Oh! but it was lively. A course of comment has reference to the baseball argument yesterday at Exposition Park between the Giants and the local champions.

It was the last of the local patrons were on pins and needles and no mistake. Although the home players had the score 6 to 0 in their favor the visitors started to thump the ball so hard that home prospects became very vague, dispirited and in fact, but that's just what caused the fun and the excitement.

The Giants, although beaten by the comfortable score of 10 to 0, were a very dangerous people, and as they stage are liable to hop out and knock the tar out of everything and everybody. It might have been their last day in town, far as winning the game was concerned, as it was.

They Thumped Harry Staley clean out of the box, and Harry cannot yet understand how it was done. By being hit so hard that he was unable to get on his feet, and that's when all the fun was.

It is only fair to say that the giants are somewhat overdone in their regular catcher able enough to play, and two such old standbys as Keefe and McKeever, who have been in the game for many years, were very valuable, but still Mutrie admitted that evening that he had never seen a better game by any players in Pittsburgh.

Staley was knocked out in the fifth inning, and King replaced him. In the fourth and fifth innings, however, the home players were on pins and needles and no mistake. Although the home players had the score 6 to 0 in their favor the visitors started to thump the ball so hard that home prospects became very vague, dispirited and in fact, but that's just what caused the fun and the excitement.
