ALL ITS MEN.

New Employes Who Know Their Duties at Once Put to Work—The Federation of Trainmen Supports the Company in Its

CHICAGO, May H .- The trouble between the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad and its switchmen, over the discharge of a yard-master, culminated this morning in the discharge of the entire force, numbering 350

Every union switchman in the employ of the Northwestern Railroad, not only in Chi-cago, but at every other point, was dis-charged. For months the company has been preparing for the battle, and has been hiring cago, but at every other point, was discharged. For months the company has been preparing for the battle, and has been hiring non-minon switchmen all over the country. So quietly has it been doing this work that the union switchmen did not get an inkling until the very last moment of what was going on. As soon as the local force was discharged, 200 men were ready to take their places. The newcomers were for the most part experienced men, and, under the supervision of the division superintendents, had no trouble in doing the work.

No violence was offered by the old men, who stood about watching the newcomers at their labors. Policemen were stationed all through the yards and about the downtown depot to prevent any trouble. The Northwestern officials are very confident of victory, while the discharged men are somewhat dazed.

This afternoon the discharged men in the West Chicago yards went into secret meeting to settle upon a course of action. It is known that some of them are in favor of going to the company and asking to be reinstated, and others counsel a resort to violence if necessary. There is a rumor that the order will be called on to declare a general strike on the St. Paul, Rock Island and Burlington roads, whose managers are surprised at the Northwestern's action. Green Bay, Wis., freight is tied up. Work at Escanaba, Winoma, Baraboo and other points is proceeding quietly with new men. The company is supported in its position by the conductors', fremen's fand brakemen's unions. In fact, at the time of the McNerney trouble a deputation from these unions called on the officials of the road and demanded McNerney's reinstatement, promising that if the switchmen would strike in consequence they would furnish men to fill their places. The Switchmen's union is not included in the National Pederation of Railroad Employes. To a committee of the men who called upon President Maryin Hughitt, that official said: "The switchmen for in the Federation except the switchmen would strike in consequence they would furni
