Eastern Counties.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, } TUESDAY, May 26. Tobacco Outlook.

As a rule tobacco planting time begins in the early part of May. This season there were few plants set at the beginning of May on account of dry, cool weather at of May on account of dry, cool weather at hat time. In Lancaster county, Pennsyl-rania, a section which has became famous, both for quantity and quality of its tobacco op, preparations were made by growers or increased acreage and, although the dry eather of May has been adverse to growing rops, the yield will no doubt be up to aver-re, for the reason that the acreage is above erage. Seed leaf and Havana seed are the pular seeds, and it is now nip and tuck as which will take the lead. Havana seed has been steadily gaining in public favor of late. Cigars made of Havana leaf seem to be the favorites with the smoking public. A representative of one of the leading leaf tobacco firms had this to say of the situation and outlook: "The firm which I represent makes a specialty of cigar leaf tobacco, and our chief source of supply for fine grades is Lancaster county, Pa. Connecticut, Ohio and Wisconsin are also contributors, but in the main the supplies from these sources are below the finest in quality. The materials out of which plug and smoking tobacco are made come in the main from Kentucky and other Southern States. The manufacture of plug tobacco has become a thing of the past, so far as this city is concerned, but granulated smoking tobacco is still manufactured here in large quantity, and has achieved a reputation which has made it popular to a great distance East and West. There are not less than 19,000 boxes of leaf tobacco worked up into cigars annually in this city. This means the manufacture of $2,20,000 pounds of cigars, as the boxes of leaf tobacco average $25 pounds. iblic favor of late. Cigars made of Havana

OFFICE AND STREET NEWS AND GOSSIF

There is nothing wrong with the lot mar-ket. Those who think it is dull are badly mistaken, and for proof need only look over the lists of sales in the various subdivisions during the present month. During this time between 1,000 and 2,000 lots have been sold for immediate use, and that, too, without satisimmediate use, and that, too, without satisfying the demand, as shown by the fact that considerable fresh acreage is being prepared for the market. That a business of such magnitude should be transacted under peculiarly adverse circumstances, well known to every citizen, speaks well for the hold that real estate has upon the people, and reflects a condition of prosperity in this community that exists scarcely anywhere-

Speculation a Small Factor.

Speculation in real estate appears to have overleaped itself in Chicago. The Tribune of that city says: "So far as acres are concerned the pace last year was too rapid and it carried them too far. In some instances they have already got to a point where the present holder is the 'last man' and is likely to have an ample opportunity to become thoroughly familiar with his property become he finds a buyer who will take it off his hands at a price which will give him a profit." This is the usual result of crowding the market. It is different in Pittsburg The speculative element here is scarcely The speculative element here is scarcely visible to the naked eye. Acreage has been, and is being, absorbed for use almost as fast as put on the market. There is no chance for congestion in a market of this kind. It will be a long time before Fitsburg is oversold and overbuilt. In the meantime local capitalists should turn their attention to ways and means for supplying the demand for houses, so as to afford accommodations alike to citizens and outsiders who desire to locate here. Brawn and brains and capital would come in far more rapidly if the same inducements as are offered in other cities were held out to them. Pittsburg is the only city in the country where it is impossible for outsiders to obtain business stands.

ished a fraction under the opening price. While generally admitted that the reorganization plan will ultimately be adopted, it is expected that it will hang fire for several months, and in the meantime the stock will drug along without sufficient life to make it a factor in the market. Lower prices are just now in the interest of Eastern holders who, have assented to the rehabilitation scheme to hasten the consummation of the deal. Sales were:

Coal Men Anxiously Waiting for a Good Big June Rise. The marks now show 5 feet 11 inches, and falling slowly.

THE H. K. Bedford will leave to-day at noon for Parkersburg.

There is considerable need of coal in the lower river markets. The prices are away up, ranging from 15 to 20 cents, as against 6% cents in February, when there was plenty of water. The coal men are anxiously awaiting a rise to get their product into the lower market, as there is plenty on hand at present awaiting shipment.

UNFIGE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, }

TUESDAY, May 26.

COUNTRY PRODUCE (Jobbing Prices)—Elgin creamery butter sold at headquarters yesterday at the same prices as last Monday, but markets are more active this week than last. Ohio creamery and country rolls are dull and slow, with inside prices ruling. Our markets have been glutted with country butter for a week or two past and prices are only nominal. Receipts of Ohio cheese have been large this week and supply has caught up to demand. There is still a searcity of New York cheese and outside quotations rule. Supply of strictly fresh nearby eggs is not up to demand and prices are advanced. Choice old potatoes are firm and promise to go up higher. New Southern potatoes are coming in freely and prices show a downward tendency. Tennessee strawberries are about at their end for this season and Maryland is now the main source of supply. Quality of berries on the market is a decided improvement over late offerings and with improved quality comes better demand at higher prices. In tropical fruit lines there are no changes worthy of note. Bananas are in better supply, but prices are firm. The late cool weather has had a quieting effect on lemons, but old prices are maintained.
